St. James sends over 4,000 garments to needy in Europe

Through the efforts of the members of St. James congregation in Arlington and Prospect Heights over 4,000 items of clothing, packed in 72 cases, was forwarded this week through the Catholic Salvage organization to the United Nation Relief Rehabilitation for direct shipment to Europe.

This unusual shipment was collected by the parishioners within ten days and required the services of fifteen women in sorting the clothing and 16 men to pack it into cases. Rev. Stier, pastor of St. James made the appeal September 24, an appeal that set the machinery in motion under the chairmanship of Otto H. Wulbecker. Fourteen clothes depots were established through the community.

The sorting was no easy job. Clothing that was not suitable to be sent to Europe was discarded, this amounting to 200 pounds. The good clothing was divided into seven groups as follows:

Ladies' and men's top wear.

Men's and boys' suits and sweaters.

Men's and boys' underwear and shirts.

Women's and girls' woolen dresses and undergarments.

Women's washables and petticoats.

Infants' wear, 1400 pieces.

Bedding, quilts and blankets.

The total pounds shipped were 3,380; the items numbering 4,023.

The gift of this clothing from Arlington Heights and Prospect Heights will probably be appreciated by those in need more than money. It means that many families in devastated portions of Europe will be able to keep warm the coming winter.

Dorcas aid bazaar Oct. 12

On October 12th the Dorcas aid will hold their annual bazaar at St. Peter Lutheran school beginning at 1:15 p. m. In conjunction with the bazaar their will be a cooking school sponsored by the Bowman dairy and Schultze baking company. All guests will be entertained by the well known Ruth Fisher Holbrook, ably assisted by Mary Ann Cook. The bazaar will also offer tasty tidbits at the food and bakery booth along with many helpful suggestions for Christmas gifts at the other booths, such as fancy work, aprons, rag rugs, Christmas cards, etc. Refreshments will be served to all.

War fund campaign workers are ready for subscriptions

Fred W. Gieske, Jr., Arlington Heights chairman of the War Fund campaign reports that he has his workers all lined up for the drive, which will officially open here October 16. Those who prefer can mail their check direct to the local committee. Address it Arlington Heights War Fund committee.

A day's pay is the guide that has been suggested as the measuring stick to be used in deciding the amount of money that shall be contributed. If followed every man will be contributing his just share.

Local organizations will want to have a part in the drive and are asked to vote the amount of their subscriptions early in order that it can be included in the total.

Ask public to eliminate fire danger

Fire Chief Richard Jahn of Arlington Heights, is asking all householders to make an inspection of their homes sometime during the Fire prevention week, which is October 8 to 14. Mr. Jahn is outlining on this page the fire danger spots that could exist in any home. If the householders will use the outline which appears in the lower left hand corner in checking their premises they will be avoiding possible fires and safe guarding their homes and loved ones.

Some member of the fire department expects to visit every business house next week, making a detailed inspection. A carbon copy of each report will be forwarded to the property owner.

"We are not trying to invade the privacy of any business firm, but are endeavoring to give to them an inspection service that may save them a serious loss," states Chief Jahn.

A good fire company takes as much interest in fire prevention as it does in fire fighting. Mr. Jahn would like to make Arlington Heights fire proof. He needs the cooperation of all householders to make it so.

WPB places ceiling on subscribers

The WPB has issued a new order regarding the use of newsprint effective October 1, that applies directly to publishers who use less than 25 tons a quarter. Paddock Publications come under that category. The order places a ceiling on the amount of newsprint that can be used by Paddock Publications.

It means that no greater number of copies can be printed than used during the early quarters of this year. For every new civilian subscriber received an old subscriber must be cut off.

While the publishers are reluctant to take any subscriber off the mailing list, they have no other alternative. Subscribers are therefore urged to keep their subscriptions paid in advance.

Scout Pow-Wow this week-end

The 1944 Pow-Wow for Scouts of the Northwest Suburban Council will be held the week end of October 7 and 8 at Camp Evan-Bo-Sco, north of Deer Grove Forest Preserve.

The program for Saturday, in addition to the setting up of camp, will feature demonstrations of the various basic techniques of Scouting. The Campfire program will be held Saturday evening. The speaker will be George Bernasek, a returned veteran of World War II. He will tell some of his experiences aboard his submarine at the time of the Casablanca landings.

Scouts will have an opportunity to compete in the scouting skills, as well as camping and cooking.

The program will close with a retreat ceremony Sunday at 3:00 p. m.

Fire chief tells how to prevent fires

Most dwelling fires are preventable. A room-by-room check should be featured during Fire Prevention Week, and householders should observe the following points:

(1) Check from cellar to attic, inside and outside buildings, for rubbish and remove it promptly. Rubbish is a double fire hazard: it may ignite spontaneously, or it may serve as quick fuel for a stray spark. Send it to your salvage committee or, if entirely worthless, burn it in a covered fire incinerator as far from buildings as possible.

(2) Oily rags, like rubbish, may ignite spontaneously. Burn them if practical; otherwise store them in closed metal containers. Paints, too, should be kept tightly covered.

(3) Heating systems should be examined for cracks or other defects, soot, or clogging in chimneys and flues. Repairs should be made promptly. Make sure that no combustible material, including woodwork, is exposed to heat.

(4) Keep ashes in covered metal containers; shield fireplaces with screens.

(5) Replace weather-worn flammable wood shingle roofs with fire-resistant roofing.

(6) See that ample ash trays are available wherever smoking is permitted, and that careful smoking habits are cultivated by all members of the family.

(7) Put matches in metal containers, out of the reach of small children. Use a flashlight for temporary illumination.

(8) Use great care with any flammable liquid brought into the home for any purpose. Do not use flammable cleaning fluids. A correctly built fire needs no kerosene.

(9) Replace frayed electric cords, have defective electrical equipment replaced or repaired by a competent electrician, check the fuse box to see that proper fuses are installed, and see that lamp shades are a safe distance from electric light bulbs.

(10) Recharge fire extinguishers and put them where they will be readily accessible if a fire should break out.

R. H. JAHN,
Fire Marshal.

Church observes 95th anniversary next Sunday

St. John's Evangelical church, Addison township, located on Lawrence Ave. and Mt. Prospect Rd. will observe its 95th anniversary next Sunday in a church edifice that has served the congregation 71 years. The pastor is Edward Bergstraesser, who came to the congregation three years ago.

Three anniversary services will be held. The morning service at 10 a. m. will be addressed by Rev. Edwin Berlekamp of Elmhurst. Speakers at the afternoon service, starting at 2:30 will be Rev. Kamphenkel of Arlington Heights and Dr. Adolph Bohn, pastor of Edgewater Presbyterian church.

Rev. Edward Plassman of Peotone, vice president of North Illinois synod will speak at the evening service, 8 p. m.

The church celebrated its 75th anniversary 20 years ago. The congregation dedicated a parish house in 1941, which adjoins the church and is used extensively for social events. The present parsonage, some distance away, was built many years ago and the congregation is looking forward to a new house after the war.

St. John's church is the oldest Evangelical church in this area. It is the parent church of many adjoining Evangelical congregations. It was established at a time when there were no railroads northwest of Chicago. Lawrence Ave. was a main thoroughfare and when a site was offered the families organizing the congregation, decided to accept it.

The families came from Schale, Westphalia and Hanover, Germany. The official name of their congregation was United German Evangelical St. John's congregation of Addison. The first church was erected in 1849 and dedicated October 7, 1849. Two acres were donated and the congregation bought three more acres for $30.

Three of the pastors of the church rest in the adjoining cemetery. Rev. Wolf served the church 20 years, the longest pastorate. The church has had a total of 11 pastors during the 95 years. The present membership numbers 462.

Last chance to register

Tuesday, October 10, is the last chance for any unregistered voter to get his or her name in the poll lists and be able to vote at the big election November 7.

All polling places will be open that day from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m. for the purpose of registering voters.

All persons who have moved should be sure to fill out a change of address card.

Women who have married should register under their present name.

In the last presidential election according to a member of the Chicago election commissioners there were 32,000,000 people who did not vote.

That was a greater number than voted for either candidate for president.

If a person won't register and won't vote they haven't got much right to holler about how their government is run.

If a person of voting age wants to take an active part in his government he should register and then vote.

If you are not already properly registered Tuesday, October 10, is the last chance, if you want to be able to vote November 7.

The job of getting registered or having your address changed can't be put off any longer. Next Tuesday, October 10, is the last chance.

All precinct polling places will be open on that day from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Arlington Heights postoffice needs carrier help

The man power shortage has hit the Arlington Heights postoffice in a big way. The temporary shortage a few weeks ago cut deliveries down to one a day and recently the second delivery has necessarily been limited to first class mail.

Mrs. Dodge, the postmaster, wants to give 100 per cent service but is faced with a manpower shortage that is really acute.

There is an opening today for an eight hour carrier for a city route and also for a substitute carrier for a rural route.

Applications should be made at the postoffice.

Schools appreciate work of departing community nurse

The departure of Mrs. Lund as Arlington Heights Community nurse has not left a hole in the nursing service but her work here has brought about a general expression of appreciation from the heads of the local schools, who, at the request of the Herald, voiced that appreciation as follows:

ST. JAMES

The faculty and pupils of St. James express their appreciation for the work done by Mrs. C. Lund during the past three years.

The sentiments of the entire school are aptly voiced by one of the pupils, who, upon learning of Mrs. Lund's resignation said, "We are losing a friend".

The finest tribute that we can offer is to say that Mrs. C. Lund is a credit to her profession.

Sister Judea.

NORTH SCHOOL

Arlington Heights is proud of its health program and appreciates the splendid contributions to this program which have been made by Mrs. Lund during her tenure here. It is our hope that we may continue to improve this area which is so important to the proper development of our youth.

R. E. Clabaugh, Supt.
Elementary Schools.

SOUTH SCHOOL

The teachers and pupils of the South School wish to thank Mrs. Lund for her untiring services and cooperation. She has not only been understanding and sympathetic in her work, but a true friend of all. We wish her continued success and happiness in her new position.

Argola Walk.

HIGH SCHOOL

During the years in which I have been employed by the Arlington Heights High School, I have found the community specially blessed in the personnel of the nursing service provided by the C. T. I. Miss Martha Jackson, Mrs. Adele Pino and finally Mrs. Clara Lund have all given service "far beyond the call of duty" in building a health program which is now bearing fruit. The fact that Arlington Heights children have dental clinics, sight and hearing examinations, vaccination programs and tubercular tests, pre-school examinations, infant welfare clinics, and the many advantages accruing from these services, should be largely credited to the faithful and never-ending efforts of our community nurses.

Mrs. Lund has carried forward the planning and administration of her work until at the present time our Village has as complete a health program as any others with which I am familiar.

As she leaves us she will take with her the gratitude of the parents of Arlington Heights for her labors in behalf of the health habits of our young people and the knowledge that her strenuous tour of duty has been appreciated.

A. M. Congor,
Former High School Principal.

HEALTH COMMITTEE

Chairman of Arlington Heights Public Health Committee states "Mrs. Lund has been a perfect nurse for this community. Her efficiency in her profession has been excelled only by her kindness to everyone with whom she came in contact through her work."

Thelma Carroll,
Chairman Health Com.

Elmo Williams returns to Arlington

Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Williams are again residents of Arlington Heights, or will be as soon as they can gain possession of their house on North Dunton. Mr. Williams has been in the east three years where he demonstrated diesel engines to navy personnel. The navy contract is now completed and Elmo has been transferred to the locomotive division, with headquarters in the plant at LaGrange.

In the meantime Mr. Williams has two weeks vacation in which to become reacquainted with his home town and the people within it.

Friendly class spaghetti dinner this Friday

The Friendly Class of the Presbyterian church are serving a spaghetti dinner with meat balls and home made apple pie at the Presbyterian church on Friday, October 6, from 5:30 to 7:30 o'clock. Tickets for adults are 75c and children 35c. For reservations call Mrs. Frazier 493-W.

Open house to honor triple anniversary

The Albert Busse family, Mt. Prospect, is holding an open house in the Busse Garage Thursday evening, October 12, and there is a big reason for the event—the celebration of three wedding anniversaries and the arrival home on furlough from Italy of their son, Lt. Wilbert Busse.

Mr. and Mrs. Busse are celebrating their thirtieth wedding anniversary and their son and daughter their fifth wedding anniversaries. The latter two were married in a double ceremony on the 25th wedding anniversary of their parents. They are Lieutenant and Mrs. Wilbert Busse and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wille.

The triple open house provides the opportunity for all friends to greet the lieutenant who took part in two invasions in the present war the three couples. It could be and to extend congratulations to called a four-way celebration.

With the arrival home of Lt. Busse, plans were hurriedly made for the anniversary celebration. Time was too short for Mr. and Mrs. Busse to forward formal invitations, but they expect that relatives, and friends will accept this published announcement as a personal invitation to be present.

Wilbert, who was employed in the garage before entering the service, is looking forward to greeting many personal friends and also those he made in a business way.

Howard Kreher killed in France

Word was received Wednesday morning of the death of Howard Kreher of Arlington Heights, who was killed in action in France September 12.

Word was received the past week that Howard Kreher of Arlington Heights has been missing in action in France since September 12. Pvt. Kreher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kreher, 204 N. Hickory Street.

Last letter received from Howard arrived in Arlington last week Monday, That letter told his mother of a package being sent to her containing a German hot plate,

German pack, and the Purple Heart medal given to Howard for wounds received more than a month ago. At that time Pvt. Kreher was sent to an English hospital, but was later returned to France.

Howard entered service April 16, 1942. He went across as a member of the infantry in June of this year, first reporting to England. His twentieth birthday was this Monday.

Find bank vault difficult to enter

Carl Hammerl, cashier of Mt. Prospect State Bank was unable to open the vault door Friday morning. Investigation revealed that a safety bar had become dislodged and held the door.

Manuel efforts to remedy the difficulty were unavailing and the three workmen the bank engaged had to labor nine hours drilling through an 18 inch cement and concrete wall lined with steel before entrance could be gained into the vault to release the door.

Arlington theatre patrons given credit for Red Cross fund

A report of the contributions made by theatre audiences to the Red Cross War fund throughout the United States has been received by Manager Knapp of Arlington Theatre. Audiences at the local theatre paid a total of $345.01, which is an excellent showing compared with collections at theatres in other towns of similar size. The report covers every state in the union.

Thelma Carrol is appointed community nurse

Mrs. Thelma Carroll, a registered nurse who has been chairman of the Arlington Heights health committee the past six years is the new community nurse appointed by the Chicago Tuberculosis Institute to serve the Arlington Heights community.

Mrs. Carroll has been employed in Evanston and was influenced to accept the position offered her because it enables her to be in her home town. She is well acquainted with local conditions and is in a position to continue the service that her predecessors have given to the community.

Farmers seek restrictions on many new subdivisions

Blame buyers for sugar shortage

"The women, themselves, are to blame for the present shortage of sugar," states the manager of one of Arlington Heights largest chain stores.

"The published announcement that applications for canning sugar are would not be received by the ration boards after a specified date caused many women to think that unless they 'cashed' the canning sugar coupons that had been issued to them by the OPA at once, they would not be valid. Some families have coupons entitling them to as many as a hundred pounds," continued the manager.

"Until the above announcement appeared there was plenty of sugar for our customers, then suddenly the rush started. After receiving only minor amounts of sugar two weeks, I received my normal supply Wednesday morning. By 10:30 it was exhausted.

"The butter shortage is a 'horse of another color'. I believe that there is not much available butter in sight, but the public do not have to have butter. Butterless toast does not taste bad and there are butter substitutes that have the same amount of vitamins as the real article.

Coffee Scare Was A Joke

"The coffee scare of last week end was a joke. I cleaned out my entire stock within two days and this morning I have an abundant supply on my shelves. Some people who normally use a pound a week, purchased as many as ten pounds."

Other local store managers have a similar story to tell. An occasional woman becomes much excited. Housewives now get up in the morning in time to get their husband's breakfast and rush down town leaving unwashed dishes in order to be on hand when the food stores open.

Masonic services for John J. Slade Sunday afternoon

Palatine Lodge No. 314 A. F. & A. M. will conduct services over the ashes of John J. Slade at Hillside cemetery, Palatine, Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. Mr. Slade, who was born and grew to manhood in Palatine, died recently in California. His mother, Mrs. Martha Comfort returned home with the ashes this week.

Wins blue token pool

Mrs. Paul Stroud of Arlington Heights won last week's "blue token pool" at the publication office. The tokens, worthless in groups of less than 10, were brought to the office and combined to total 110 points. Mrs. Stroud won the drawing and was given the points, having contributed eight tokens to the "pot."

Sewer and water systems, schools present problems

Two discussion meetings were held by township leaders of the Cook County Farm Bureau, one at Blue Island, Wednesday, September 27 and the other at Arlington Heights, Thursday, September 28, on the subject of the effect of a probable increase in subdivisions in Cook County after the war. Those on the panel in Blue Island were Mr. Oliver Dorn, Mr. Albert Benck, Mrs. Howard Miller, assisted by Steven W. Nichiporuk, Sanitary Engineer for the Cook County Health Department, A. J. Mullins, Director of the Cook County Zoning Bureau, and Earl Kistner, District Engineer for the Zoning Bureau. Taking part at Arlington Heights were Henry Moehling, Henry Eichholz, Mrs. Ed. Longfield and Mrs. Louis Pohman assisted by Mr. Arthur Robinson from the Cook County Highways and Mr. E. J. Boland of the Cook County Zoning Bureau and Dr. E. A. Piszczek, Cook County Health Commissioner.

The complaints that the panel developed with reference to subdivisions were based mostly upon the cheaper types of divisions. Farm Adviser Hughes who acted as moderator stated that there were a number of subdivisions in rural areas that had been laid out intelligently with forethought to the numerous problems the settlers would have to meet which were logical and about which there were no questions. There were many subdivisions that were sold to people who came into the country with the idea that they wanted to escape the expenses that they had in town and live a free, independent, cheap life in the country. The panel enumerated a number of complaints that they were familiar with in the territory. Among them was a very common complaint that sewage was disposed of very carelessly in many instances. Sometimes a sewage tank was improperly constructed. Some had none at all and in many cases the settlers tapped into the farmers drain tile and at other times raw sewage was run out into the road and field ditches. Water was another item of complaint. Many of these people had poorly constructed wells and subject to contamination.

Upset Schools

It was pointed out that frequently settlers in the country upset the school system where the school districts had already provided educational facilities for the local people. Demands were coming from the subdivisions that new school houses be built, busses put on the road, and often the school house was moved near the subdivision causing the farmers' children to have to travel long distances to school. One instance was cited where a colored subdivision had been located in a farm community with resulting school difficulties. In a great many cases, the children from the subdivisions would play in farmers' fields and trample down crops and often carry parts of his crops off.

One of the outstanding difficulties is the tendency on the part of the real estate assessment bodies to raise the farm land values when subdivisions come in. The farmers maintained that the subdivisions did not add to the value of their land but in many respects a subdivision was a detriment. Still there was a feeling by some assessment bodies that a nearby subdivision adds a speculative value to farm land.

It was pointed out by the zoning commission representatives that in rural Cook County there were now lots already laid out to accommodate necessary building for a good many years and there was no apparent necessity of any increase in subdivision areas. However, there is no authority now to prevent a subdivision from being established anywhere in the rural area. The health commission pointed out that at present they were merely a welfare agency and they are seeking from the Board of County Commissioners to be established as a Health Department in Cook County which according to a recent law passed in this state would give them authority to legislate requirements for water systems, sewage disposal, types of housing, which would have the effect of preventing cheap construction being established in the country.

Must Have Authority

After consideration of all points brought out by the two discussions, it was apparent that some authority should be established in the county through which a proposed subdivision should clear with the probability that the zoning ordinance might be the proper means of handling such clearance. In the near future a committee will be calling upon the zoning commission to discuss procedure on making such a setup. It was the opinion of most people that as a rule settlers in these subdivisions were misinformed about the situations and conditions they would find when they moved out into a rural subdivision. To protect them and the rural areas it is believed that the necessity of a subdivision should be clearly established by regulations (including those of a Health Department which most present thought should be established) which would be lodged in the zoning authority to regulate subdivisions perhaps after a hearing is held when a subdivision is proposed.

There are a number of other problems facing farmers of Cook County which will be discussed at these regular monthly meetings of leaders throughout the coming winter.

National bank is organized at Palatine

Palatine is again to have a bank. Authority has been given by the U. S. treasury department for the formation of the bank, which will be known as The Palatine National Bank.

For a number of months a group of public spirited business men and citizens of Palatine have been working on the bank situation. A quiet canvas was made among possible stockholders and depositors, the results of which were so encouraging that decision to complete the organization was made and the proper application forwarded to Washington. Representatives of the treasury department visited Palatine and surveyed the needs for a banking institution. It was on their favorable report that the charter was granted.

The organization committee is composed of Arthur T. McIntosh, well known realtor of the Chicago area, who has a home near Palatine and has developed Inverness, Frank L. Wente, Palatine business man and Roy LaLonde, Palatine realtor. Application for the bank charter was signed by these three men and Stanley F. Pepper and John G. Ford, residents of Inverness who are much interested in the welfare of Palatine.

The new bank will be capitalized at $50,000, with $12,500 for surplus and $12,500 for undivided profits, making a total of $75,000.

The financial structure of the new bank is practically complete as many of the leading citizens and business men have signified their desire to take stock of sizeable amounts. The organizers thus know where the money is coming from and there will be no need for any stock selling campaign, which often accompanies the organization of any new enterprise.

The bank will be housed in the building formerly occupied by the old First National Bank. The building will be purchased from the creditors of the old National Bank who used the final dividends received from the receiver to take over the building, so that it might be available as a bank when the proper time came.

This action, a group of depositors in the original bank saving the bank building, with its vault and other banking facilities, played an important part in bringing the bank to Palatine.

The cashier of the new Palatine National Bank will be Warren C. Kohler, present cashier of the Arlington Heights National Bank. He has had 25 years banking experience, nine years as a Chicago bank officer and sixteen years in suburban and country banking.

In seeking a cashier, Mr. Kohler was strongly recommended to the organizers of the bank by Chicago banking interests and it is no secret that Mr. Kohler was reluctant to give up his present position in the Arlington Heights National bank, which in seven years has become a two million dollar institution. Mr. Kohler will remain at his present post until the end of the month.

The exact date of the opening of the Palatine National Bank will be announced when the organization is perfected.

Village dads hold a quiet meeting

Only routine matters were before the Arlington Heights village board Monday evening. A payroll totaling $2,415.76 was passed for payment and the usual reports of officers and employees were received.

The total pounds shipped were 3,380; the items numbering 4,023.

The gift of this clothing from Arlington Heights and Prospect Heights will probably be appreciated by those in need more than money. It means that many families in devastated portions of Europe will be able to keep warm the coming winter.

Dorcas aid bazaar Oct. 12

On October 12th the Dorcas aid will hold their annual bazaar at St. Peter Lutheran school beginning at 1:15 p. m. In conjunction with the bazaar their will be a cooking school sponsored by the Bowman dairy and Schultze baking company. Ask public to eliminate fire danger

Fire Chief Richard Jahn of Arlington Heights, is asking all householders to make an inspection of their homes sometime during the Fire prevention week, which is October 8 to 14. Mr. Jahn is outlining on this page the fire danger spots that could exist in any home. If the householders will use the outline which appears in the lower left hand corner in checking their premises they will be avoiding possible fires and safe guarding their homes and loved ones.

Some member of the fire department expects to visit every business house next week, making a detailed inspection. A carbon copy of each report will be forwarded to the property owner.

"We are not trying to invade the privacy of any business firm, but are endeavoring to give to them an inspection service that may save them a serious loss," states Chief Jahn.

A good fire company takes as much interest in fire prevention as it does in fire fighting. Mr. Jahn would like to make Arlington Heights fire proof. He needs the cooperation of all householders to make it so.

WPB places ceiling on subscribers

The WPB has issued a new order regarding the use of newsprint effective October 1, that applies directly to publishers who use less than 25 tons a quarter. Paddock Publications come under that category. The order places a ceiling on the amount of newsprint that can be used by Paddock Publications.

It means that no greater number of copies can be printed than used during the early quarters of this year. For every new civilian subscriber received an old subscriber must be cut off.

While the publishers are reluctant to take any subscriber off the mailing list, they have no other alternative. Subscribers are therefore urged to keep their subscriptions paid in advance.

Scout Pow-Wow this week-end

The 1944 Pow-Wow for Scouts of the Northwest Suburban Council will be held the week end of October 7 and 8 at Camp Evan-Bo-Sco, north of Deer Grove Forest Preserve.

The program for Saturday, in addition to the setting up of camp, will feature demonstrations of the various basic techniques of Scouting. The Campfire program will be held Saturday evening. The speaker will be George Bernasek, a returned veteran of World War II. He will tell some of his experiences aboard his submarine at the time of the Casablanca landings.

Scouts will have an opportunity to compete in the scouting skills, as well as camping and cooking.

The program will close with a retreat ceremony Sunday at 3:00 p. m.

Church observes 95th anniversary next Sunday

St. John's Evangelical church, Addison township, located on Lawrence Ave. and Mt. Prospect Rd. will observe its 95th anniversary next Sunday in a church edifice that has served the congregation 71 years. The pastor is Edward Bergstraesser, who came to the congregation three years ago.

Three anniversary services will be held. The morning service at 10 a. m. will be addressed by Rev. Edwin Berlekamp of Elmhurst. Speakers at the afternoon service, starting at 2:30 will be Rev. Kamphenkel of Arlington Heights and Dr. Adolph Bohn, pastor of Edgewater Presbyterian church.

Rev. Edward Plassman of Peotone, vice president of North Illinois synod will speak at the evening service, 8 p. m.

The church celebrated its 75th anniversary 20 years ago. The congregation dedicated a parish house in 1941, which adjoins the church and is used extensively for social events. The present parsonage, some distance away, was built many years ago and the congregation is looking forward to a new house after the war.

St. John's church is the oldest Evangelical church in this area. It is the parent church of many adjoining Evangelical congregations. It was established at a time when there were no railroads northwest of Chicago. Lawrence Ave. was a main thoroughfare and when a site was offered the families organizing the congregation, decided to accept it.

The families came from Schale, Westphalia and Hanover, Germany. The official name of their congregation was United German Evangelical St. John's congregation of Addison. The first church was erected in 1849 and dedicated October 7, 1849. Two acres were donated and the congregation bought three more acres for $30.

Three of the pastors of the church rest in the adjoining cemetery. Rev. Wolf served the church 20 years, the longest pastorate. The church has had a total of 11 pastors during the 95 years. The present membership numbers 462.

Last chance to register

Tuesday, October 10, is the last chance for any unregistered voter to get his or her name in the poll lists and be able to vote at the big election November 7.

All polling places will be open that day from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m. for the purpose of registering voters.

All persons who have moved should be sure to fill out a change of address card.

Women who have married should register under their present name.

In the last presidential election according to a member of the Chicago election commissioners there were 32,000,000 people who did not vote.

That was a greater number than voted for either candidate for president.

If a person won't register and won't vote they haven't got much right to holler about how their government is run.

If a person of voting age wants to take an active part in his government he should register and then vote.

If you are not already properly registered Tuesday, October 10, is the last chance, if you want to be able to vote November 7.

The job of getting registered or having your address changed can't be put off any longer. Next Tuesday, October 10, is the last chance.

All precinct polling places will be open on that day from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Arlington Heights postoffice needs carrier help

The man power shortage has hit the Arlington Heights postoffice in a big way. The temporary shortage a few weeks ago cut deliveries down to one a day and recently the second delivery has necessarily been limited to first class mail.

Mrs. Dodge, the postmaster, wants to give 100 per cent service but is faced with a manpower shortage that is really acute.

There is an opening today for an eight hour carrier for a city route and also for a substitute carrier for a rural route.

Howard Kreher killed in France

Word was received Wednesday morning of the death of Howard Kreher of Arlington Heights, who was killed in action in France September 12.

Word was received the past week that Howard Kreher of Arlington Heights has been missing in action in France since September 12. Pvt. Kreher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kreher, 204 N. Hickory Street.

Last letter received from Howard arrived in Arlington last week Monday, That letter told his mother of a package being sent to her containing a German hot plate,

German pack, and the Purple Heart medal given to Howard for wounds received more than a month ago. At that time Pvt. Kreher was sent to an English hospital, but was later returned to France.

Howard entered service April 16, 1942. He went across as a member of the infantry in June of this year, first reporting to England. His twentieth birthday was this Monday.

Find bank vault difficult to enter

Carl Hammerl, cashier of Mt. Prospect State Bank was unable to open the vault door Friday morning. Investigation revealed that a safety bar had become dislodged and held the door.

Manuel efforts to remedy the difficulty were unavailing and the three workmen the bank engaged had to labor nine hours drilling through an 18 inch cement and concrete wall lined with steel before entrance could be gained into the vault to release the door.

Arlington theatre patrons given credit for Red Cross fund

A report of the contributions made by theatre audiences to the Red Cross War fund throughout the United States has been received by Manager Knapp of Arlington Theatre. Audiences at the local theatre paid a total of $345.01, which is an excellent showing compared with collections at theatres in other towns of similar size. The report covers every state in the union.

Thelma Carrol is appointed community nurse

Mrs. Thelma Carroll, a registered nurse who has been chairman of the Arlington Heights health committee the past six years is the new community nurse appointed by the Chicago Tuberculosis Institute to serve the Arlington Heights community.

Mrs. Carroll has been employed in Evanston and was influenced to accept the position offered her because it enables her to be in her home town. She is well acquainted with local conditions and is in a position to continue the service that her predecessors have given to the community.

Schools appreciate work of departing community nurse

The departure of Mrs. Lund as Arlington Heights Community nurse has not left a hole in the nursing service but her work here has brought about a general expression of appreciation from the heads of the local schools, who, at the request of the Herald, voiced that appreciation as follows:

ST. JAMES

The faculty and pupils of St. James express their appreciation for the work done by Mrs. C. Lund during the past three years.

The sentiments of the entire school are aptly voiced by one of the pupils, who, upon learning of Mrs. Lund's resignation said, "We are losing a friend".

The finest tribute that we can offer is to say that Mrs. C. Lund is a credit to her profession.

Sister Judea.

NORTH SCHOOL

Arlington Heights is proud of its health program and appreciates the splendid contributions to this program which have been made by Mrs. Lund during her tenure here. It is our hope that we may continue to improve this area which is so important to the proper development of our youth.

R. E. Clabaugh, Supt.
Elementary Schools.

SOUTH SCHOOL

The teachers and pupils of the South School wish to thank Mrs. Lund for her untiring services and cooperation. She has not only been understanding and sympathetic in her work, but a true friend of all. We wish her continued success and happiness in her new position.

Argola Walk.

HIGH SCHOOL

During the years in which I have been employed by the Arlington Heights High School, I have found the community specially blessed in the personnel of the nursing service provided by the C. T. I. Miss Martha Jackson, Mrs. Adele Pino and finally Mrs. Clara Lund have all given service "far beyond the call of duty" in building a health program which is now bearing fruit. The fact that Arlington Heights children have dental clinics, sight and hearing examinations, vaccination programs and tubercular tests, pre-school examinations, infant welfare clinics, and the many advantages accruing from these services, should be largely credited to the faithful and never-ending efforts of our community nurses.

Mrs. Lund has carried forward the planning and administration of her work until at the present time our Village has as complete a health program as any others with which I am familiar.

As she leaves us she will take with her the gratitude of the parents of Arlington Heights for her labors in behalf of the health habits of our young people and the knowledge that her strenuous tour of duty has been appreciated.

A. M. Congor,
Former High School Principal.

HEALTH COMMITTEE

Chairman of Arlington Heights Public Health Committee states "Mrs. Lund has been a perfect nurse for this community. Her efficiency in her profession has been excelled only by her kindness to everyone with whom she came in contact through her work."

Thelma Carroll,
Chairman Health Com.

Elmo Williams returns to Arlington

Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Williams are again residents of Arlington Heights, or will be as soon as they can gain possession of their house on North Dunton. Mr. Williams has been in the east three years where he demonstrated diesel engines to navy personnel. The navy contract is now completed and Elmo has been transferred to the locomotive division, with headquarters in the plant at LaGrange.

In the meantime Mr. Williams has two weeks vacation in which to become reacquainted with his home town and the people within it.

Friendly class spaghetti dinner this Friday

The Friendly Class of the Presbyterian church are serving a spaghetti dinner with meat balls and home made apple pie at the Presbyterian church on Friday, October 6, from 5:30 to 7:30 o'clock. Tickets for adults are 75c and children 35c. For reservations call Mrs. Frazier 493-W.

Fire chief tells how to prevent fires

Most dwelling fires are preventable. A room-by-room check should be featured during Fire Prevention Week, and householders should observe the following points:

(1) Check from cellar to attic, inside and outside buildings, for rubbish and remove it promptly. Rubbish is a double fire hazard: it may ignite spontaneously, or it may serve as quick fuel for a stray spark. Send it to your salvage committee or, if entirely worthless, burn it in a covered fire incinerator as far from buildings as possible.

(2) Oily rags, like rubbish, may ignite spontaneously. Burn them if practical; otherwise store them in closed metal containers. Paints, too, should be kept tightly covered.

(3) Heating systems should be examined for cracks or other defects, soot, or clogging in chimneys and flues. Repairs should be made promptly. Make sure that no combustible material, including woodwork, is exposed to heat.

(4) Keep ashes in covered metal containers; shield fireplaces with screens.

(5) Replace weather-worn flammable wood shingle roofs with fire-resistant roofing.

(6) See that ample ash trays are available wherever smoking is permitted, and that careful smoking habits are cultivated by all members of the family.

(7) Put matches in metal containers, out of the reach of small children. Use a flashlight for temporary illumination.

(8) Use great care with any flammable liquid brought into the home for any purpose. Do not use flammable cleaning fluids. A correctly built fire needs no kerosene.

(9) Replace frayed electric cords, have defective electrical equipment replaced or repaired by a competent electrician, check the fuse box to see that proper fuses are installed, and see that lamp shades are a safe distance from electric light bulbs.

(10) Recharge fire extinguishers and put them where they will be readily accessible if a fire should break out.

R. H. JAHN,
Fire Marshal.

Open house to honor triple anniversary

The Albert Busse family, Mt. Prospect, is holding an open house in the Busse Garage Thursday evening, October 12, and there is a big reason for the event—the celebration of three wedding anniversaries and the arrival home on furlough from Italy of their son, Lt. Wilbert Busse.

Mr. and Mrs. Busse are celebrating their thirtieth wedding anniversary and their son and daughter their fifth wedding anniversaries. The latter two were married in a double ceremony on the 25th wedding anniversary of their parents. They are Lieutenant and Mrs. Wilbert Busse and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wille.

The triple open house provides the opportunity for all friends to greet the lieutenant who took part in two invasions in the present war the three couples. It could be and to extend congratulations to called a four-way celebration.

With the arrival home of Lt. Busse, plans were hurriedly made for the anniversary celebration. Time was too short for Mr. and Mrs. Busse to forward formal invitations, but they expect that relatives, and friends will accept this published announcement as a personal invitation to be present.

Wilbert, who was employed in the garage before entering the service, is looking forward to greeting many personal friends and also those he made in a business way.

Farmers seek restrictions on many new subdivisions

Blame buyers for sugar shortage

"The women, themselves, are to blame for the present shortage of sugar," states the manager of one of Arlington Heights largest chain stores.

"The published announcement that applications for canning sugare would not be received by the ration boards after a specified date caused many women to think that unless they 'cashed' the canning sugar coupons that had been issued to them by the OPA at once, they would not be valid. Some families have coupons entitling them to as many as a hundred pounds," continued the manager.

"Until the above announcement appeared there was plenty of sugar for our customers, then suddenly the rush started. After receiving only minor amounts of sugar two weeks, I received my normal supply Wednesday morning. By 10:30 it was exhausted.

"The butter shortage is a 'horse of another color'. I believe that there is not much available butter in sight, but the public do not have to have butter. Butterless toast does not taste bad and there are butter substitutes that have the same amount of vitamins as the real article.

Coffee Scare Was A Joke

"The coffee scare of last week end was a joke. I cleaned out my entire stock within two days and this morning I have an abundant supply on my shelves. Some people who normally use a pound a week, purchased as many as ten pounds."

Other local store managers have a similar story to tell. An occasional woman becomes much excited. Housewives now get up in the morning in time to get their husband's breakfast and rush down town leaving unwashed dishes in order to be on hand when the food stores open.

Sewer and water systems, schools present problems

Two discussion meetings were held by township leaders of the Cook County Farm Bureau, one at Blue Island, Wednesday, September 27 and the other at Arlington Heights, Thursday, September 28, on the subject of the effect of a probable increase in subdivisions in Cook County after the war. Those on the panel in Blue Island were Mr. Oliver Dorn, Mr. Albert Benck, Mrs. Howard Miller, assisted by Steven W. Nichiporuk, Sanitary Engineer for the Cook County Health Department, A. J. Mullins, Director of the Cook County Zoning Bureau, and Earl Kistner, District Engineer for the Zoning Bureau. Taking part at Arlington Heights were Henry Moehling, Henry Eichholz, Mrs. Ed. Longfield and Mrs. Louis Pohman assisted by Mr. Arthur Robinson from the Cook County Highways and Mr. E. J. Boland of the Cook County Zoning Bureau and Dr. E. A. Piszczek, Cook County Health Commissioner.

The complaints that the panel developed with reference to subdivisions were based mostly upon the cheaper types of divisions. Farm Adviser Hughes who acted as moderator stated that there were a number of subdivisions in rural areas that had been laid out intelligently with forethought to the numerous problems the settlers would have to meet which were logical and about which there were no questions. There were many subdivisions that were sold to people who came into the country with the idea that they wanted to escape the expenses that they had in town and live a free, independent, cheap life in the country. The panel enumerated a number of complaints that they were familiar with in the territory. Among them was a very common complaint that sewage was disposed of very carelessly in many instances. Sometimes a sewage tank was improperly constructed. Some had none at all and in many cases the settlers tapped into the farmers drain tile and at other times raw sewage was run out into the road and field ditches. Water was another item of complaint. Many of these people had poorly constructed wells and subject to contamination.

Upset Schools

It was pointed out that frequently settlers in the country upset the school system where the school districts had already provided educational facilities for the local people. Demands were coming from the subdivisions that new school houses be built, busses put on the road, and often the school house was moved near the subdivision causing the farmers' children to have to travel long distances to school. One instance was cited where a colored subdivision had been located in a farm community with resulting school difficulties. In a great many cases, the children from the subdivisions would play in farmers' fields and trample down crops and often carry parts of his crops off.

One of the outstanding difficulties is the tendency on the part of the real estate assessment bodies to raise the farm land values when subdivisions come in. The farmers maintained that the subdivisions did not add to the value of their land but in many respects a subdivision was a detriment. Still there was a feeling by some assessment bodies that a nearby subdivision adds a speculative value to farm land.

It was pointed out by the zoning commission representatives that in rural Cook County there were now lots already laid out to accommodate necessary building for a good many years and there was no apparent necessity of any increase in subdivision areas. However, there is no authority now to prevent a subdivision from being established anywhere in the rural area. The health commission pointed out that at present they were merely a welfare agency and they are seeking from the Board of County Commissioners to be established as a Health Department in Cook County which according to a recent law passed in this state would give them authority to legislate requirements for water systems, sewage disposal, types of housing, which would have the effect of preventing cheap construction being established in the country.

Must Have Authority

After consideration of all points brought out by the two discussions, it was apparent that some authority should be established in the county through which a proposed subdivision should clear with the probability that the zoning ordinance might be the proper means of handling such clearance. In the near future a committee will be calling upon the zoning commission to discuss procedure on making such a setup. It was the opinion of most people that as a rule settlers in these subdivisions were misinformed about the situations and conditions they would find when they moved out into a rural subdivision. To protect them and the rural areas it is believed that the necessity of a subdivision should be clearly established by regulations (including those of a Health Department which most present thought should be established) which would be lodged in the zoning authority to regulate subdivisions perhaps after a hearing is held when a subdivision is proposed.

There are a number of other problems facing farmers of Cook County which will be discussed at these regular monthly meetings of leaders throughout the coming winter.

Masonic services for John J. Slade Sunday afternoon

Palatine Lodge No. 314 A. F. & A. M. will conduct services over the ashes of John J. Slade at Hillside cemetery, Palatine, Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. Mr. Slade, who was born and grew to manhood in Palatine, died recently in California. His mother, Mrs. Martha Comfort returned home with the ashes this week.

Wins blue token pool

Mrs. Paul Stroud of Arlington Heights won last week's "blue token pool" at the publication office. The tokens, worthless in groups of less than 10, were brought to the office and combined to total 110 points. Mrs. Stroud won the drawing and was given the points, having contributed eight tokens to the "pot."

National bank is organized at Palatine

Palatine is again to have a bank. Authority has been given by the U. S. treasury department for the formation of the bank, which will be known as The Palatine National Bank.

For a number of months a group of public spirited business men and citizens of Palatine have been working on the bank situation. A quiet canvas was made among possible stockholders and depositors, the results of which were so encouraging that decision to complete the organization was made and the proper application forwarded to Washington. Representatives of the treasury department visited Palatine and surveyed the needs for a banking institution. It was on their favorable report that the charter was granted.

The organization committee is composed of Arthur T. McIntosh, well known realtor of the Chicago area, who has a home near Palatine and has developed Inverness, Frank L. Wente, Palatine business man and Roy LaLonde, Palatine realtor. Application for the bank charter was signed by these three men and Stanley F. Pepper and John G. Ford, residents of Inverness who are much interested in the welfare of Palatine.

The new bank will be capitalized at $50,000, with $12,500 for surplus and $12,500 for undivided profits, making a total of $75,000.

The financial structure of the new bank is practically complete as many of the leading citizens and business men have signified their desire to take stock of sizeable amounts. The organizers thus know where the money is coming from and there will be no need for any stock selling campaign, which often accompanies the organization of any new enterprise.

The bank will be housed in the building formerly occupied by the old First National Bank. The building will be purchased from the creditors of the old National Bank who used the final dividends received from the receiver to take over the building, so that it might be available as a bank when the proper time came.

This action, a group of depositors in the original bank saving the bank building, with its vault and other banking facilities, played an important part in bringing the bank to Palatine.

The cashier of the new Palatine National Bank will be Warren C. Kohler, present cashier of the Arlington Heights National Bank. He has had 25 years banking experience, nine years as a Chicago bank officer and sixteen years in suburban and country banking.

In seeking a cashier, Mr. Kohler was strongly recommended to the organizers of the bank by Chicago banking interests and it is no secret that Mr. Kohler was reluctant to give up his present position in the Arlington Heights National bank, which in seven years has become a two million dollar institution. Mr. Kohler will remain at his present post until the end of the month.

The exact date of the opening of the Palatine National Bank will be announced when the organization is perfected.

Village dads hold a quiet meeting

Only routine matters were before the Arlington Heights village board Monday evening. A payroll totaling $2,415.76 was passed for payment and the usual reports of officers and employees were received.

Vitamins once a day may be inadequate

by C. W. LUSSMAN of Sieburg Pharmacy

Too many people believe that a rule which applies to some is sufficient for all. The use of Vitamins is a case in point.

As a matter of fact, Vitamins should be ordered by the doctor, and the quantity and quality specified. Any other procedure is apt to be the "hit or miss" plan and fail in hoped for results.

There are pharmaceutical firms whose products are of outstanding quality, and who maintain unceasing vigilance over the quality and potency of their products.

The doctor's advice, however, as to the quantity needed by an individual, is important. Needs are as various as finger prints.

Merle Guild Post No. 208 American Legion

The next meeting of the post will be held at the Legion home Tuesday evening, October 10, 1944, at 8 p. m. The commander will endeavor to start the meeting promptly so the comrades will have an opportunity to visit and enjoy the usual game of cards, etc.

Junior Vice Commander Herman H. Meyer will be on hand with the usual refreshments and Commander Hume Young will supervise the card games which are interesting for all contestants, as well as the on lookers.

At the last post meeting the members discussed ways and means to assist in the rehabilitation of the boys returning from their tour of duty with the armed forces.

The local post is fortunate in having Past Commander John Lee as chairman of the reemployment committee of Merle guild post. Past Commanders Carroll and Crane have been appointed to the community council post war planning board and with other local citizens including John Lee will assist in aiding the returning veterans of this war.

The commander expects to announce in detail the local Legion program for 1945, at the next meeting.

Let service to the community, state and nation be ever the main objective of the American Legion and its members.

This post welcomes any eligible veteran to apply for membership. There will be jobs for all who wish to help in the Legion work.

Com. Dewey Beck or Adjutant Leslie Moodie will be glad to provide the necessary applications or renewal of membership cards. The dues in this post are $3.00 per year payable now.

Silver wedding

Mr. and Mrs. George Evert of Aptakisic road celebrated their silver wedding anniversary on Saturday, September 30, at the Wheeling Gym. About 300 relatives and friends assembled at 8:30 p. m. and music for dancing commenced at 9:00 p. m., provided by Rose La Mantia's orchestra. Mr. and Mrs. Evert received many beautiful gifts. One which attracted much attention, was a silver basket containing a silver tree on whose branches were tied 25 silver dollars. This came from the pinochle club of which Mrs. Evert is a member. Mr. Evert's card club also prosented them with a silver box of dollars and the huge wedding cake came from a friend in the bakery business. Refreshments were served at 11:30 p. m. and the guests made merry until the wee small hours of morning.

St. James school news

The paper drive held at the St. James school in Arlington Heights over the week end was a tremendous success, with the students collecting 12,550 pounds of scrap paper. Room 5 made the largest collection and is thus the winner, the prize to be announced later.

Defense stamps may now be bought at the school on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

The school library is open on Tuesdays and a lot of new books have made their appearance on the shelves.

Mrs. Carroll is the new nurse at the school.

Fall dances

The Chicago Club will sponsor their fall dances, starting Saturday, October 14, and every Saturday night, and will be held at the Chicago House, Milwaukee ave., Wheeling. Music will be furnished by Art Ahrens orchestra.

"Whoa there, Betsy! time for you to rest up a bit now. You've had a hard day," said farmer Jones to his horse.

Farmer Jones is aware that his horse needs rest after working all day. How many hard-working people realize they need rest after a day's work? This is especially true for people working in wartime industry.

The wartime industrial worker should recognize that he needs to watch for signs of fatigue, because a fatigued worker cannot do his best work. He must also remember that fatigue is associated with accidents, and the more fatigued a worker is the more liable he is to have an accident. Several years ago accidents caused a loss of over 25 million working days. It is true that accidents are caused by many factors, but fatigue is an important contributing one.

Man is not a machine and to keep himself free from fatigue and to promote the best working conditions, good health is all-important. To maintain good health we need: 1. Adequate nutrition.. 2. Sufficient rest and sleep. 3. Moderate exercise. 4. Regular leisure periods. 5. Fresh air and sunshine. 6. Cleanliness.

In wartime, many of us in our zeal to "get things done" are overlooking the aforementioned health needs. Since man is not a mechanical contraption, he has the power to force himself beyond his optimum energy, ignoring signs of fatigue until he can overwork to the point of collapse. This can be most harmful.

Staff Sgt. Robert Stahl

Staff Sgt. Robert Stahl, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stahl, Prairie View, Lake county, previously reported missing in action, was killed in a raid over Romania on August 17 his wife, Mrs. Janie Stahl, 137 W. Lincoln avenue, Barrington, was informed Monday by the war department. Sgt. Stahl was a radioman on a bomber. Before entering the army in June, 1943, he was a teller in the Deerfield state bank at Deerfield. He also is survived by two brothers, Donald, a private in New Guinea, and Harold, and by two sisters, Norma and Mrs. Clarence Spencer.

There is a lot of whittling going on in the Cub organization. The boys are all very busy making something because they would like to win one of those good prizes that are going to be awarded at the next Pack meeting. In fact, so much interest has been shown that it was necessary for the prize committee to hold a special meeting this last Tuesday evening.

Next week is designated as enlistment week. Every Cub is urged to get a boy in his neighborhood, or one that he knows at school who should be a Cub. Let's invite new boys to join us and enjoy all the good things of Cubbing. Give the boys names to your Den Dad and he will give you cards to fill out for membership.

There is a monthly meeting of the Den Dads and officers next Monday evening at 7:30 at Revenaugh's, 925 N. Dunton ave.

Mrs. Frank Rugen

Mrs. Helena Sophie Rugen, nee Tagtmeier, died last week at the age of 49 years. Funeral services were held at St. Peter Church, Northbrook, Rev. Bizer officiating.

Deceased leaves her husband Frank Rugen, four children, Frances, who is a student at University of California, David, Paul and James, five brothers, Alfred, William, Ruddy, George and the late Henry, three sisters, Emma, Clara and Lillian.

Mrs. Rugen was born on Jan. 12, 1895, at Fairmont, Minn. She married Frank Rugen in 1923. She was a member of St. Peters church, an active member of the PTA, also Service Committee of Church, serving our lads in the U. S. forces and the Women's guild.

Albert Biehl

Many friends extend their sympathy to the family of Mr. and Mrs. Biehl, at the loss of their only son, Albert (Bud) Biehl, who passed away suddenly last Wednesday after a short illness. He was 32 years old, and died at the Evanston hospital. Funeral services were held at St. Norberts church last Friday, Rev. Benz officiating. Burial was at St. Mary's cemetery in Chicago. He leaves to mourn him his wife, Alice (nee Rieland), his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Biehl and two sisters, Mrs. Charles McCormick and Mrs. Lawrence Schevers, and many friends. He was a student of Northbrook and St. Patrick, Chicago, school and Deerfield schield school where he had many friends.

Mrs. Joseph Hajek

Mrs. Joseph Hajek after several weeks illness died at the Palatine community hospital Monday morning. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at the Tharp-Danielsen funeral home, Rev. Hammitt, pastor of Palatine Methodist church officiating. Cremation followed at Acacia Park.

Deceased leaves her husband, a daughter, Mrs. Wm. Tudyman and a son, Antone, both of whom reside in Palatine.

Mrs. Hajek was born October 20, 1867, in Mairt, Bohemia, and after her tenth birthday resided with an aunt in Vienna, Austria. When 19 years old she married Mr. Hajek. When they came to America on a visit in 1908 they liked the country so much they decided to remain and settled in Chicago, where they resided 10 years.

The family came to Palatine in 1918, which has since been their home. Five of their six grandchildren are in service. There are also two great grandchildren.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear son and our beloved brother 1st Lt. William C. Bessemer, who passed away one year ago, October 10th, in Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C.

One year has passed since that sad day
When one we loved was called away;
God took him home, it was His will
But in our hearts he liveth still;
The blow was hard,
The shock severe,
We never thought his death so near;
Only those who have lost can tell the pain of parting without farewell.

Your loving Mother, Brothers and Sisters.

THANK YOU

I wish to acknowledge my deep appreciation for the many expressions of sympathy and kindness shown me by friends and neighbors in my recent sorrow.

Vitamins once a day may be inadequate

by C. W. LUSSMAN of Sieburg Pharmacy

Too many people believe that a rule which applies to some is sufficient for all. The use of Vitamins is a case in point.

As a matter of fact, Vitamins should be ordered by the doctor, and the quantity and quality specified. Any other procedure is apt to be the "hit or miss" plan and fail in hoped for results.

There are pharmaceutical firms whose products are of outstanding quality, and who maintain unceasing vigilance over the quality and potency of their products.

The doctor's advice, however, as to the quantity needed by an individual, is important. Needs are as various as finger prints.

Merle Guild Post No. 208 American Legion

The next meeting of the post will be held at the Legion home Tuesday evening, October 10, 1944, at 8 p. m. The commander will endeavor to start the meeting promptly so the comrades will have an opportunity to visit and enjoy the usual game of cards, etc.

Junior Vice Commander Herman H. Meyer will be on hand with the usual refreshments and Commander Hume Young will supervise the card games which are interesting for all contestants, as well as the on lookers.

At the last post meeting the members discussed ways and means to assist in the rehabilitation of the boys returning from their tour of duty with the armed forces.

The local post is fortunate in having Past Commander John Lee as chairman of the reemployment committee of Merle guild post. Past Commanders Carroll and Crane have been appointed to the community council post war planning board and with other local citizens including John Lee will assist in aiding the returning veterans of this war.

The commander expects to announce in detail the local Legion program for 1945, at the next meeting.

Let service to the community, state and nation be ever the main objective of the American Legion and its members.

This post welcomes any eligible veteran to apply for membership. There will be jobs for all who wish to help in the Legion work.

Com. Dewey Beck or Adjutant Leslie Moodie will be glad to provide the necessary applications or renewal of membership cards. The dues in this post are $3.00 per year payable now.

Thanks

The Arlington Heights Nurse's club wishes to express its grateful appreciation to the following who helped make the card party a success:

Silver wedding

Mr. and Mrs. George Evert of Aptakisic road celebrated their silver wedding anniversary on Saturday, September 30, at the Wheeling Gym. About 300 relatives and friends assembled at 8:30 p. m. and music for dancing commenced at 9:00 p. m., provided by Rose La Mantia's orchestra. Mr. and Mrs. Evert received many beautiful gifts. One which attracted much attention, was a silver basket containing a silver tree on whose branches were tied 25 silver dollars. This came from the pinochle club of which Mrs. Evert is a member. Mr. Evert's card club also prosented them with a silver box of dollars and the huge wedding cake came from a friend in the bakery business. Refreshments were served at 11:30 p. m. and the guests made merry until the wee small hours of morning.

St. James school news

The paper drive held at the St. James school in Arlington Heights over the week end was a tremendous success, with the students collecting 12,550 pounds of scrap paper. Room 5 made the largest collection and is thus the winner, the prize to be announced later.

Defense stamps may now be bought at the school on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

The school library is open on Tuesdays and a lot of new books have made their appearance on the shelves.

Mrs. Carroll is the new nurse at the school.

In 1940, Thirty-two Million (32,000,000) voters did not vote. That was more than voted for either candidate for president that year.

Such a lack of interest on the part of the voters makes it easy for the Radicals and the Gang Bossed Big City Political Machines to run the country.

Methodist women to hear talk on negro scientist

The Women's Society of the Methodist church will hold their monthly meeting Tuesday evening, October 10th, at 8:00 o'clock.

The program will be given by Mr. Harry Abbott of Chicago whose subject will be "Dr. George Washington Carver," the negro scientist with whom he was closely associated. Mr. Abbott was for several years on the faculty of the Tuskegee Institute.

Church Notes

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Cor. N. Dunton at Eastman Street
Herman G. McCoy, Pastor

Sunday church school for all ages will begin at 9:45 a. m. A good start was made in the new class for young people last Sunday. We hope a good number will be out this coming Sunday.

Sunday morning worship will begin at 11 o'clock. The pastor will preach a junior sermon to the boys and girls at this service, the first of the fall. The regular sermon will be on "The Second Commandment," and there will be special music by the choir. A nursery for small children is provided at this hour.

The Pioneer Society for Intermediates (7th and 8th grades) will meet at the church Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock.

The session will have its regular monthly meeting Monday night at 8:00 o'clock in the pastor's study.

Choir rehearsals for the three choirs will be held on Wednesday at the usual time.

Orchestra rehearsal on Tuesday evenings at 7:30 o'clock.

THE METHODIST MEETING HOUSE
N. Dunton at St James Street
Milo J. Vondracek, Minister

Sunday, October 8th.

9:45 a. m. The Sunday Church School is joining Methodists all over the world in the Crusade for Christ program. This means increased attendance and activity on the part of every Church School in the denomination. Ours has already begun to work toward the goal of a 20% increase or better. Come and share this period of religious instruction.

11:00 a. m. The Morning Worship will be a "Church School Teachers" dedicatory service. We will honor those who are guiding the citizens of tomorrow. The choir will sing Schenk's "My Soul Doth Magnify the Lord". The sermon is "Education Versus Indoctrination".

6:00 p. m. "The Grader's League" meeting will be a continuation of the initial meeting last Sunday night. All 7th and 8th graders are invited.

7:00 p. m. The Youth Fellowship will present a program of vital interest to all youth of high school age. Try to keep up the good showing made last week.

Tuesday, 8:00 p. m.—The Woman's Society will present Dr. Harry Abbott of Chicago, a co-worker of the famous Negro Scientist George Washington Carver. Invite your friends and neighbors to hear this truly great American.

Thursday, 8:00 p. m.—Choir rehearsal, please be on time. The contribution to last week's service was truly great. We thank you.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Cor. N. Dunton at Eastman Street
Herman G. McCoy, Pastor

Sunday church school for all ages will begin at 9:45 a. m. A good start was made in the new class for young people last Sunday. We hope a good number will be out this coming Sunday.

Sunday morning worship will begin at 11 o'clock. The pastor will preach a junior sermon to the boys and girls at this service, the first of the fall. The regular sermon will be on "The Second Commandment," and there will be special music by the choir. A nursery for small children is provided at this hour.

The Pioneer Society for Intermediates (7th and 8th grades) will meet at the church Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock.

The session will have its regular monthly meeting Monday night at 8:00 o'clock in the pastor's study.

Choir rehearsals for the three choirs will be held on Wednesday at the usual time.

Orchestra rehearsal on Tuesday evenings at 7:30 o'clock.

THE METHODIST MEETING HOUSE
N. Dunton at St James Street

Sunday, October 8th.

9:45 a. m. The Sunday Church School is joining Methodists all over the world in the Crusade for Christ program. This means increased attendance and activity on the part of every Church School in the denomination. Ours has already begun to work toward the goal of a 20% increase or better. Come and share this period of religious instruction.

11:00 a. m. The Morning Worship will be a "Church School Teachers" dedicatory service. We will honor those who are guiding the citizens of tomorrow. The choir will sing Schenk's "My Soul Doth Magnify the Lord". The sermon is "Education Versus Indoctrination".

6:00 p. m. "The Grader's League" meeting will be a continustion of the initial meeting last Sunday night. All 7th and 8th graders are invited.

7:00 p. m. The Youth Fellowship will present a program of vital interest to all youth of high school age. Try to keep up the good showing made last week.

Tuesday, 3:00 p. m.—The Woman's Society will present Dr. Harry Abbott of Chicago, a co-worker of the famous Negro Scientist George Washington Carver. Invite your friends and neighbors to hear this truly great American.

Thursday, 8:00 p. m.—Choir rehearsal, please be on time. The contribution to last week's service was truly great. We thank you.

Jane Phillips weds Lt. William Frederick

At her home last Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in front of a fireplace from whose mantle the soft glow of candlelight fell upon their faces, Jane, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Phillips, 303 W. Circle ave., Prospect Heights, was united in marriage to Lt. William H. Frederick, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Frederick of Jeffersontown, Ky. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert F. Klepper, pastor of the Community Church. Lt. Frederick is a member of the 740th Military Police battalion and is stationed at Skokie Valley.

The bride wore a light blue crepe dress and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses with a headdress to match. She was given in marriage by her father, William R. Phillips. The couple was unattended but Mr. and Mrs. Mark Webb acted as witnesses to the event.

The mother of the bride wore a printed dress in very soft shades and wore a corsage of white button chrysanthemums. The bride's bouquet was caught by her cousin, Miss Marjorie Mahr. White gladioli, snapdragons, chrysanthemums and baby's breath decorated the house.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony, at which many neighbors and out-of-town guests were present.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Robert Blair, Lombard, grandmother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Mahr and Miss Marjorie Mahr of Lombard; Walter Dennis of Riverside; Lt. and Mrs. Hugh Bryce of Skokie Valley; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Phillips and Mrs. Frank Phillips, Jr., of Chicago and Sgt. Thomas Jones, cousin of the groom, who had recently returned to this country after 2 years in the Aleutians.

The bride wore a beige suit with black accessories as her going away costume when she and the groom left at midnight for a week's honeymoon in Louisville, Ky.

Entertain at dinner party

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smart, 312 N. Dwyer, Arlington Heights, entertained at dinner Saturday evening, September 30, for Mr. and Mrs. William J. Barner of Cleveland, O.

The occasion was also the eleventh wedding anniversary of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stiegler of Chicago.

Other out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Tepe of Chicago, Lt. (jg) Richard Fields of Glenview air base, Lt. (jg) Gene Fitzgibbons of Ottumwa, Ia., air base, Ensign Robert H. Eich (home on leave), and Joseph Smart, S2C, of the University of Chicago.

Dancing was also enjoyed at Breezy Point.

Girl scouts

The Girl scouts of troop one are ready to start on their winter session of scout work. Their summer of activities included swimming, shuffle board and baseball. Two of the main features were a wiener roast and an overnight camp out.

It took 26 years from its founding in 1912 until the end of 1928 for the Girl scout national organization to gain its first half million members. The second half million came in six and a half years. The million mark was passed on August 11, 1944.

Girl scout national membership has been boosted from 671,000 at the time of Pearl Harbor to more than a million in 1944. Here in Arlington Heights interest in scouting has brought local membership up to 175 members. You can help more girls get scout training by offering your services as an adult leader to Mrs. Herman Carr. Phone 1864.

Wheeling Home Bureau unit

Lindberg home scene of attractive wedding

One of the loveliest weddings of the season was solemnized Saturday, September 30th, at 8:30 p. m., in the charming home of the Marshall Lindbergs on Prairie ave., Arlington Heights, when Fern Miley of Oak Park became the bride of Alfred P. Matteson, Jr., also of Oak Park.

The bride took her vows in the living room of the Lindberg home, which was beautifully decorated with white gladioli and palms, and lighted by tall white tapers. She wore a gray suit and corsage of red roses and tiny chrysanthemums. She was attended by Kathaleen Lindberg, who wore a gown of flowered crep and a corsage of red roses. Mr. Marshall Lindberg was best man.

The ceremony was performed by Judge W. Edward Fritz. Miss Mary Toman sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Oh Promise Me".

A delicious buffet supper was served to the eighteen guests present. Mr. and Mrs. Matteson will be at home after Monday, October 2, at 535 Thatcher ave., River Forest.

The guests present were: Mrs. Raymond Lindberg, Mrs. Marvin Hummel and daughter Barbara, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lindberg, Judge and Mrs. W. Edw. Fritz, Miss Betty Vogel, Miss Elaine Walters, Mrs. Natalie Peebles, Mrs. Theresa Hejda, Miss Mary Toman, Miss Mona Fay, Mr. James Lloyd.

Ernest Thies 35th anniversary

A host of relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Thies, north of Itasca, last Sunday to observe the 35th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Meyer, formerly long-time residents of Arlington Heights, and the birthday of Mr. Thies.

Because the Meyers now live on Chicago's southwest side, 5117 S. Laflin St., it was decided to celebrate the two events as a double affair in order to facilitate traveling.

The day was spent at games after which the party enjoyed a wonderfully-prepared dinner.

7th, 8th graders have social hour

Under the sponsorship of the Sunday church school board of the Arlington Heights Methodist church and the leadership of Miss K. Hines and Mrs. G. Crittendon K. Hines and Mrs. G. Crittendon, froliced and enjoyed an evening of supervised play. Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Prellberg outlined possibilities of a permanent group organization that would meet once a week and be an organization of their own making. No definite organization was set up but plans are being made for some type of program for boys and girls at this age level. Misses K. Hines and Harriett Roney have consented to be sponsors.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Horcher, 406 S. Dunton St., entertained 24 guests at a supper party Sunday, September 24, in honor of their son, Dennis' fifth birthday. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Moore and two children of Chicago.

Shirley Kruse, Alvin Guenther are married

At a candle light ceremony at 7 p. m. Saturday evening at Jerusalem Lutheran church, Morton Grove, Miss Shirley Kruse of Chicago and Alvin Guenther of Morton Grove were united in holywedlock by the Rev. Otto Heidtke.

Miss Evelyn Anderson of Chicago was maid of honor. She wore a pink moire taffeta and net gown with matching blusher and carried American beauty roses. Mr. Edward C. Guenther, Jr., served his brother as best man.

Miss Kruse chose the traditional white satin for her gown and wore a finger tip veil which was held in place with a tiara of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of roses, mums, gladioli and gardenias.

The bridesmaids, Miss Betty Blachsenberger of Chicago and Miss Mildred Guenther of Morton Grove, sister of the bridegroom, wore aqua moire taffeta and net gowns with matching blushers and also carried American beauty roses. The ushers were Mr. Robert Larson, brother of the bride, and Mr. Leroy Harms of Morton Grove, cousin of the bride.

The choral and altar society rendered two beautiful numbers—the Lord's prayer and the Benediction. The altar was banked with palms. Flowers were white gladioli. Pews to the altar were decorated with gladioli and ribbons.

A reception for 300 guests was held at Deckert's hall in Morton Grove. Miss Kruse was honored at three bridal showers given by Miss Evelyn Anderson, Miss Mildred Guenther, and Mrs. Frieda Harms of Morton Grove, aunt of the bride.

Red Cross unit to hold building party

All members of the Arlington Heights Red Cross Unit are asked to mark Thursday, October 19, at 8 p. m. at the Field House on their calendar. Mrs. John Peroutka's telephone number is 1328-R and she asks that any one who has old wool blankets, 80% wool, or pieces of blankets to give to the hospitals for use in the Kenny treatment of infantile paralysis, to call her and she will arrange for the collection of the same.

We were asked to display our flags on Columbus Day which is on October 12.

Plans for a rummage sale some time this month were discussed. The place and date were left to be decided by the activities committee of which Millie Russell is chairman.

After adjournment the hostesses, Millie Russell and May Wisersky, served delicious refreshments.

Jane Phillips weds Lt. William Frederick

At her home last Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in front of a fireplace from whose mantle the soft glow of candlelight fell upon their faces, Jane, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Phillips, 303 W. Circle ave., Prospect Heights, was united in marriage to Lt. William H. Frederick, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Frederick of Jeffersontown, Ky. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert F. Klepper, pastor of the Community Church. Lt. Frederick is a member of the 740th Military Police battalion and is stationed at Skokie Valley.

The bride wore a light blue crepe dress and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses with a headdress to match. She was given in marriage by her father, William R. Phillips. The couple was unattended but Mr. and Mrs. Mark Webb acted as witnesses to the event.

The mother of the bride wore a printed dress in very soft shades and wore a corsage of white button chrysanthemums. The bride's bouquet was caught by her cousin, Miss Marjorie Mahr. White gladioli, snapdragons, chrysanthemums and baby's breath decorated the house.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony, at which many neighbors and out-of-town guests were present.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Robert Blair, Lombard, grandmother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Mahr and Miss Marjorie Mahr of Lombard; Walter Dennis of Riverside; Lt. and Mrs. Hugh Bryce of Skokie Valley; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Phillips and Mrs. Frank Phillips, Jr., of Chicago and Sgt. Thomas Jones, cousin of the groom, who had recently returned to this country after 2 years in the Aleutians.

The bride wore a beige suit with black accessories as her going away costume when she and the groom left at midnight for a week's honeymoon in Louisville, Ky.

Entertain at dinner party

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smart, 312 N. Dwyer, Arlington Heights, entertained at dinner Saturday evening, September 30, for Mr. and Mrs. William J. Barner of Cleveland, O.

The occasion was also the eleventh wedding anniversary of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stiegler of Chicago.

Other out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Tepe of Chicago, Lt. (jg) Richard Fields of Glenview air base, Lt. (jg) Gene Fitzgibbons of Ottumwa, Ia., air base, Ensign Robert H. Eich (home on leave), and Joseph Smart, S2C, of the University of Chicago.

Dancing was also enjoyed at Breezy Point.

World scientist's assistant to speak here

George Washington Carver, known to Americans and the world as the great discoverer of the many by-products of the peanut and other agricultural by-products, was an inspiration to white and colored alike. Among those who had the rare and rich privilege of working with Dr. Carver was Dr. Harry Abbott formerly of Tuskegee institute and now of Chicago. Dr. Abbott will tell the Women's society of Christian service of the Methodist church some intimate details of the man who rose from slavery to the highest place in science. Dr. Abbott will appear Tuesday evening, October 10, at 8:00 p. m. at the regular meeting of the society.

Just around the corner

By Eleanor Milstead

Several columns back I told you that my idea of heaven was a place where none of those ring-master lists of "Things To Do" making a breakfast, lunch and dinner gulper out of me.

Ann Morrissey wants herself situated in paradise so that she will be able to raise hundreds and hundreds of dogs. If you've had a look at the Morrissey's beautiful setter, Fashion, you can see why.

My husband's special Utopia will be a gleaming one, I'm sure "with a place for everything and everything in its place." He added wearily, the other evening "and some one to put it there."

One of my favorite cousins writes from South Bend:

"Mother and I canned 6 bushels of tomatoes in various forms, 25 quarts of spiced peaches, 15 quarts of beans (frozen), 11 of strawberries (picked and frozen), 12 pints and 7 quarts of corn frozen, and there's apple sauce yet to do. We feel a little squirrely . . . in more ways than one."

Her heaven ought to be lined with shelves of already canned vegetables and fruit. I don't know, though. A heaven without good work to do would be all wrong, I guess (the lady said wistfully) for Virginia.

Saturday afternoon I returned from shopping to be greeted with shouts from our little friends across the street: ',A marine! a marine! There's a marine in your house!" It was not a marine. It was Ensign Robert Rehling who owns our house. His pretty blonde fiancee was with him and when the dears left they forgot the light in the attic. Robert's cousin, Mr. George Hieber, said philosophically, "Love's like that."

It has often seemed to me that the way to get rid of bad and mediocre movies is to overflow the theatre for the good ones. Did you see "Going My Way?".

I wish my father were here to be pleased about the cigarette shortage. I'm glad mother is.

God help us to find a way to keep our children's boys and girls from asking: "When, mother, wasn't there a war?"

Have you thought any more about finding a room for the Sky Wolves to work?

I'm going to be a proud woman if Mrs. Howard Turner of Roselle accepts our invitation to read a Christmas story for PTA. Her "White Cliffs of Dover" will not be forgotten by anyone who has heard her. I cherish a dream of listening to her read Robert Browning's "By the Fireside."

Old folks enjoy home-made pies

The third group of the Ladies aid of the St. Peter's Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, donated 17 assorted home made pies to the residents of the Lutheran Old folks home, Wednesday, September 27, which were very much enjoyed and appreciated. District Women's club fall meeting next week

The club women of the Seventh Congressional district of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs will hold their fall meeting on Thursday, October 12, at 10:00 a. m. at the First Congregational church on Graceland avenue in Des Plaines. Mrs. Milton H. G. Meyer the district president, will open the meeting and the Rev. Earl Brehm, pastor of the church will give the invocation.

"Federation trends" being the theme of the day, two prominent state chairmen will be the morning speakers. First, Mrs. Chas. W. Stigman, war service chairman, will speak on "Women's work in wartime" while Mrs. Harry W. Raymond, state legislative chairman will discuss legislation. Other features of the morning session will include announcements by district chairmen of projects to be sponsored by their departments.

A splendid program of music has been arranged by Flora Wager, cellist; Dana Jones, pianist, and Frances Beherns Fish, contralto, accompanied by Irma Johnson, to open the afternoon session.

Mrs. Geo. A. Harriman, district program chairman, will present the speaker of the day, Capt. Arthur K. Flanigan of Vaughan General hospital at Hines who has chosen as his subject, "Reconditioning of the sick and wounded." The district has listed as one of its major projects of the year, cooperation in helping to raise the $25,000 pledged by the state federation toward the building of a greenhouse at the hospital.

The Des Plaines and Park Ridge Women's clubs will be hostesses to the district at this meeting and will welcome presidents, delegates and members of the 41 clubs who are members. Mrs. W. C. Howard is president of the Des Plaines club and Mrs. G. L. Hackett is president of Park Ridge Women's club. They will be assisted by Mrs. Ole N. Jensen, district hostess.

It Happened Here

Today Ed started his autumn ritual of leaf raking; this ceremony has a movable date, depending more or less on the phases of the moon or the quality of deep blue weather that the stripped trees enhance or a bit of leisure tucked into a full week; to be sure, a few leaves, the advance guard, too tired to stay in the ranks, were haked in August, but this is the first bonfire raking, with children attending as acolytes—or some unclassified pest. Ed keeps right on raking in his high-priestly blue overalls, and how he avoids Shirley's head or Bobby's heels is a mystery there certainly seem to be more arms, legs and pigtails than two children could account for. Aha! there goes Bobby's foot! No, that was Shirley's chocolate candy bar, right into the heap of raked up leaves; then followed wild scrimmaging and scattering of the heap, but to no purpose; the elusive candy bar, disguised as a crumpled brown leaf, evaded discovery, and the pile had to be raked together again and a match set to the pyre. Billows of acrid smoke slanted off among the trees, an aroma the old sachems must have loved, and if there were no redskins to dance with feathered headdress and tomahawk, there was always Shirley plus Bobby. Ed says the candy bar was later retrieved, gooey and drippy, thoroughly disguised as ash trouble but still recognizable—trust a child to know its own.

Seek more women to join WACs

As more and more wounded men are being returned from the world's fighting fronts to the Army general hospitals in this country, there is a rapidly growing need for American women to enlist in the Women's army coprs for assignment to duty as medical and surgical technicians, as announced by Lt. Betty Jane Echols of the Evanston recruiting office.

Some of the vacancies currently existing in the hospitals call for women with previous technical experience. However, there have been established training schools at which women with special aptitudes are given short, intensive training courses thus fitting them for the important work to be done.

General admission qualifications do not differ materially from those imposed for regular WAC enlistment. Women must be between the ages of 20 and 50; they must be in good health; they must have had at least two years of high school education; and a satisfactory aptitude rating must be established at the time of enlistment. Enlistees for any of the medical and surgical technicians assignments must undertake six weeks of basic WAC training before they are assigned to hospital duties or to advanced schools.

Advanced training, naturally, varies with the character of assignments. It is certain, in the opinion of Army personnel, that the training obtained in these schools can be carried over by any woman as a valuable asset in the post war world.

The jobs that will be performed by WACs in the medical and surgical installations will not only afford women opportunities to perform worthwhile work in helping soldiers to fight their way back to health, but they will be intensely interesting and stimulating.

During the months immediately ahead, thousands of WACs will be serving at Army hospitals in varied technical assignments. They will be working as Xray technicians, thereby assisting the doctors in the diagnosis and treatment of diseases and injuries; they will be working as laboratory technicians, making serological and other chemical analyses. WACs will be working as occupational thereapists, teaching men that physical handicaps need not render them useless, and instructing them in techniques and trades which they may use when they return to civilian life.

WACs also will be working as pharmacists, and pharmacist's aides, compounding drugs and dispensing medicines at the direction of medical officers. Others will be employed as optometrists, prescribing corrective lenses for defective eyes, and supervising courses of optic exercise to strengthen injured or otherwise impaired muscles and structures.

Still other members of the Women's army corps will work as psychiatric social workers and psychiatric assistants, doing case work to facilitate the treatment of soldiers who need guidance in their return to home life.

WACs who are medical technicians will work under the direction of doctors and nurses, recording temperature and pulse, and performing other duties in the care of the sick. WAC surgical technicians will have duties that include the preparation of operating rooms and surgical equipment, and other non-professional preoperative and postoperative duties.

The general medical and surgical technicians plans for the WACs also include the training of women to serve as dental technicians, dental hygienists, and dental laboratory technicians. The duties of these women, depending upon specific assignment, will include keeping the dentist's equipment and instruments in working order, the preparation of filling materials, the utilization of Xray, scaling and polishing teeth, and the actual making of inlays and dentures.

Major General Norman T. Kirk, surgeon general of the Army, has said, "As the campaign for the liberation of nations under the Axis yoke intensifies, the need for more army hospital personnel grows by leaps and bounds. The Army medical department urgently requires the services of patriotic young women, for direct assignment or professional training as hospital technicians."

New pencils

More than 1,000,000 businesses were discontinued in 1942 and 1943, and 500,000 new businesses were started. . . At one time the Army was using 549 of the nation's hotels, of which 348 were in Miami Beach and 47 in Atlantic City. The Army still has almost 150. . . Note on why railroads are busy: Transfer of a 75-ton transformer recently from Grand Coulee Dam in Washington state to Shasta Dam in California, a distance of 700 miles, involved an actual railroad haul of 3,500 miles. The shipment had to be handled by way of Denver because tunnels and underpasses on the direct route were too low to accommodate the 18-foot height of the transformer.

Social Security benefits increase in this area

Social security benefits awarded in the Evanston field office area for the quarter ended September 30 showed a sharp increase, Miss Ellen McGuire, manager, announced. Lump sum payments totalling $8,230.74 were made to 57 persons, a 61% advance over last quarter.

A net increase of 58 persons receiving monthly benefits resulted from 77 new awards. Nearly half of the 25 persons moving out of the area were retired wage earners; the remainder were wives, widows, widows with children, and children of wage earners insured under the old-age and survivors insurance program.

The 58 new beneficiaries who will receive $1,214.54 monthly, bring the total in this area to 877, Miss McGuire stated. Since January 1, 1944, $16,654.84 has been paid out in lump sums which are awarded only when no one eligible for monthly benefits survives the insured wage earner in the month of his death.

Gems of thought

INDEPENDENCE

The word independence is united to the ideas of dignity and virtue; the word independence, to the ideas of inferiority and corruption.

—J. Bentham.

Let all your views in life be directed to a solid, however moderate, independence; without it no man can be happy, nor even honest.

—Junius.

Right motives give pinions to thought, and strength and freedom to speech and action.

—Mary Baker Eddy.

Independent thought is the only true preparation for a proper study of the thought of others.

—Calderwood.

It is easy in the world to live after the world's opinion; it is easy in solitude to live after our own; but the great man is he who in the midst of the crowd keeps with perfect sweetness the independence of solitude.

—Emerson.

There is often as much independence in not being led, as in not being driven.

—Tryon Edwards.

'Ice Follies of 1945' opens at Arena Nov. 5

More lavish and entertaining than ever, "Ice Follies of 1945," ninth edition of the Shipstads and Johnson ice revue, comes to Chicago Arena, 333 E. Erie St., for a 17-day engagement, starting November 3 and concluding November 19. The opening night again has been taken over as a benefit by the Service club of Chicago.

Five matinees are scheduled, Nov. 5, 11, 12, 18 and 19, starting at 2:30. Evening performances will begin at 8:30. The Arena box office is now open and mail orders also are being accepted. Ticket prices, including tax, for all performances are $3.60, $3, $2.40, $1.80 and $1.20. Mail orders are to be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Eddie and Roy Shipstad and Oscar Johnson, producers and stars of the brilliant extravaganza on blades, have gone on record proclaiming this their finest edition, an assertion backed up by the critics of the Hollywood area where "Ice Follies" is now having its world premiere. The roster of top-notch figure skaters has been increased to 150, including 80 lovely "Ice Folliettes." Returning favorites, in addition to the Shipstads and Johnson, include Frick and Frack, Norah McCarthy, Heinie Brock, Bobby Blake, Ruby Maxson, Mae Ross, Hazel Franklin, Papez and Zwack, The Miltons, Phyllis Legg, Thomas Twins and Vanity Fair trio. There are a number of sensational newcomers.

Production numbers are again breathtaking, accentuated by gorgeous costuming and lighting effects. Several old favorites of "Ice Follies fans, including the "Swing Waltz," have been retained.

HOW'S YOUR WIFE...

Not so good at it—or very happy about it, I'll wager! So why not let State Farm pay 80% of the cost of getting the nearest garage to help her? We'll pay 80% of the cost of a tow in case of mechanical breakdown, too . . . or for a replacement battery delivered to your car!

Yes, and State Farm Emergency Road Service and Bail Bond Expense also pays 80% if an unfriendly justice of the peace demands bail, too!

District Women's club fall meeting next week

The club women of the Seventh Congressional district of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs will hold their fall meeting on Thursday, October 12, at 10:00 a. m. at the First Congregational church on Graceland avenue in Des Plaines. Mrs. Milton H. G. Meyer the district president, will open the meeting and the Rev. Earl Brehm, pastor of the church will give the invocation.

"Federation trends" being the theme of the day, two prominent state chairmen will be the morning speakers. First, Mrs. Chas. W. Stigman, war service chairman, will speak on "Women's work in wartime" while Mrs. Harry W. Raymond, state legislative chairman will discuss legislation. Other features of the morning session will include announcements by district chairmen of projects to be sponsored by their departments.

A splendid program of music has been arranged by Flora Wager, cellist; Dana Jones, pianist, and Frances Beherns Fish, contralto, accompanied by Irma Johnson, to open the afternoon session.

Mrs. Geo. A. Harriman, district program chairman, will present the speaker of the day, Capt. Arthur K. Flanigan of Vaughan General hospital at Hines who has chosen as his subject, "Reconditioning of the sick and wounded." The district has listed as one of its major projects of the year, cooperation in helping to raise the $5,000 pledged by the state federation toward the building of a greenhouse at the hospital.

The Des Plaines and Park Ridge Women's clubs will be hostesses to the district at this meeting and will welcome presidents, delegates and members of the 41 clubs who are members. Mrs. W. C. Howard is president of the Des Plaines club and Mrs. G. L. Hackett is president of Park Ridge Women's club. They will be assisted by Mrs. Ole N. Jensen, district hostess.

It Happened Here

Today Ed started his autumn ritual of leaf raking; this ceremony has a movable date, depending more or less on the phases of the moon or the quality of deep blue weather that the stripped trees enhance or a bit of leisure tucked into a full week; to be sure, a few leaves, the advance guard, too tired to stay in the ranks, were haked in August, but this is the first bonfire raking, with children attending as acolytes—or some unclassified pest. Ed keeps right on raking in his high-priestly blue overalls, and how he avoids Shirley's head or Bobby's heels is a mystery· there certainly seem to be more arms, legs and pigtails than two children could account for. Aha! there goes Bobby's foot! No, that was Shirley's chocolate candy bar, right into the heap of raked up leaves; then followed wild scrimmaging and scattering of the heap, but to no purpose; the elusive candy bar, disguised as a crumpled brown leaf, evaded discovery, and the pile had to be raked together again and a match set to the pyre. Billows of acrid smoke slanted off among the trees, an aroma the old sachems must have loved, and if there were no redskins to dance with feathered headdress and tomahawk, there was always Shirley plus Bobby. Ed says the candy bar was later retrieved, gooey and drippy, thoroughly disguised as ash trouble but still recognizable—trust a child to know its own.

Seek more women to join WACs

As more and more wounded men are being returned from the world's fighting fronts to the Army general hospitals in this country, there is a rapidly growing need for American women to enlist in the Women's army coprs for assignment to duty as medical and surgical technicians, as announced by Lt. Betty Jane Echols of the Evanston recruiting office.

Some of the vacancies currently existing in the hospitals call for women with previous technical experience. However, there have been established training schools at which women with special aptitudes are given short, intensive training courses thus fitting them for the important work to be done.

General admission qualifications do not differ materially from those imposed for regular WAC enlistment. Women must be between the ages of 20 and 50; they must be in good health; they must have had at least two years of high school education; and a satisfactory aptitude rating must be established at the time of enlistment. Enlistees for any of the medical and surgical technicians assignments must undertake six weeks of basic WAC training before they are assigned to hospital duties or to advanced schools.

Advanced training, naturally, varies with the character of assignments. It is certain, in the opinion of Army personnel, that the training obtained in these schools can be carried over by any woman as a valuable asset in the post war world.

The jobs that will be performed by WACs in the medical and surgical installations will not only afford women opportunities to perform worthwhile work in helping soldiers to fight their way back to health, but they will be intensely interesting and stimulating.

During the months immediately ahead, thousands of WACs will be serving at Army hospitals in varied technical assignments. They will be working as Xray technicians, thereby assisting the doctors in the diagnosis and treatment of diseases and injuries; they will be working as laboratory technicians, making serological and other chemical analyses. WACs will be working as occupational thereapists, teaching men that physical handicaps need not render them useless, and instructing them in techniques and trades which they may use when they return to civilian life.

WACs also will be working as pharmacists, and pharmacist's aides, compounding drugs and dispensing medicines at the direction of medical officers. Others will be employed as optometrists, prescribing corrective lenses for defective eyes, and supervising courses of optic exercise to strengthen injured or otherwise impaired muscles and structures.

Still other members of the Women's army corps will work as psychiatric social workers and psychiatric assistants, doing case work to facilitate the treatment of soldiers who need guidance in their return to home life.

WACs who are medical technicians will work under the direction of doctors and nurses, recording temperature and pulse, and performing other duties in the care of the sick. WAC surgical technicians will have duties that include the preparation of operating rooms and surgical equipment, and other non-professional preoperative and postoperative duties.

The general medical and surgical technicians plans for the WACs also include the training of women to serve as dental technicians, dental hygienists, and dental laboratory technicians. The duties of these women, depending upon specific assignment, will include keeping the dentist's equipment and instruments in working order, the preparation of filling materials, the utilization of Xray, scaling and polishing teeth, and the actual making of inlays and dentures.

Major General Norman T. Kirk, surgeon general of the Army, has said, "As the campaign for the liberation of nations under the Axis yoke intensifies, the need for more army hospital personnel grows by leaps and bounds. The Army medical department urgently requires the services of patriotic young women, for direct assignment or professional training as hospital technicians."

New pencils

More than 1,000,000 businesses were discontinued in 1942 and 1943, and 500,000 new businesses were started. . . At one time the Army was using 549 of the nation's hotels, of which 348 were in Miami Beach and 47 in Atlantic City. The Army still has almost 150. . . Note on why railroads are busy: Transfer of a 75-ton transformer recently from Grand Coulee Dam in Washington state to Shasta Dam in California, a distance of 700 miles, involved an actual railroad haul of 3,500 miles. The shipment had to be handled by way of Denver because tunnels and underpasses on the direct route were too low to accommodate the 18-foot height of the transformer.

Social Security benefits increase in this area

Social security benefits awarded in the Evanston field office area for the quarter ended September 30 showed a sharp increase, Miss Ellen McGuire, manager, announced. Lump sum payments totalling $8,230.74 were made to 57 persons, a 61% advance over last quarter.

A net increase of 58 persons receiving monthly benefits resulted from 77 new awards. Nearly half of the 25 persons moving out of the area were retired wage earners; the remainder were wives, widows, widows with children, and children of wage earners insured under the old-age and survivors insurance program.

The 58 new beneficiaries who will receive $1,214.54 monthly, bring the total in this area to 877, Miss McGuire stated. Since January 1, 1944, $16,654.84 has been paid out in lump sums which are awarded only when no one eligible for monthly benefits survives the insured wage earner in the month of his death.

Gems of thought

INDEPENDENCE

The word independence is united to the ideas of dignity and virtue; the word independence, to the ideas of inferiority and corruption.

—J. Bentham.

Let all your views in life be directed to a solid, however moderate, independence; without it no man can be happy, nor even honest.

—Junius.

Right motives give pinions to thought, and strength and freedom to speech and action.

—Mary Baker Eddy.

Independent thought is the only true preparation for a proper study of the thought of others.

—Calderwood.

It is easy in the world to live after the world's opinion; it is easy in solitude to live after our own; but the great man is he who in the midst of the crowd keeps with perfect sweetness the independence of solitude.

—Emerson.

There is often as much independence in not being led, as in not being driven.

—Tryon Edwards.

PALATINE

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wessel entertained for Sunday dinner Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bliece, Mrs. Richter, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Wessel.

'Ice Follies of 1945' opens at Arena Nov. 5

More lavish and entertaining than ever, "Ice Follies of 1945," ninth edition of the Shipstads and Johnson ice revue, comes to Chicago Arena, 333 E. Erie St., for a 17-day engagement, starting November 3 and concluding November 19. The opening night again has been taken over as a benefit by the Service club of Chicago.

Five matinees are scheduled, Nov. 5, 11, 12, 18 and 19, starting at 2:30. Evening performances will begin at 8:30. The Arena box office is now open and mail orders also are being accepted. Ticket prices, including tax, for all performances are $3.60, $3, $2.40, $1.80 and $1.20. Mail orders are to be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Eddie and Roy Shipstad and Oscar Johnson, producers and stars of the brilliant extravaganza on blades, have gone on record proclaiming this their finest edition, an assertion backed up by the critics of the Hollywood area where "Ice Follies" is now having its world premiere. The roster of top-notch figure skaters has been increased to 150, including 80 lovely "Ice Folliettes." Returning favorites, in addition to the Shipstads and Johnson, include Frick and Frack, Norah McCarthy, Heinie Brock, Bobby Blake, Ruby Maxson, Mae Ross, Hazel Franklin, Papez and Zwack, The Miltons, Phyllis Legg, Thomas Twins and Vanity Fair trio. There are a number of sensational newcomers.

Production numbers are again breathtaking, accentuated by gorgeous costuming and lighting effects. Several old favorites of "Ice Follies fans, including the "Swing Waltz," have been retained.

England

From England comes word of Bob Duenn of Arlington Heights.

"Here it is, 8 p. m., and we're getting ready for another blackout. It gets dark now at 7:30, but it will soon be dark when we go to chow. They have a few lights on in a few towns, but they're nothing like home. Some of these kids haven't seen any lights in 7 years.

"Now have three ribbons to wear. Good Conduct, European Theatre of Operations, and Presidential Citation. Am really proud of that last one. Also have four gold bars on my left sleeve, each representing 6 months overseas. Wouldn't be surprised if I sewed on another one before this is over. I'd give anything to see that Statue of Liberty again. You know, when I left I bought a round trip ticket.

"The papers are coming along swell. I often wonder if I'll even be able to recognize the old town when I get back. I always give my paper to Augie Mayerck when I get through. Haven't seen Dooley (George Winkelman) yet but am going to try the base hospital tomorrow. He may be there.

"Not a thing I need for Christmas except some canned shrimp and sardines with oil. Haven't tasted any in 2 years and really yearn for them. Got hold of 8 eggs the other day and took them to the Red Cross club to eat. The lady was going to fall over when I told her I was going to eat them all. That's about a month's ration for an English family."

His address is Sgt. R. H. Duenn, 36317583, APO 557, % PM, New York, N. Y.

Deadline

Deadline for news for With Uncle Sam is Tuesday at 5 of each week. Pictures, letters or news of servicemen should be mailed or called direct to the publication office. Cooperation of the folks at home is sought to make a bigger and better With Uncle Sam.

France

Now in France is Willis Wille of Mt. Prospect. Willis has been overseas since March of '44, going to England. He landed in France the second week in June.

"Am spending plenty of time in my foxhole up at the front. Am operating a machine gun, which keeps me warm after a fashion. It gets pretty chilly here at night, but the days aren't so bad."

Willis entered service October 30 of last year, taking 17 weeks training at Camp Blanding, Fla. After a week's furlough at home he was sent to Ft. Meade for another month's training, and then to England.

His wife is the former Dolores Stanke, who is living with her mother in Des Plaines.

Germany

Our first letter from Germany arrived Thursday morning, coming from Merton Taylor of Arlington Heights.

"Have been waiting for some time for this and now we're here. I was in Belgium but due to security reasons couldn't give any exact dates.

"Instead of French, Belgian and flags of Allied nations on homes, buildings, vehicles, etc., like we've been accustomed to, we see the white flag of surrender all along the road.

"I was getting to know French pretty well but will not be able to use it. It's a quick change for us to pass from countries where they welcomed us as liberators to one where they fear our entrance. Let's hope it ends soon."

His address is: Pfc Merton J. Taylor, 16146111, APO 9, c-o PM, New York, N. Y.

LOK

LOK is all we can say about Howard Helgeson of Palatine. He is serving Uncle Sam aboard ship.

"Just a few lines to let you know I am receiving the paper all right. Thank you very much for it. I can say I am sure glad to get it. It's swell to hear how all my friends are making out.

"I am now serving overseas but so far I don't know how long I will be here. I like the Navy very much. At first I used to get a little seasick, but now it doesn't seem to bother me at all.

"I am looking forward to the time when I will get back to the States, and get a leave for a few days. I could then visit my friends back in good old Palatine."

His address is: Howard Brian Helgesen, S2c, c-o FPO, San Francisco, Calif.

LOK is all we can say about Leo Specht of Arlington Heights. He is now overseas, but has not revealed, as yet, just where. His address is: Pvt. Leo Edward Specht, 36738133, APO 44, c-o PM, New York, N. Y.

Bosco, Palatine war dog, back from front

"Yes, sir, it was a tough fight, but I made it," might well be the words of Bosco, returned war dog belonging to the Anton Hajek family of Palatine. "I was in 10 months, received a lot of training, and did sentry duty with a medical battalion in the Southwest Pacific."

Bosco, pictured here, is part St. Bernard and part Collie. He enlisted in the K-9 section of the quartermaster corps November 8, 1943, and was given an honorable discharge from the army September 8, 1944.

Bosco trained at Camp Robinson, Neb. He is believed to have gone overseas to serve sentry for a medical detachment in the Southwest Pacific. Exact details are not known.

Along with Bosco, returned to Palatine, came a letter from the war department telling of the dog's condition. It warned that the dog had been trained as a war dog, and should not be told to "sic 'em." The dog did not bark the first 10 days, but has since started. Influence of surrounding dogs was the determining factor. Bosco's honorable discharge certificate was also sent to the Hajek home.

Many people have wondered just what the proper food for a "fighting dog" is and the army obliges with the following menu.

Ration for sixty pound dog

¾ lb. raw horse meat (chopped with bone), ½ lb. cooked horse meat, ½lb. corn meal, ¼ lb. rolled oatmeal. Corn and oatmeal cooked in horse meat broth to make a real thick mush (cooked for three hours). ¼ lb. commercial dog meal. Seasoned with salt as for human consumption approximately one per cent. Mix and feed at one feeding at the end of the working period. We feed our dogs at 4 p. m. daily. Beef, mutton, or veal can be used in place of horse meat. Commercial dog meat may be used in equal amounts to replace the corn and oatmeal.

Also included are suggestions for the handling of the returned war dog.

Handling of returned war dog

1 Use good common sense in the handling of your returned war dog.

2 Avoid unnecessary confusion upon the arrival of your dog. Get him home as quickly as possible. Do not subject him to the attention of well meaning friends, who wish to see the returned war dog. If nothing more, he has earned a rest after the trip. The best dog can become excited after a long journey.

3 Do not force your attentions upon him. Let him seek attention from the family.

4 He should be kept on leash or in an inclosed area until he has become completely re-adjusted to his former life.

5 Never tease a war dog. Never make or allow anyone else to make, threatening gestures toward him.

6 It must be remembered that the dog has seen active service with the armed forces and has undoubtedly formed a very close friendship with his handler. Therefore, he must be given time to transfer this new affection to you, his former owner. Time is all that is needed for this transfer.

7 Never take the dog by surprise.

8 Owners should not lose sight of the fact that a returned war dog has been subjected to serious training for months and even years. During this training, it is probable that he was encouraged to attack. Therefore, it is the obligation of every owner of a returned war dog to maintain complete control over the dog at all times for the protection of well-meaning friends, neighbors, or family, who may, in ignorance, unduly excite the animal.

Last, the army sent a list of obedience commands taught the war dogs.

Heel—Sit (on leash)

Heeling: At the command "Heel," the dog must of his own volition walk at the student trainer's left side with his right shoulder even with the man's left knee. The leash must hang loose. The dog must heel correctly whenever the student trainer changes his direction or gait, or when he walks through a group of people.

Sit: At the command "Sit," which is given when the dog is either standing or lying down, the dog must promptly assume a sitting position. The command may also be given when the dog is heeling, but the dog must learn to sit as soon as the student trainer stops, without a command.

These are the two basic commands, and are the first that you will learn. It is important that you fully understand the commands and movements before you attempt to give them to the dog. This will require training in voice and coordination. The dog must have full confidence in his trainer, for they are quick to notice your indecision or inefficiency. Some dogs will take advantage of this and thus delay their training.

Practice coordinating your voice commands and body movements whenever you have the time. Have your buddy correct you. When you have these two commands down letter perfect, you will go on to the next:

Sit-Stay: This is merely a control exercise in which the dog is taught to remain in a sitting position until instructed to move.

Down (from heel): At the command "Down," which is accompanied by a down motion of the arm, the dog must lie down promptly. The dog is expected to make this movement quickly. The dog must realize that he obeys on the first command. Do not repeat the command.

Sit (from down at heel): At the command "Sit," the instructor will bring his dog to a sitting position. The command is accompanied by slapping the left hand smartly against the left leg.

Down-Stay: After the command "Down," the "Stay" command is given; and the dog remains at the Down position. This is a control exercise.

Recall: At the command "Come accompanied by the dog's name and a motion of the right arm, the dog is taught to come to the front of the trainer and assume a Sit position.

Washington D. C.

From Washington, D. C., comes Stan Wilkins' news letter number 10. Stan hails from Arlington Heights.

WILKINS NEWS LETTER NO. 10

Published occasionally and reporting in great detail just how one S. J. Wilkins is winning the war.

Ho hum. This battle of Washington is rapidly deteriorating into a Sunday school picnic. After two or more years it seems all the war agencies have built up pretty good staffs and have settled into that old business as usual routine. Even the busses no longer get lost trying to find their way around. Even the summer wasn't as hot as usual. Of course there have been some skirmishes along Pennsylvania avenue and these are expected to increase as November 7th rolls around. The only casualties so far seem to be two heavy tanks—the Donald Nelson and the Charles Wilson. They met in a sharp engagement, firing broadsides at will, with the result both were damaged and left the scene of action in confusion. When last heard from the Nelson had landed in China and the Wilson in New York state. A light tank destroyer, the J. A. Krug, was in the thick of the action but apparently suffered no direct hits as this equipment is still on the field and in action every day.

Went fishing one Sunday. Previous arrangements had been made for the hire of a boat, guide and tackle, at a place on the Patuxent river, about 40 miles out in Maryland. This river is really an arm of Chesapeake bay and is about one mile wide at the place where we embarked. The boat was a regular seagoing looking one and our guide a typical "river rat." I had high hopes, although I hadn't noticed any rods. We started out and had gone no farther than to midstream when the engine was shut off and an enormous anchor dropped. Then came the "tackle"—a hunk of chalk line with two huge hooks (which were baited with whole shrimp) and a miniature sashweight for a sinker. I regretted not having gloves, for surely this 80 pound test line and the large baits could signify nothing except that the catch would be big—very big. In fact, I made sure to make my stand near an upright, convenient to grab just before being pulled overboard. Well, you guessed it. The biggest things we caught were a few fish about two pounds in weight called "croakers." They looked as unspectacular as their names. We also caught a basketful of eels, a beautiful case of sunburn, and a distinct aversion to fishing in this part of the world.

Incidental Intelligence

Had a birthday last week and received a gift from, of all people, the war department. This was in the form of a little slip which stated that henceforth I could sign "Major" after my name. Of course that made me feel pretty good. That is, until yesterday, when I read in the paper that there are now 1300 generals in the Army. I also received a set of four books—R. E. Lee by Freeman. This is a biography of General Lee and supposedly a very fine history of the "War between the states" (that's what we Virginians call it). It may interest you to know that Lee had been in the Army 22 years before he heard a shot fired by a foe. This Armchair commando doesn't feel so bad with only 22 months in the service. Just think, almost two years and I haven't got it (the war) more than half over. However, I intend to really buckle down from now on because my motto is "Home by the next lilac season."

The Pentagon chowder and marching club has a new attraction. Every other week there is a concert and community sing for the benefit of those who have their lunch in the center courtyard. The music is by military outfits and is very good. The singing by all and sundry is also good—and loud. Everyone enjoys it, especially Florence.

Don't miss the movie "Arsenic and old Lace."

Vital Statistics

The Wilkins—Florence, Stan and Pupchen—are all well, having survived the hot weather, and are now anticipating with no particular pleasure the damp, sleety winter. To steel ourselves for this, we shall endeavor to secure a leave sometime in November and hope to see you all at that time.

OUR FAMOUS HAMBURGERS

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"It sounds almost like a miracle, Judge... how did we ever do it?"

"American industry did it, Sally. When the Japs conquered the chief natural rubber producing centers of the world they thought they had dealt a death blow to our war effort. But, in less than two years, we are producing enough synthetic rubber in this country to supply all our military and essential civilian requirements.

"Our rubber experts knew how to make it but the most practical process at the time required huge amounts of industrial alcohol... far beyond the already overtaxed capacity of our industrial alcohol plants. So, overnight, our country's beverage distillers stopped making whiskey and produced hundreds of millions of gallons of the vitally needed alcohol.

"As a matter of fact, Sally, a high government official said recently '... synthetic rubber is from 6 to 9 months ahead of where it could have been if alcohol had not been available for butadiene production.'"

"We were really fortunate, weren't we Judge, to have a beverage distilling industry in existence... able to help perform this great wartime miracle!"

England

From England comes word of Bob Duenn of Arlington Heights.

"Here it is, 8 p. m., and we're getting ready for another blackout. It gets dark now at 7:30, but it will soon be dark when we go to chow. They have a few lights on in a few towns, but they're nothing like home. Some of these kids haven't seen any lights in 7 years.

"Now have three ribbons to wear. Good Conduct, European Theatre of Operations, and Presidential Citation. Am really proud of that last one. Also have four gold bars on my left sleeve, each representing 6 months overseas. Wouldn't be surprised if I sewed on another one before this is over. I'd give anything to see that Statue of Liberty again. You know, when I left I bought a round trip ticket.

"The papers are coming along swell. I often wonder if I'll even be able to recognize the old town when I get back. I always give my paper to Augie Mayerck when I get through. Haven't seen Dooley (George Winkelman) yet but am going to try the base hospital tomorrow. He may be there.

"Not a thing I need for Christmas except some canned shrimp and sardines with oil. Haven't tasted any in 2 years and really yearn for them. Got hold of 8 eggs the other day and took them to the Red Cross club to eat. The lady was going to fall over when I told her I was going to eat them all. That's about a month's ration for an English family."

France

Now in France is Willis Wille of Mt. Prospect. Willis has been overseas since March of '44, going to England. He landed in France the second week in June.

"Am spending plenty of time in my foxhole up at the front. Am operating a machine gun, which keeps me warm after a fashion. It gets pretty chilly here at night, but the days aren't so bad."

Willis entered service October 30 of last year, taking 17 weeks training at Camp Blanding, Fla. After a week's furlough at home he was sent to Ft. Meade for another month's training, and then to England.

His wife is the former Dolores Stanke, who is living with her mother in Des Plaines.

Germany

Our first letter from Germany arrived Thursday morning, coming from Merton Taylor of Arlington Heights.

"Have been waiting for some time for this and now we're here. I was in Belgium but due to security reasons couldn't give any exact dates.

"Instead of French, Belgian and flags of Allied nations on homes, buildings, vehicles, etc., like we've been accustomed to, we see the white flag of surrender all along the road.

"I was getting to know French pretty well but will not be able to use it. It's a quick change for us to pass from countries where they welcomed us as liberators to one where they fear our entrance. Let's hope it ends soon."

OUR FAMOUS HAMBURGERS

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"It sounds almost like a miracle, Judge... how did we ever do it?"

"American industry did it, Sally. When the Japs conquered the chief natural rubber producing centers of the world they thought they had dealt a death blow to our war effort. But, in less than two years, we are producing enough synthetic rubber in this country to supply all our military and essential civilian requirements.

"Our rubber experts knew how to make it but the most practical process at the time required huge amounts of industrial alcohol... far beyond the already overtaxed capacity of our industrial alcohol plants. So, overnight, our country's beverage distillers stopped making whiskey and produced hundreds of millions of gallons of the vitally needed alcohol.

"As a matter of fact, Sally, a high government official said recently '... synthetic rubber is from 6 to 9 months ahead of where it could have been if alcohol had not been available for butadiene production.'"

"We were really fortunate, weren't we Judge, to have a beverage distilling industry in existence... able to help perform this great wartime miracle!"

Why not dry some apples?

Families who raise apples or who can purchase them from nearby farms will do well to lay in a supply for next winter, when a shortage of fresh and canned fruit is predicted. Plan to dry some of the apples because dried apples keep well and take up little space.

Apples may be dried in the oven. A wooden frame or oven racks should be covered with cheesecloth to hold the apples. An uncovered space should be left at the back of the oven to permit circulation of air, the temperature kept low, and the oven door propped open four to eight inches.

Directions for building a drier with several shelves to hold a large quantity of food, suitable for several families to share, are given in Bulletin 1918, "Drying foods for victory meals," U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, 25, D. C.

Steps in Drying Apples:

1 Only fall types of tart cooking apples, such as Jonathans, Rhode Island Greenings, Northern Spies, and Baldwins should be dried. They should be handled when just ripe, crisp and juicy. Never dry stored apples that have grown mellow.

2 Wash apples, pare, core, and cut into ¼ inch slices or rings. If cut thinner an unnecessary amount of food value will be lost. Prepare in small amounts only.

3 Place sliced apples in a salt solution (4 teaspoons salt to 1 gallon water) for 10 minutes. This step is important to hold their color, flavor and vitamins.

4 Spread on clean cloth to remove excess moisture.

5 Spread on trays two layers thick for rapid drying. Place in oven. Keep temperature low, about 150° F., especially near the end of the period, when apples scorch easily. An electric fan, set to increase flow of air over the apples, hastens drying.

6 Turn slices occasionally to dry both sides evenly. When dried, slices will be tough and leathern, will spring back into shape when squeezed and released. Six to 12 hours will be needed, depending upon drier, weather, and speed of air circulation.

7 Tie dried apples loosely in cheesecloth, put in a dry place, and shift apples each day or two for a week. Put into a low oven with the door ajar for a half-hour and store immediately in an airtight container which will just hold the bag or bags of apples. Keep in a dark, dry place. Ten to 11 pounds of fresh apples make about one pound of dried apples.

KID VICTORY

Sign for more Douglas planes

Pennsylvania-Central airlines today signed contracts with the Douglas Aircraft company for nearly $10,000,000 worth of four-engined super transport planes which will materially shrink distances between many industrially important cities served by this pioneer airline.

Calling for delivery of 15 high-speed DC-4s within several months after peace, this was one of the largest single orders yet placed for these luxurious sky giants, Donald Douglas reported, and will provide hundreds of additional post-war jobs.

In that connection he added that the new order brought to more than $60,000,000 the total of contracts for this type transport signed within the past fortnight and to more than $100,000,000 the company's total post war commercial backlog.

Experts declare that the DC-4 unquestionably is one of the finest transport planes to be engineered for commercial purposes and should make a "trolley run" out of flights between cities 200 miles apart. This post war transport's speed of 300 miles an hour would bring such cities as Washington and Pittsburgh, Detroit and Chicago, New York and Washington within an hour or less of each other.

"Actually, travel between such cities will consume no more time in transit than ordinarily is required by persons traveling street cars and busses between their downtown offices and suburban homes."

SKOKIE

In Probate court it was reported that Marie Rixmann died in Chicago September 23 intestate, leaving an estimated $35,000 estate. Seventeen heirs are listed, one being a sister, the others all nephews or nieces. They include Ferdinand F. Hartman, nephew, of Skokie.

Machine rationing stopped on all corn pickers

War Food Administrator Jones has ended all WFA Rationing and distribution control of farm machinery and equipment except corn pickers. This action, Jones states, is in line with WFA policy of examining wartime regulations and removing them as soon as no longer essential.

Farm items released from rationing and distribution controls are tractors, pickup balers, side delivery rakes, hay loaders, combines, manure spreaders, corn binders, mowers, grain drills, potato planters, potato diggers, ensilage cutters, garden tractors, power sprayers, water well systems, power pumps, irrigation pumps, milk coolers, farm scales, sheet metal well casting.

Why not dry some apples?

Families who raise apples or who can purchase them from nearby farms will do well to lay in a supply for next winter, when a shortage of fresh and canned fruit is predicted. Plan to dry some of the apples because dried apples keep well and take up little space.

Apples may be dried in the oven. A wooden frame or oven racks should be covered with cheesecloth to hold the apples. An uncovered space should be left at the back of the oven to permit circulation of air, the temperature kept low, and the oven door propped open four to eight inches.

Directions for building a drier with several shelves to hold a large quantity of food, suitable for several families to share, are given in Bulletin 1918, "Drying foods for victory meals," U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, 25, D. C.

Steps in Drying Apples:

1 Only fall types of tart cooking apples, such as Jonathans, Rhode Island Greenings, Northern Spies, and Baldwins should be dried. They should be handled when just ripe, crisp and juicy. Never dry stored apples that have grown mellow.

2 Wash apples, pare, core, and cut into ¼ inch slices or rings. If cut thinner an unnecessary amount of food value will be lost. Prepare in small amounts only.

3 Place sliced apples in a salt solution (4 teaspoons salt to 1 gallon water) for 10 minutes. This step is important to hold their color, flavor and vitamins.

4 Spread on clean cloth to remove excess moisture.

5 Spread on trays two layers thick for rapid drying. Place in oven. Keep temperature low, about 150° F., especially near the end of the period, when apples scorch easily. An electric fan, set to increase flow of air over the apples, hastens drying.

6 Turn slices occasionally to dry both sides evenly. When dried, slices will be tough and leathern, will spring back into shape when squeezed and released. Six to 12 hours will be needed, depending upon drier, weather, and speed of air circulation.

7 Tie dried apples loosely in cheesecloth, put in a dry place, and shift apples each day or two for a week. Put into a low oven with the door ajar for a half-hour and store immediately in an airtight container which will just hold the bag or bags of apples. Keep in a dark, dry place. Ten to 11 pounds of fresh apples make about one pound of dried apples.

Teach Agriculture

China now has 27 agricultural colleges, 5 agricultural research institutes, and 130 secondary agricultural schools, with a total enrollment of over 20,000 students.

Sign for more Douglas planes

Pennsylvania-Central airlines today signed contracts with the Douglas Aircraft company for nearly $10,000,000 worth of four-engined super transport planes which will materially shrink distances between many industrially important cities served by this pioneer airline.

Calling for delivery of 15 high-speed DC-4s within several months after peace, this was one of the largest single orders yet placed for these luxurious sky giants, Donald Douglas reported, and will provide hundreds of additional post-war jobs.

In that connection he added that the new order brought to more than $60,000,000 the total of contracts for this type transport signed within the past fortnight and to more than $100,000,000 the company's total post war commercial backlog.

Experts declare that the DC-4 unquestionably is one of the finest transport planes to be engineered for commercial purposes and should make a "trolley run" out of flights between cities 200 miles apart. This post war transport's speed of 300 miles an hour would bring such cities as Washington and Pittsburgh, Detroit and Chicago, New York and Washington within an hour or less of each other.

"Actually, travel between such cities will consume no more time in transit than ordinarily is required by persons traveling street cars and busses between their downtown offices and suburban homes."

SKOKIE

In Probate court it was reported that Marie Rixmann died in Chicago September 23 intestate, leaving an estimated $35,000 estate. Seventeen heirs are listed, one being a sister, the others all nephews or nieces. They include Ferdinand F. Hartman, nephew, of Skokie.

Machine rationing stopped on all corn pickers

War Food Administrator Jones has ended all WFA Rationing and distribution control of farm machinery and equipment except corn pickers. This action, Jones states, is in line with WFA policy of examining wartime regulations and removing them as soon as no longer essential.

Farm items released from rationing and distribution controls are tractors, pickup balers, side delivery rakes, hay loaders, combines, manure spreaders, corn binders, mowers, grain drills, potato planters, potato diggers, ensilage cutters, garden tractors, power sprayers, water well systems, power pumps, irrigation pumps, milk coolers, farm scales, sheet metal well casting.

Norton tells vegetable industry future here

At the regular meeting of the North Central vegetable and potato council, held at the Hotel Sherman, Chicago, Ill., September 23, 1944, vegetable growers from Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Missouri heard Dr. L. J. Norton of the department of agricultural economics of the University of Illinois, outline the future prospects for the vegetable growers of this area.

Dr. Norton compared the vegetable growers income with a piece of pie, the whole pie representing the national income. The larger the nation income the larger the piece of pie there is available for the vegetable grower. Dr. Norton's opinion is that the national income for 1945 may be 135 billion dollars and possibly 120 billion dollars which means a possible reduction of 15 to 25% below the 1944 estimated national income.

During the past 16 years production of truck crops has increased an average of 4% per year as compared with a yearly increase of population of less than 1.5% in the United States. In 1938 the value of truck crops was 4.3 million dollars per billion dollars of national income and in 1944 the value of such crops had increased to 5.3 million dollars per billion dollars of national income.

"The vegetable industry should not be too much afraid of production," stated Dr. Norton. "If abundant supplies of high quality vegetables are made available to consumers, growth of the industry should continue. Attractive appearance of vegetables is important and much improvement needs to be done in this respect."

Dr. H. D. Brown, secretary of the vegetable growers association of America, stated that except for some outlet for dehydrated vegetables there is not much promise of using any appreciable quantity of American vegetable crops in feeding liberated Europe.

Vegetable ceiling prices and their effect on markets were discussed. A resolution was unanimously passed recommending the removal of ceiling prices on all perishable vegetable crops.

It appears that the September crop estimates show an increase of 18% over 1943 in the total tonnage of fresh vegetables for market. This will be about 22% higher than the average for the past 10 years.

M. W. Baker of the office of distribution, war food administration, reported on the onion and cabbage situation. He stated that the September estimates of commercial late crop onions in the U. S. is about 17¼ million 100 pound sacks. This is an increase of approximately 6 million sacks over the 1943 crop.

During the business meeting Elmer J. Steil of Des Plaines was elected as secretary of this organization to succeed Victor A. Eckstrom who resigned because other business made it impossible for him to continue in this capacity. Mr. Steil, assistant secretary of the Cook county truck gardeners association and farm labor supervisor for Cook county under the Illinois agricultural extension service program, is well qualified for the new position to which he has been elected.

Earth Pigments

Although imports of earth pigments, such as French yellow ochers, Spanish and Persian Gulf red iron oxides, Italian siennas, and many other raw materials have been curtailed as a result of the war, they have been offset without great difficulty by improvement in processing of domestic pigments. In fact, many producers believe that imports of foreign pigments, with the possible exception of Spanish and Persian Gulf red iron oxides, will continue to be negligible after the war.

Producive hogs bring best results

Sows on some farms regularly raise larger litters than the average. Much of the difference may be due to selection of breeding animals. A rather extensive study in England indicated that inheritance accounted for 37 per cent of the variation in fertility, 19 per cent of the variation in rearing ability, and nearly all of the nursing and milking ability of the sows. The most productive sows are likely to be thin and unattractive after weaning large litters. In many cases they are carelessly discarded.

It is suggested by E. T. Robbins, livestock extension specialist of the University of Illinois, that if sows which have raised fall pigs are saved, they should be those which are sturdy, vigorous, and have suckled eight or more pigs. Without some system of earmarking pigs, it is usually impossible to identify the gilts with the best breeding prospects. Some progress may be made by saving 25 per cent more gilts than desired and later on discarding those which do not breed within one month's time. It is commonly thought that productive females usually breed promptly.

Robbins suggests the early selection of a boar from a productive dam in a productive herd. By keeping the boar well away from the sows and feeding him until breeding time, he may be kept in vigorous condition and the period of quarantine will help to avoid the introduction of disease into the herd.

Survey shows drought kills many corn borers

The three corn borer plots that were reviewed on the field day, August 28, did not show a great deal of corn borer infestation in the corn planted May 6. Mr. Petty, extension entomologist from the university, stated that other plots away from Cook county showed a higher infestation for the earlier plantings than the one in Cook county. It is suspected that the large amount of early sweet corn grown in the vicinity has attracted the moths away from the early plantings in the field corn area. Sweet corn growers generally are through with early sweet corn and we may expect more moths for early plantings in the field corn hereafter than we have had up to this time. The other plots showed rather small infestations of corn borer.

One of the things to keep in mind in corn borer infestation is weather conditions that are unfavorable to the borers. We all are aware of the severe dry, hot weather we had in the early and middle summer. When the borer eggs are laid on the leaves they hatch and begin to feed on the leaves working their way toward the stalk. Should weather be extremely hot and dry, large numbers of these young worms perish and never get into the stalks. It is believed that this is one reason why the infestation generally is so low throughout the corn belt this year.

We expect to continue these corn borer studies for several years and doubtlessly will find that other years will show a higher survival of the borers on the leaves for the first brood.

May store potatoes cabbage and root crops

Carrots, beets, turnips, and winter radishes are especially well adapted to storage in the fresh state. It is Nature's way of taking these biennial crops through the winter period. They make their vegetative growth one year, pass through the winter and produce their seed the next year. Harvest of these crops should be delayed as long as is consistent with safety from freezing. They are not injured by the light frosts of September or early October.

Dig the roots in the forenoon of a sunny day, and let them lie in the sun for several hours. After this time most of the dirt can be shaken from the roots. In the afternoon, cut off the tops one-half to three-fourths inch above the crowns, and rub excess soil but do not brush or wash. The first few weeks of the storage period are the most critical. After the crops have been dug and their tops removed, the roots go through a period of heating and sweating, giving off surprising amounts of heat and moisture. If the heat and moisture do not escape, a condition favorable to all kinds of rot-producing organisms is created. If the root crops are stored in the cool room of a basement, leave them entirely uncovered for a few days. Be sure to open the upper windows so that warm air and moisture can escape. Open the cold air flue at night to keep the temperature low. If the crops are stored in a sunken barrel or if some modification of that method is used, leave the cover off the barrel for several days, putting it on at night if the temperature is very low. Later in the season, when the heating period is over and the weather becomes more settled, put the cover on the barrel to prevent excessive air movement and to maintain a fair degree of humidity.

When subzero weather threatens, cover the top of the barrel with straw, dry leaves, corn stalks or any other material at hand.

Cabbage may be stored either indoors or out of doors. In either case storage should be delayed as long as is consistent with safety. For outdoor storage, pull the plants up by their roots, wrap the outer leaves around the head and place the heads downward on a thin layer of straw or even directly on the ground. Lay three heads side by side with the roots upward. Then lay two heads between the roots of the lower heads. This makes a 3-2 mound. The mound will, of course, vary in length according to the number of cabbages. Cover the mound with straw, and work some straw down between the roots. Then, as cold weather comes, cover the straw with two or three inches of soil. This thin cover does not prevent freezing, of course, but it does prevent alternate freezing and thawing. Remove the heads one or two at a time as needed, and thaw them out slowly. They are not injured by freezing.

The indoor storage of cabbage is very different. Cut the heads from the stalks and trim them down to the tightly enfolding leaves. Store the heads on racks, not on shelves, in the cooler part of the furnace room in the basement. The object is to have cool, dry air circulating freely around each head. The outer leaves will dry to a paper-like consistency and turn grayish white in color. This will protect the head from excessive drying-out.

The unpleasant feature of indoor storage is that soft rots do sometimes get started and if not detected may fill the house with a very offensive odor. Close watch should be kept, and such heads should be removed at once.

READING & WRITING

Four stars to Margery Sharp for her creation of one of the most unique and lovable heroines of the year—Miss Cluny Brown, who appears in her novel, "Cluny Brown," a Book-of-the-Month Club selection for September.

MARGERY SHARP

Cluny Brown is the niece of a London plumber, and people are always saying of her, "She doesn't know her place," and saying to her, "Who do you think you are, Cluny Brown?"

What does she do that's so outrageous? Well, for one thing she goes to the Ritz for tea. Imagine, a plumber's niece going to the Ritz. It just isn't done. But Cluny saved up two-and-a-tanner and went, all on her own, just to see what it was like.

What Cluny needs is taming down, her Uncle Arn decides, and he arranges for her to go into service as a parlormaid at Friars Carmel in Devon. That ought to settle her, he thinks. But it doesn't.

She has never lived in the country before, and it is a source of endless delights to her. One day, after she has played truant for two hours, simply to look at lambs, Mrs. Maile, the housekeeper, decides it's time to give her a dressing down She does this exceptionally well; generations of maids had been reduced to tears in an average of five minutes, and to penitence in ten. Grimly, she allots Cluny fifteen. "Who do you think you are?" she begins, which is a mistake, because that remark immediately sets Cluny off to think of all the train of events that had brought her there. When she has finished, she asks the girl, "Well, what have you to say for yourself?"

"I do wish Uncle Arn were here," sighs Cluny. "Why do you say that?" the housekeeper asks, more gently now. "I would like him to see the lambs," comments Cluny. After that, Mrs. Maile gives up. Parlormaids really are very hard to find these days.

Margery Sharp, author of "Cluny Brown," "The Nutmeg Tree," and other novels, is English, though she was married in New York—to Geoffrey Castle, now a captain in the British Army. The best man at the wedding was the actor, Robert Morley, who was playing currently in "Oscar Wilde," and also in the screen version of "Henry VIII." One of the guests, arriving late, saw Morley standing on the church steps. He reminded her of some historical figure, but in the flurry of the moment she couldn't decide just which one. "Who is that man?" she whispered to the first person she could reach. "Why, don't you know?" was the reply. "That's Oscar Wilde." According to the story, the guest left hastily, presumably to puzzle out things in quiet.

In the afternoon, cut off the tops one-half to three-fourths inch above the crowns, and rub excess soil but do not brush or wash. The first few weeks of the storage period are the most critical. After the crops have been dug and their tops removed, the roots go through a period of heating and sweating, giving off surprising amounts of heat and moisture. If the heat and moisture do not escape, a condition favorable to all kinds of rot-producing organisms is created. If the root crops are stored in the cool room of a basement, leave them entirely uncovered for a few days. Be sure to open the upper windows so that warm air and moisture can escape. Open the cold air flue at night to keep the temperature low. If the crops are stored in a sunken barrel or if some modification of that method is used, leave the cover off the barrel for several days, putting it on at night if the temperature is very low. Later in the season, when the heating period is over and the weather becomes more settled, put the cover on the barrel to prevent excessive air movement and to maintain a fair degree of humidity.

When subzero weather threatens, cover the top of the barrel with straw, dry leaves, corn stalks or any other material at hand.

Cabbage may be stored either indoors or out of doors. In either case storage should be delayed as long as is consistent with safety. For outdoor storage, pull the plants up by their roots, wrap the outer leaves around the head and place the heads downward on a thin layer of straw or even directly on the ground. Lay three heads side by side with the roots upward. Then lay two heads between the roots of the lower heads. This makes a 3-2 mound. The mound will, of course, vary in length according to the number of cabbages. Cover the mound with straw, and work some straw down between the roots. Then, as cold weather comes, cover the straw with two or three inches of soil. This thin cover does not prevent freezing, of course, but it does prevent alternate freezing and thawing. Remove the heads one or two at a time as needed, and thaw them out slowly. They are not injured by freezing.

The indoor storage of cabbage is very different. Cut the heads from the stalks and trim them down to the tightly enfolding leaves. Store the heads on racks, not on shelves, in the cooler part of the furnace room in the basement. The object is to have cool, dry air circulating freely around each head. The outer leaves will dry to a paper-like consistency and turn grayish white in color. This will protect the head from excessive drying-out.

The unpleasant feature of indoor storage is that soft rots do sometimes get started and if not detected may fill the house with a very offensive odor. Close watch should be kept, and such heads should be removed at once.

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKown

Four stars to Margery Sharp for her creation of one of the most unique and lovable heroines of the year—Miss Cluny Brown, who appears in her novel, "Cluny Brown," a Book-of-the-Month Club selection for September.

MARGERY SHARP

Cluny Brown is the niece of a London plumber, and people are always saying of her, "She doesn't know her place," and saying to her, "Who do you think you are, Cluny Brown?"

What does she do that's so outrageous? Well, for one thing she goes to the Ritz for tea. Imagine, a plumber's niece going to the Ritz. It just isn't done. But Cluny saved up two-and-a-tanner and went, all on her own, just to see what it was like.

What Cluny needs is taming down, her Uncle Arn decides, and he arranges for her to go into service as a parlormaid at Friars Carmel in Devon. That ought to settle her, he thinks. But it doesn't.

She has never lived in the country before, and it is a source of endless delights to her. One day, after she has played truant for two hours, simply to look at lambs, Mrs. Maile, the housekeeper, decides it's time to give her a dressing down She does this exceptionally well; generations of maids had been reduced to tears in an average of five minutes, and to penitence in ten. Grimly, she allots Cluny fifteen. "Who do you think you are?" she begins, which is a mistake, because that remark immediately sets Cluny off to think of all the train of events that had brought her there. When she has finished, she asks the girl, "Well, what have you to say for yourself?"

"I do wish Uncle Arn were here," sighs Cluny. "Why do you say that?" the housekeeper asks, more gently now. "I would like him to see the lambs," comments Cluny. After that, Mrs. Maile gives up. Parlormaids really are very hard to find these days.

Margery Sharp, author of "Cluny Brown," "The Nutmeg Tree," and other novels, is English, though she was married in New York—to Geoffrey Castle, now a captain in the British Army. The best man at the wedding was the actor, Robert Morley, who was playing currently in "Oscar Wilde," and also in the screen version of "Henry VIII." One of the guests, arriving late, saw Morley standing on the church steps. He reminded her of some historical figure, but in the flurry of the moment she couldn't decide just which one. "Who is that man?" she whispered to the first person she could reach. "Why, don't you know?" was the reply. "That's Oscar Wilde." According to the story, the guest left hastily, presumably to puzzle out things in quiet.

Arlington beats Warren, 19-12

Warren looks better than expected

Before a large home crowd, Arlington's football team beat the Warren eleven in a game full of thrills. The final score was 19-12, Arlington. Touchdowns were scored by Williams, Robinson, and Page for Arlington, and Miller and Cannon for Warren.

The first quarter began with Warren kicking off to Arlington. Arlington tried several plays, failed to gain and punted to Warren. After the Warren offense failed to gain, Wedge punted to the Arlington 24-yard line, where McDonald received the kick and ran it back to the Arlington 45. Williams hit the line for 7, then Ehard picked up 4 for a first down on the Warren 44. Robinson passed to Weber who ran the ball down to the Warren 12-yard line. Ehard picked up 3 on a reverse, then Stroker carried the ball to the 2-yard line. On the next play Williams bucked over for a touchdown. The kick for extra point was blocked. Score, Arlington 6, Warren 0.

Late in the second quarter McDonald received a punt on his own 3-yard line and returned it to the Arlington 22. Stroker picked up 13 yards on an end run, and then punctured the center of the line for 7 more. Ehard was thrown for a loss of three yards by DeLoof, Warren left tackle. On the next play McDonald broke away for a 17 yard gain down to the Warren 44. A short pass to Page picked up 12 yards. Then a pass to Weber carried the ball dowp to the Warren 17-yard line. Stroker carried the ball off tackle for 6, then Ehard picked up 6 on a buck. Stroker hit the middle for 4 yards and then Robinson bucked over for the touchdown. Robinson kicked the extra point. Score, Arlington 13, Warren 0.

Warren kicked off to Arlington to open the third quarter. Stroker received the kick and carried the ball to the Arlington 33. On the first play Stroker carried the ball and picked up nine yards off tackle. Ehard made 1 yard on a reverse. A pass from Robinson to Page was good for 22 yards. A pass from Stroker to Weber picked up 13 more. Robinson picked up four through the line. Ehard was stopped for no gain. Stroker bucked down to the 12-yard line and then a short pass to Page carried the ball over for the touchdown. The extra point was missed. Arlington 19, Warren 0.

Near the end of the third quarter Arlington attempted to kick from its own 43-yard line. The kick was blocked by DeLoof, Warren left tackle, and downed on the Arlington 31-yard line. A pass from Miller to Rosene was good for 29 yards. On the next play Cannon bucked over for the score. The extra point was blocked. Score Arlington 19, Warren 6.

Late in the fourth quarter Arlington fumbled on its own 38-yard line. Warren recovered the ball and tried two unusual spread plays which picked up a total of 5 yards. Miller passed to Eiserman for 12, then to Lauer for 8 more. Cannon made 3 over center, then Miller passed to Eiserman for 15. On three bucks over center Cannon carried the ball across for the last score of the day. The extra point was blocked. Score Arlington 19, Warren 12.

Arlington lost twoo good scoring opportunities in this game. In the first quarter the Cards drove from their own 43 to the Warren 12. Ehard carried the ball across the goal and the score was nullified.

In the fourth quarter the Cards marched down from their own 35 to the Warren 25. On last down Page made a fine leaping catch of a pass at the extreme rear of the end zone, but the head linesman ruled that the catch had been made behind the end zone.

Bisons outplay, but tie Northbrook squad, 6-6

Bensenville puts on second half dash, but fails

Bensenville outplayed defending champion Northbrook Friday but the best the Bisons could do was a 6-6 tie game. The Bisons piled up 12 first downs to Northbrook's six and were a scoring threat all the second half though they put over but one touchdown.

Northbrook tallied in the second quarter when Don Brown, Viking halfback got behind the Northbrook secondary and took a 30 yard pass from Cooksy for a touchdown. The Vikings had the best of the first half playing as Schneider made a number of nice gains through the line and several circus catches of forward passes by Northbrook ends carried them into Bison territory. Once in the first quarter they advanced to the Bison 10 yard line before losing the ball.

Bensenville came back in the second half with a spirited type of play which almost swept Northbrook off their feet. Early in the third period Bauer ran around Northbrook's right end 25 yards to the five yard stripe but the Bisons got only to the one yard line in the next four plays. The Vikings punted to the 25 and Schoppe passed to Olenicki for first down again on Northbrook's five. Schoppe ran around left end for the touchdown but a pass to Schoppe was incomplete on the attempt at conversion.

Then came the battle to break the tie. Northbrook ran the kickoff to mid field but Olenicki recovered a fumble. Then Northbrook intercepted a Bison pass but an aroused Bison line threw them for losses and they punted to Bensenville's 17. Then Northbrook had a real break. They intercepted a pass and got a 15 yard penalty on the Bisons giving them first down on the 11. Four plays later Bensenville took the ball on the 29. Schoppe ran around end 12 yards and passed to Ernsting 15 yards to advance into Northbrook territory. The drive faded and a punt to Northbrook's 25 was followed by the Bison recovery of a fumble on the next play. Webb who had replaced injured Olenicki filled the air with passes and the Bisons had moved to the Northbrook seven yard line when the game ended.

Outstanding for Northbrook were Schneider and Sherman in the backfield and Brown at center in the line. Northbrook appeared to be slower than last year but has the heaviest team in the league. Schoppe of Bensenville was one of the best men on the field and a number of the Bison linemen distinguished themselves by their aggressive playing in the second half.

Wildcats open title defense by beating Leyden

Libertyville opened defense of heir Northeast championship by defeating Leyden 12-6 on the Wildcats' gridiron Friday. The Cats had a great deal more of an edge on their opponents than the score would indicate for they made 14 first downs to Leyden's four and had the ball inside the Eagles' 20 yard line on seven occasions. Libertyville seemed to lack the punch to score when they got close to the payoff stripe.

Leyden's only score came in the last 30 seconds of the game when they traveled 80 yards on two pass plays to tally a touchdown.

Libertyville scored in the first quarter when Lennartz drove off tackle and lateralled a pass to Ericksen who outraced the Leyden secondary 40 yards to score. In the third quarter Libertyville sent Ericksen over from the two yard line to climax a 70 yard touchdown march.

Leyden defeats Palatine cross country team

Leyden defeated Palatine 35-20 in a cross country meet Thursday afternoon at Palatine. The Eagles took five of the first seven places with Quaranto and Popp finishing first in a dead heat in 10:17 for the mile and three-quarters course.

While Palatine's material as a group is not outstanding there are more boys of fair ability than the school has ever had and they should develop into a good group with experience.

Order of finish:

1 Quananto (L), Popp (L) tied, 10:17. 3 Vogt (P), 10:36. 4 Heard (L), 10:45. 5 Hapke (P), 10:47. 6 Markwitz (L), 10:49. 7 Neuman (L), 10:53. 8 Filloon (P), 10:57. 9 Wente (P), 11:00. 10 Moehling (P), 11:10. 11 Howes (P). 12 Gallimore (P). 13 Sutheers (P). 14 Zoellick (P). 15 Kerschke (P) and Toppel (P), tied.

Crystal Lake tops Woodstock, 12-0

Crystal Lake displayed a smooth offense which put over touchdowns in the first and fourth quarters to whip a heavier but slower Woodstock eleven 12-0. Hayden scored the first touchdown by taking a pass in the end zone while Legel got the second on a line plunge.

Barrington mauls Antioch, 33-0

Barrington crushed a weak Antioch team 33-0 in the league opener last Friday. The Bronchos led 14-0 at the half. Ralph Gaulke, 180 pound basketball star who is in his first year of football, scored the first touchdown and the second was made by Trestik, who caught a pass thrown by Flock.

In the third period Wirsing intercepted a pass and ran 65 yards to score. Moore scored two touchdowns in the last quarter, one on a plunge and the other on a pass from Smith. While the Bronchos were winning by such a big margin Antioch was getting the better of them in first downs by a margin of 10 to 6.

Palatine loses to Maine harriers

Palatine lost 36-19 in a cross country meet at Evanston Tuesday afternoon. Palatine places among the first 10 were Vogt, third; Hapke, sixth; Moehling, eighth; Filloon, ninth; and Wente 10th. Friday Palatine runs against Main township at DesPlaines.

Lake Forest downs Niles, 14-0

Lake Forest came back strong from their non-conference loss at the hands of Arlington Heights and dropped Niles 14-0 in the league opener Friday. Early in the opening quarter Lake Forest drove 48 yards for the first tally with fullback McGovern going over off tackle from the seven yard line. A little later the scoring for the afternoon was concluded as Daruffi, Lake Forest safety man, took a punt on his own 35 yard line and twisted his way 65 yards to the Niles goal line. Lindy's Scouts converted after both touchdowns.

Pirate Frosh-Sophs mauled, 41-0, at Crystal Lake

Palatine's Frosh-Soph football team was handed a 41-0 drubbing at Crystal Lake Monday afternoon in the rain. Coach Newman of the Lakers used three full teams and held a 27-0 lead at the half. Only three of the Palatine boys had ever been in a game or played any football before this year. Next Monday, October 9, the Palatine frosh-sophs meet Northbrook on Ost Field at 4:00.

MAC SAYS:

BY GERALD A. McELROY

Last week's results in both Northeast and Northwest Conferences ran pretty true to form. This was especially true in the Northeast. Crystal Lake whipped Woodstock as expected. Lake Forest handled Niles more easily than was predicted. Libertyville had more trouble with Leyden than we had doped but came out on top without too much trouble. Arlington was expected to beat Warren worse but chalk the 19-12 score up to the improvement of Warren and Coach Seidler's desire to give all his subs a chance for more experience. This attitude of Coach Seidler is to be commended.

Five Evenly Matched N. W. Teams

In the Northwest the Palatine-Grant game was a real tossup as doped. Barrington surprised by a 33-0 win over Antioch but the latter was an unusually weak team this past week end and it should not be taken as an indication that Barrington is the strong team of the league. Instead it looks like five teams are on a par and Antioch weaker than the rest. Bensenville played brilliantly to tie Northbrook and the latter did not look much like the champs of last season. Not much speed and weak defensive line play stood out in the Northbrook performance against the Bisons.

Pick Arlington Over Leyden 20-6

This week it looks like easy picks in the Northeast. We would give Arlington a two touchdown edge at Leyden, Crystal Lake one touchdown over Lake Forest, Libertyville four touchdowns over Warren, and Woodstock to nose out Niles. In the Northwest where all games this week come on Saturday Grant and Barrington, last week's winners are paired. We will guess in favor of Barrington in a close one. At Palatine Northbrook will find more opposition than they expect but are slight favorites over the Pirates in a toss up struggle. Bensenville should take Antioch by two touchdowns.

See Some Standouts Perform Here

We saw three games this past week end and were impressed by the work of some of the backfield men we saw perform. Hardest hitting back and an all conference possibility is Thompson of Grant, a 160 pound left half who picked up about 110 yards through Palatine's line. Tom Moody of Palatine showed the stuff that made him all-conference fullback last year. He did some shifty running, good punting, good blocking, and tossed two passes of which both were complete. Shiftiest back of the season to date is McDonald of Arlington who is sparking the attack of the fast stepping Cards. He follows interference well and gets lots of it. Finest block we have seen in some time was made by Aldrich from a difficult angle to give McDonald the edge in a 30-yard punt return against Warren in the first half. Schoppe of Bensenville is one of the best all round backs in the Northwest. He is a fine runner, good passer and the best pass receiver on the Bison team. Another outstanding boy we observed is Chuck Brown, Northbrook's 200 pound center.

Jagade Scores Against Michigan

The big schools in Illinois get the all-state nominations in football but the small ones sometimes have just as good performers. A good case is that of Jagade of Leyden and Sundheim of LaGrange. The latter was named all-state fullback last year playing with the West Suburban champs. We wrote to Pat Harmon about Jagade, along with Kruckman and Luce of Libertyville, as being worthy all-state positions but they did not even get honorable mention. Now Jagade and Sundheim are changing off as fullback on a great Indiana team which walloped Michigan 20 to 0 last week. Each lad got himself a touchdown. Last spring Jagade broke two Northeast track records which tells the reasons why this 200 pound boy is such a line crusher. He broke the shot put mark with 47 feet and broke the 200-yard low hurdle mark with a blistering mark of :22.9.

A Star Athlete Suffers At The Hands Of Promoters

Albie Plain, the Springfield baseball star who played in an all-star game in Chicago last summer, and thus lost his eligibility for his senior year of competition in the State High School Association, scored a touchdown as left end for Todd school of Woodstock Saturday. Plain had never played football but Tony Roskie found in him a natural athlete who will help Todd defend its' private school title.

Plain was warned last summer that he was violating the state association rules but competed at Chicago anyway. When the association ruled him out this fall his father brought suit against Springfield High School to force them to use him regularly on any team he went out for while a Springfield merchant who spansored him in the all-star game brought suit against the Illinois State High School Association to force them to declare him eligible. If Springfield used him they would be dropped from the state association and could play no games with association members.

In order that Plain could be sure to play basketball, his best high school sport, he enrolled at Todd instead of his home school, Springfield. Private schools operate independent of the state organization.

All this proves one point. No individual or school is bigger than the state association. This organization is a democratic one developed by the member schools and has elevated athletics to the high position and standard they now hold in this state. To try to force a school by court, action to use a boy who is ineligible is in itself ridiculous. Being a member of the state association and a member of a high school basketball squad is a voluntary proposition. When one chooses to join either it is understood that there are rules to be followed to retain membership. Don't blame the boy for all the trouble. According to his statemen he hopes all this fuss will be over and no trouble made for anyone now that he has entered Todd. He hopes the whole matter will be dropped. To us it looks like a few self seeking individuals have given a fine young athlete a lot of unfavorable publicity.

Woodstock Backfield Averages 186

Woodstock has the heaviest backfield in this area, averaging 186 pounds. Mansfield at quarter is 200, Jursech at fullback 210, and Pugh and Nulle at the halves weigh 175 and 160 respectively. The Woodstock team averages about 180.

Weber To Lead Cards Saturday

Coach Seidler at Arlington appoints a senior captain each game and then at the end of the season the squad elects senior co-captains. McDonald was the leader at Bensenville, Ehard against Lake Forest, and Page in the Warren game. Saturday at Leyden Weber will lead the team. Gene Stroker and Robinson are also seniors who will get a turn. Weber and Page are ends and the rest of the seniors are backfield men.

Warren Tackle Stops Arlington

Talking to Seidler over the telephone early in the week we mentioned some fine work by Aldrich and McDonald we observed in the first half of the Warren game. He said that Ehard and Weber did some stand out blocking in the second half which we did not see as we were back home getting ready for the trip to Grant with the Palatine squad. Coach Seidler told us to keep an eye on a Warren tackle named deLoof, who is all-conference if he continues to play as he did at Arlington. This boy looked good against Libertyville last year and was given honorable mention in our 1943 mythical selections. Looks like he is headed for higher honors this year.

Arlington Fans Hungry For Championship

Arlington fans are very much championship conscious and some are a little too optimistic. When it comes to figuring that the Cards have just two tough opponents, Crystal Lake and Libertyville, it becomes nothing but wishful thinking. One fan said he did not think the Cards would have much trouble with Libertyville. There is not a game on the Cards' schedule that won't be real tough and if they fail to play heads up ball they could lose any of them.

Look Out For Woodstock And Leyden

Coach Metcalf of Crystal Lake expects Arlington to lose at least two games and we gathered from his conversation Monday that he did not think there would be any team undefeated. He thinks that two very dangerous teams who might upset the favorites are Woodstock and Leyden. He thinks that both are strong defensively and that they will get tougher as the season progresses. We are inclined to agree with him. It is a tough league this year and the best advice we can give the Arlington boys is not to take too seriously the over confident statements of fans about easy games ahead. We are not kidding you when we say that you won't have any easy ones and for that matter it applies to all the rest. Let down and you're licked.

Rose Gives Us Dope On An Unusual Game

Mike Rose of North Chicago phoned us about a basketball officiating date Monday and had a word to say about the Antioch-Barrington game he worked last Friday. His report tends to discredit what I wrote Sunday in this column about Antioch being the weakling of the N. W. conference. He says that Antioch outplayed Barrington but just lost all the breaks in the form of intercepted passes, etc. Imagine a team outplaying their opponents and getting 10 first downs to their six and losing 33-0. That is what happened at Antioch. The losers' have a small squad and the loss of a few tackle by the weekly eligibility rule hurt them plenty. So don't get too overconfident down there at Bensenville about a push-over Saturday when the Sequoits come to town. Remember, they beat Warren and Bob Kelton's team is no setup.

Pirates best in 2 years, but lose to Grant, 13-7

Local squad improves in spirit and play

Grant took advantage of the breaks in a very evenly played game to down Palatine 13-7 under the lights at Fox Lake Saturday night. It was the opening conference game and almost an exact duplicate of last year's opener between the same schools from the standpoint of score and game statistics. Palatine had a slight edge in all departments of play with excessive fumbling giving Grant the breaks they needed. It was the same last year. It can be said for the Palatine team that they played the best ball in two seasons Saturday.

Grant High scored in the first quarter when Thompson, a very hard hitting back, slashed off Palatine's right tackle and cut back past the whole Pirate secondary for a 44-yard touchdown run. Paustian's place kick for the extra point went under the bar.

Palatine came right back with a 60-yard drive for a touchdown. In the series of 12 plays Arendt reeled off one of 17 yards around end and Roger Smith took a wide lateral and ran 12 of the last 13 yards to the one yard line to set up a touchdown plunge by Capt. Tom Moody. Moody's short pass to Hansen scored the extra point and Palatine led 7-6 at the half.

In the third period Grant marched to the Pirate 16-yard line where their drive appeared to be ended when Arendt intercepted a fourth down pass. However on the second play Moody fumbled and Grant recovered on the Palatine 11-yard line. On the fourth play Mahoney scored the winning touchdown through the Palatine line, and a pass to Tylkowski converted.

In the last quarter Palatine tried desperately to score the tying or winning points. Due to a 41-yard run off tackle by Moody the Pirates had first down on the Grant 19, but a wild lateral pass was picked up by Grant and the threat ended. A little later Palatine started a drive from the Grant 41 and with Moody doing the bulk of the ball carrying and a 12-yard pass from Moody to Hansen, moved to the Grant five-yard line before losing the ball on downs. The game ended two plays later.

Thompson of Grant was the hardest hitting backfield man on the field and accounted for nearly two-thirds of his team's gains. Moody and Smith did some very nice work for Palatine and Stan Arendt, who replaced Kinsch at left half, gave Palatine the speed around the ends which had been lacking in earlier games. Moody gained 96 yards in 14 plays for a seven yard average; Arendt made 42 in eight attempts for an average of 5¼; and Smith averaged 4½ with 31 in seven tries. Palatine's spirit and improved line play was such as to give Pirate fans hope for a good season in spite of the opening defeat.

Warren looks better than expected

Before a large home crowd, Arlington's football team beat the Warren eleven in a game full of thrills. The final score was 19-12, Arlington. Touchdowns were scored by Williams, Robinson, and Page for Arlington, and Miller and Cannon for Warren.

The first quarter began with Warren kicking off to Arlington. Arlington tried several plays, failed to gain and punted to Warren. After the Warren offense failed to gain, Wedge punted to the Arlington 24-yard line, where McDonald received the kick and ran it back to the Arlington 45. Williams hit the line for 7, then Ehard picked up 4 for a first down on the Warren 44. Robinson passed to Weber who ran the ball down to the Warren 12-yard line. Ehard picked up 3 on a reverse, then Stroker carried the ball to the 2-yard line. On the next play Williams bucked over for a touchdown. The kick for extra point was blocked. Score, Arlington 6, Warren 0.

Late in the second quarter McDonald received a punt on his own 3-yard line and returned it to the Arlington 22. Stroker picked up 13 yards on an end run, and then punctured the center of the line for 7 more. Ehard was thrown for a loss of three yards by DeLoof, Warren left tackle. On the next play McDonald broke away for a 17-yard gain down to the Warren 44. A short pass to Page picked up 12 yards. Then a pass to Weber carried the ball down to the Warren 17-yard line. Stroker carried the ball off tackle for 6, then Ehard picked up 6 on a buck. Stroker hit the middle for 4 yards and then Robinson bucked over for the touchdown. Robinson kicked the extra point. Score, Arlington 13, Warren 0.

Warren kicked off to Arlington to open the third quarter. Stroker received the kick and carried the ball to the Arlington 33. On the first play Stroker carried the ball and picked up nine yards off tackle. Ehard made 1 yard on a reverse. A pass from Robinson to Page was good for 22 yards. A pass from Stroker to Weber picked up 13 more. Robinson picked up four through the line. Ehard was stopped for no gain. Stroker bucked down to the 12-yard line and then a short pass to Page carried the ball over for the touchdown. The extra point was missed. Arlington 19, Warren 0.

Near the end of the third quarter Arlington attempted to kick from its own 43-yard line. The kick was blocked by DeLoof, Warren left tackle, and downed on the Arlington 31-yard line. A pass from Miller to Rosene was good for 29 yards. On the next play Cannon bucked over for the score. The extra point was blocked. Score Arlington 19, Warren 6.

Late in the fourth quarter Arlington fumbled on its own 38-yard line. Warren recovered the ball and tried two unusual spread plays which picked up a total of 5 yards. Miller passed to Eiserman for 12, then to Lauer for 8 more. Cannon made 3 over center, then Miller passed to Eiserman for 15. On three bucks over center Cannon carried the ball across for the last score of the day. The extra point was blocked. Score Arlington 19, Warren 12.

Arlington lost twoo good scoring opportunities in this game. In the first quarter the Cards drove from their own 43 to the Warren 12. Ehard carried the ball across the goal and the score was nullified.

In the fourth quarter the Cards marched down from their own 35 to the Warren 25. On last down Page made a fine leaping catch of a pass at the extreme rear of the end zone, but the head linesman ruled that the catch had been made behind the end zone.

Arlington at Leyden this week

Next week Arlington plays Leyden at Leyden. This should prove to be a tough game for the Red and White and all Arlington fans should try to see this game. Be there if you can!

Bisons outplay, but tie Northbrook squad, 6-6

Bensenville puts on second half dash, but fails

Bensenville outplayed defending champion Northbrook Friday but the best the Bisons could do was a 6-6 tie game. The Bisons piled up 12 first downs to Northbrook's six and were a scoring threat all the second half though they put over but one touchdown.

Northbrook tallied in the second quarter when Don Brown, Viking halfback got behind the Northbrook secondary and took a 30 yard pass from Cooksy for a touchdown. The Vikings had the best of the first half playing as Schneider made a number of nice gains through the line and several circus catches of forward passes by Northbrook ends carried them into Bison territory. Once in the first quarter they advanced to the Bison 10 yard line before losing the ball.

Bensenville came back in the second half with a spirited type of play which almost swept Northbrook off their feet. Early in the third period Bauer ran around Northbrook's right end 25 yards to the five yard stripe but the Bisons got only to the one yard line in the next four plays. The Vikings punted to the 25 and Schoppe passed to Olenicki for first down again on Northbrook's five. Schoppe ran around left end for the touchdown but a pass to Schoppe was incomplete on the attempt at conversion.

Then came the battle to break the tie. Northbrook ran the kickoff to mid field but Olenicki recovered a fumble. Then Northbrook intercepted a Bison pass but an aroused Bison line threw them for losses and they punted to Bensenville's 17. Then Northbrook had a real break. They intercepted a pass and got a 15 yard penalty on the Bisons giving them first down on the 11. Four plays later Bensenville took the ball on the 29. Schoppe ran around end 12 yards and passed to Ernsting 15 yards to advance into Northbrook territory. The drive faded and a punt to Northbrook's 25 was followed by the Bison recovery of a fumble on the next play. Webb who had replaced injured Olenicki filled the air with passes and the Bisons had moved to the Northbrook seven yard line when the game ended.

Outstanding for Northbrook were Schneider and Sherman in the backfield and Brown at center in the line. Northbrook appeared to be slower than last year but has the heaviest team in the league. Schoppe of Bensenville was one of the best men on the field and a number of the Bison linemen distinguished themselves by their aggressive playing in the second half.

Wildcats open title defense by beating Leyden

Libertyville opened defense of heir Northeast championship by defeating Leyden 12-6 on the Wildcats' gridiron Friday. The Cats had a great deal more of an edge on their opponents than the score would indicate for they made 14 first downs to Leyden's four and had the ball inside the Eagles' 20 yard line on seven occasions. Libertyville seemed to lack the punch to score when they got close to the payoff stripe.

Leyden's only score came in the last 30 seconds of the game when they traveled 80 yards on two pass plays to tally a touchdown.

Libertyville scored in the first quarter when Lennartz drove off tackle and lateralled a pass to Ericksen who outraced the Leyden secondary 40 yards to score. In the third quarter Libertyville sent Ericksen over from the two yard line to climax a 70 yard touchdown march.

Leyden defeats Palatine cross country team

Leyden defeated Palatine 35-20 in a cross country meet Thursday afternoon at Palatine. The Eagles took five of the first seven places with Quaranto and Popp finishing first in a dead heat in 10:17 for the mile and three-quarters course.

While Palatine's material as a group is not outstanding there are more boys of fair ability than the school has ever had and they should develop into a good group with experience.

Order of finish:

1 Quaranto (L), Popp (L) tied, 10:17. 3 Vogt (P), 10:36. 4 Heard (L), 10:45. 5 Hapke (P), 10:47. 6 Markwitz (L), 10:49. 7 Neuman (L), 10:53. 8 Filloon (P), 10:57. 9 Wente (P), 11:00. 10 Moehling (P), 11:10. 11 Howes (P). 12 Gallimore (P). 13 Sutheers (P). 14 Zoellick (P). 15 Kerschke (P) and Toppel (P), tied.

Crystal Lake tops Woodstock, 12-0

Crystal Lake displayed a smooth offense which put over touchdowns in the first and fourth quarters to whip a heavier but slower Woodstock eleven 12-0. Hayden scored the first touchdown by taking a pass in the end zone while Legel got the second on a line plunge.

Barrington mauls Antioch, 33-0

Barrington crushed a weak Antioch team 33-0 in the league opener last Friday. The Bronchos led 14-0 at the half. Ralph Gaulke, 180 pound basketball star who is in his first year of football, scored the first touchdown and the second was made by Trestik, who caught a pass thrown by Flock.

In the third period Wirsing intercepted a pass and ran 65 yards to score. Moore scored two touchdowns in the last quarter, one on a plunge and the other on a pass from Smith. While the Bronchos were winning by such a big margin Antioch was getting the better of them in first downs by a margin of 10 to 6.

Palatine loses to Maine harriers

Palatine lost 36-19 in a cross country meet at Evanston Tuesday afternoon. Palatine places among the first 10 were Vogt, third; Hapke, sixth; Moehling, eighth; Filloon, ninth; and Wente 10th. Friday Palatine runs against Main township at DesPlaines.

Lake Forest downs Niles, 14-0

Lake Forest came back strong from their non-conference loss at the hands of Arlington Heights and dropped Niles 14-0 in the league opener Friday. Early in the opening quarter Lake Forest drove 48 yards for the first tally with fullback McGovern going over off tackle from the seven yard line. A little later the scoring for the afternoon was concluded as Daruffi, Lake Forest safety man, took a punt on his own 35 yard line and twisted his way 65 yards to the Niles goal line. Lindy's Scouts converted after both touchdowns.

Pirate Frosh-Sophs mauled, 41-0, at Crystal Lake

Palatine's Frosh-Soph football team was handed a 41-0 drubbing at Crystal Lake Monday afternoon in the rain. Coach Newman of the Lakers used three full teams and held a 27-0 lead at the half. Only three of the Palatine boys had ever been in a game or played any football before this year. Next Monday, October 9, the Palatine frosh-sophs meet Northbrook on Ost Field at 4:00.

MAC SAYS:

BY GERALD A. McELROY

Last week's results in both Northeast and Northwest Conferences ran pretty true to form. This was especially true in the Northeast. Crystal Lake whipped Woodstock as expected. Lake Forest handled Niles more easily than was predicted. Libertyville had more trouble with Leyden than we had doped but came out on top without too much trouble. Arlington was expected to beat Warren worse but chalk the 19-12 score up to the improvement of Warren and Coach Seidler's desire to give all his subs a chance for more experience. This attitude of Coach Seidler is to be commended.

Five Evenly Matched N. W. Teams

In the Northwest the Palatine-Grant game was a real tossup as doped. Barrington surprised by a 33-0 win over Antioch but the latter was an unusually weak team this past week end and it should not be taken as an indication that Barrington is the strong team of the league. Instead it looks like five teams are on a par and Antioch weaker than the rest. Bensenville played brilliantly to tie Northbrook and the latter did not look much like the champs of last season. Not much speed and weak defensive line play stood out in the Northbrook performance against the Bisons.

Pick Arlington Over Leyden 20-6

This week it looks like easy picks in the Northeast. We would give Arlington a two touchdown edge at Leyden, Crystal Lake one touchdown over Lake Forest, Libertyville four touchdowns over Warren, and Woodstock to nose out Niles. In the Northwest where all games this week come on Saturday Grant and Barrington, last week's winners are paired. We will guess in favor of Barrington in a close one. At Palatine Northbrook will find more opposition than they expect but are slight favorites over the Pirates in a toss up struggle. Bensenville should take Antioch by two touchdowns.

See Some Standouts Perform Here

We saw three games this past week end and were impressed by the work of some of the backfield men we saw perform. Hardest hitting back and an all conference possibility is Thompson of Grant, a 160 pound left half who picked up about 110 yards through Palatine's line. Tom Moody of Palatine showed the stuff that made him all-conference fullback last year. He did some shifty running, good punting, good blocking, and tossed two passes of which both were complete. Shiftiest back of the season to date is McDonald of Arlington who is sparking the attack of the fast stepping Cards. He follows interference well and gets lots of it. Finest block we have seen in some time was made by Aldrich from a difficult angle to give McDonald the edge in a 30-yard punt return against Warren in the first half. Schoppe of Bensenville is one of the best all round backs in the Northwest. He is a fine runner, good passer and the best pass receiver on the Bison team. Another outstanding boy we observed is Chuck Brown, Northbrook's 200 pound center.

Jagade Scores Against Michigan

The big schools in Illinois get the all-state nominations in football but the small ones sometimes have just as good performers. A good case is that of Jagade of Leyden and Sundheim of LaGrange. The latter was named all-state fullback last year playing with the West Suburban champs. We wrote to Pat Harmon about Jagade, along with Kruckman and Luce of Libertyville, as being worthy all-state positions but they did not even get honorable mention. Now Jagade and Sundheim are changing off as fullback on a great Indiana team which walloped Michigan 20 to 0 last week. Each lad got himself a touchdown. Last spring Jagade broke two Northeast track records which tells the reasons why this 200 pound boy is such a line crusher. He broke the shot put mark with 47 feet and broke the 200-yard low hurdle mark with a blistering mark of :22.9.

A Star Athlete Suffers At The Hands Of Promoters

Albie Plain, the Springfield baseball star who played in an all-star game in Chicago last summer, and thus lost his eligibility for his senior year of competition in the State High School Association, scored a touchdown as left end for Todd school of Woodstock Saturday. Plain had never played football but Tony Roskie found in him a natural athlete who will help Todd defend its' private school title.

Plain was warned last summer that he was violating the state association rules but competed at Chicago anyway. When the association ruled him out this fall his father brought suit against Springfield High School to force them to use him regularly on any team he went out for while a Springfield merchant who spansored him in the all-star game brought suit against the Illinois State High School Association to force them to declare him eligible. If Springfield used him they would be dropped from the state association and could play no games with association members.

In order that Plain could be sure to play basketball, his best high school sport, he enrolled at Todd instead of his home school, Springfield. Private schools operate independent of the state organization.

All this proves one point. No individual or school is bigger than the state association. This organization is a democratic one developed by the member schools and has elevated athletics to the high position and standard they now hold in this state. To try to force a school by court, action to use a boy who is ineligible is in itself ridiculous. Being a member of the state association and a member of a high school basketball squad is a voluntary proposition. When one chooses to join either it is understood that there are rules to be followed to retain membership. Don't blame the boy for all the trouble. According to his statemen he hopes all this fuss will be over and no trouble made for anyone now that he has entered Todd. He hopes the whole matter will be dropped. To us it looks like a few self seeking individuals have given a fine young athlete a lot of unfavorable publicity.

Woodstock Backfield Averages 186

Woodstock has the heaviest backfield in this area, averaging 186 pounds. Mansfield at quarter is 200, Jursech at fullback 210, and Pugh and Nulle at the halves weigh 175 and 160 respectively. The Woodstock team averages about 180.

Weber To Lead Cards Saturday

Coach Seidler at Arlington appoints a senior captain each game and then at the end of the season the squad elects senior co-captains. McDonald was the leader at Bensenville, Ehard against Lake Forest, and Page in the Warren game. Saturday at Leyden Weber will lead the team. Gene Stroker and Robinson are also seniors who will get a turn. Weber and Page are ends and the rest of the seniors are backfield men.

Warren Tackle Stops Arlington

Talking to Seidler over the telephone early in the week we mentioned some fine work by Aldrich and McDonald we observed in the first half of the Warren game. He said that Ehard and Weber did some stand out blocking in the second half which we did not see as we were back home getting ready for the trip to Grant with the Palatine squad. Coach Seidler told us to keep an eye on a Warren tackle named deLoof, who is all-conference if he continues to play as he did at Arlington. This boy looked good against Libertyville last year and was given honorable mention in our 1943 mythical selections. Looks like he is headed for higher honors this year.

Arlington Fans Hungry For Championship

Arlington fans are very much championship conscious and some are a little too optimistic. When it comes to figuring that the Cards have just two tough opponents, Crystal Lake and Libertyville, it becomes nothing but wishful thinking. One fan said he did not think the Cards would have much trouble with Libertyville. There is not a game on the Cards' schedule that won't be real tough and if they fail to play heads up ball they could lose any of them.

Look Out For Woodstock And Leyden

Coach Metcalf of Crystal Lake expects Arlington to lose at least two games and we gathered from his conversation Monday that he did not think there would be any team undefeated. He thinks that two very dangerous teams who might upset the favorites are Woodstock and Leyden. He thinks that both are strong defensively and that they will get tougher as the season progresses. We are inclined to agree with him. It is a tough league this year and the best advice we can give the Arlington boys is not to take too seriously the over confident statements of fans about easy games ahead. We are not kidding you when we say that you won't have any easy ones and for that matter it applies to all the rest. Let down and you're licked.

Rose Gives Us Dope On An Unusual Game

Mike Rose of North Chicago phoned us about a basketball officiating date Monday and had a word to say about the Antioch-Barrington game he worked last Friday. His report tends to discredit what I wrote Sunday in this column about Antioch being the weakling of the N. W. conference. He says that Antioch outplayed Barrington but just lost all the breaks in the form of intercepted passes, etc. Imagine a team outplaying their opponents and getting 10 first downs to their six and losing 33-0. That is what happened at Antioch. The losers' have a small squad and the loss of a fine tackle by the weekly eligibility rule hurt them plenty. So don't get too overconfident down there at Bensenville about a push-over Saturday when the Sequoits come to town. Remember, they beat Warren and Bob Kelton's team is no setup.

Pirates best in 2 years, but lose to Grant, 13-7

Local squad improves in spirit and play

Grant took advantage of the breaks in a very evenly played game to down Palatine 13-7 under the lights at Fox Lake Saturday night. It was the opening conference game and almost an exact duplicate of last year's opener between the same schools from the standpoint of score and game statistics. Palatine had a slight edge in all departments of play with excessive fumbling giving Grant the breaks they needed. It was the same last year. It can be said for the Palatine team that they played the best ball in two seasons Saturday.

Grant High scored in the first quarter when Thompson, a very hard hitting back, slashed off Palatine's right tackle and cut back past the whole Pirate secondary for a 44-yard touchdown run. Paustian's place kick for the extra point went under the bar.

Palatine came right back with a 60-yard drive for a touchdown. In the series of 12 plays Arendt reeled off one of 17 yards around end and Roger Smith took a wide lateral and ran 12 of the last 13 yards to the one yard line to set up a touchdown plunge by Capt. Tom Moody. Moody's short pass to Hansen scored the extra point and Palatine led 7-6 at the half.

In the third period Grant marched to the Pirate 16-yard line where their drive appeared to be ended when Arendt intercepted a fourth down pass. However on the second play Moody fumbled and Grant recovered on the Palatine 11-yard line. On the fourth play Mahoney scored the winning touchdown through the Palatine line, and a pass to Tylkowski converted.

In the last quarter Palatine tried desperately to score the tying or winning points. Due to a 41-yard run off tackle by Moody the Pirates had first down on the Grant 19, but a wild lateral pass was picked up by Grant and the threat ended. A little later Palatine started a drive from the Grant 41 and with Moody doing the bulk of the ball carrying and a 12-yard pass from Moody to Hansen, moved to the Grant five-yard line before losing the ball on downs. The game ended two plays later.

Thompson of Grant was the hardest hitting backfield man on the field and accounted for nearly two-thirds of his team's gains. Moody and Smith did some very nice work for Palatine and Stan Arendt, who replaced Kinsch at left half, gave Palatine the speed around the ends which had been lacking in earlier games. Moody gained 96 yards in 14 plays for a seven yard average; Arendt made 42 in eight attempts for an average of 5¼; and Smith averaged 4½ with 31 in seven tries. Palatine's spirit and improved line play was such as to give Pirate fans hope for a good season in spite of the opening defeat.

Comes thru 50 missions without a scratch

Lt. Dave Wilson, bombardier, now home

Now home after completing 50 missions as bombardier in a flying fortress is Dave Wilson of Arlington Heights. Dave arrived home Friday night and will remain in Arlington until October 23 when he will leave for reassignment station at Miami, Florida.

"I was plenty lucky on those 50 missions," said Dave. "Only injury I suffered the entire 6 months over there was one cut finger, received while whittling a piece of wood. We were on our way to the target and I failed to keep my mind on what I was doing.

"The 'hottest' raid we ever had was over Vienna, Austria. All my life I've heard how nice Vienna was, and have been told I ought to go there sometime. Well we went, and what a reception. They sure were glad to see us. They threw everything they had to greet us.

Ploesti Six Times

"We bombed Ploesti oil fields six times, more oil fields at Blechammer, Germany, twice, and many other spots. We hit the port of Toulon once, plus the railroad yards at Budapest, Hungary, and Bucharest, Roumania.

"Our squadron was at its best when we knocked out an airplane factory at Wienerneustadt, Austria. We hit the target right on the button, so we didn't have to go back. Rumors are that the unit will receive the Presidential Citation for that job.

"Big thing noticeable over Europe nowadays is the waning strength of Hitler's air force. Every time we go up there seem to be fewer fighters to intercept us. There are more anti-aircraft defenses, however. Many times the fighters find they have enough and pull away. Then the anti-aircraft batteries 'turn on the heat'."

Dave's job was that of bombardier, plus operating machine guns in the chin turret before and after the bombing run. He was trained on Liberators in the States, but was moved to the Forts as soon as he arrived overseas.

Forts Are Better

"I liked the Forts better anyway, for there seemed to be more room for the bombardier. I kept bumping my head in the Liberators. Our ship was never really named, for every time we got around to painting on the name, the plane would be so damaged that the partially completed title would be wiped out. But it was in everyone's mind to call her 'Miss Bourbon and Coke'.

"In spite of the ship being damaged, however, only two men suffered wounds during the entire 50 missions. They were small cuts from flying glass, a result of shrapnel. Both boys were all healed in two weeks.

"Only local man I met while overseas was Bob Thune, who was in port on the Isle of Capri a couple of days. I was there for a week's rest when I met him as he came from a barber shop. We had quite a talk together."

1st Lt. Wilson entered the service June 16, 1942. He took preflight training at Santa Ana, California, and advanced bombardier training at Roswell, New Mexico, where he was given his wings August 21, 1943. He then made four stops before going overseas: Boise, Idaho, Wendover Field, Utah, Pocatello, Idaho, and Muroc, California. He arrived overseas March 24 of this year.

Dave arrived back in the States last week (Tuesday) and reported to Fort Sheridan Friday. He is scheduled to report to Miami October 25, for reassignment, possibly that of instructor at some bombardier school.

Ens. Bob Rehling back from Pacific

Ensign Robert Rehling of Arlington Heights has just returned from a tour of duty aboard an LST in the Central and Southwest Pacific. He was given 3 weeks leave and reports to the West Coast October 24.

Bob served with the Ships Construction and Repair unit aboard the LST, covering most islands and invasions in the Pacific area the last 11 months. His ship was in the Gilberts, Marshalls and Guam, to name a few. He spent some time in the Solomons, and at New Guinea.

"The LST is an ocean-going vessel and some of our trips lasted two or three months. Others were just overnight. When we covered the Central Pacific we were usually on the longer trips.

"The LST is a slow-moving craft. We're always the first to leave for a new point, and the last to get back. The LST hauls almost anything, tanks, supplies, men, ordinance. The ship has four decks with living quarters for crew and other personnel.

"We found it comparatively easy going in many of the invasions. Even on Guam the naval forces had so softened shore defenses and chased away enemy aircraft, we had but two small air raids. Our job on such accosions was usually to haul in the engineers. They arrived on either D-Day or D-plus-1.

"As to future raids, they appear to be getting a little tougher. I suppose as we get nearer to Japan the Japs will put up more resistance, but you never can tell. We suffered just one hit in the 11 months we were out and several casualties resulted. Otherwise we were pretty lucky."

Only local man Bob met while at sea was Bob Dieball of Arlington Heights. While on Florida islands Ens. Rehling stopped off at the officer's club and there was Dieball as bartender.

Bob graduated from Valparaiso University early part of '43. He was called to active service in April of that year, going to midshipmen's school at Tower Hall, Chicago. Upon graduation in August, '43, he went aboard ship.

Ens. Rehling has left for St. Paul where he will probably marry Miss Lois Hennig next week.

Comes home after 2 yrs. overseas to see new son

Lt. Wilbert Busse in Africa, Italy

After two years overseas 1st Lt. Wilbert Busse of Mt. Prospect arrived home Friday. He came home to see the Statue of Liberty, ("the best sight in the world"), his wife and parents, and, most of all, his 25-month-old son, Thomas Wilbert. Tom was born a month after Lt. Busse left the States.

Lt. Busse entered the service May 29, 1941. He reported to Baltimore, Maryland, where he joining troops. All equipment was mounted on trucks with the men working out in the open in good weather. "There was never time to set up a tent," said Lt. Busse.

"We suffered a few enemy strafings, but they were few and far between. A few of the boys were hit, but the company never lost a man through enemy action. Two died from accidents, however. The strafings were usually surprise raids when the enemy planes were much like ours and hard to detect from a distance.

"Only persons I met from home were Bud Mosiman of Mt. Prospect, and my wife's brother from Wauconda. It was great seeing them. Neither meeting was a surprise, though, as we had written, arranging the times.

"Spent quite a time sightseeing around Italy after completing the missions first of August. Saw Rome and many ruins of ancient historical spots. They can have them for all of me."

Lt. Busse arrived home Friday night, and will be home for more than three weeks. He will report to Miami Beach, Florida, for reassignment, possibly some ordinance depot in the States.

ed a motor maintenance company. Normoyle, San Antonio, Texas, was the next stop, and then England in the summer of 1942.

Africa was his next station. Lt. Busse arrived with his company during the invasion November 11 of that year. Maintenance headquarters were set up and "the situation was stable". In October of '43 Wilbert moved to Italy. There the company followed the advanc-

Belgium

From Belgium this week comes word of Wallace Granzin of Arlington Heights.

"I received another Herald in today's mail and decided to write and tell you how much I appreciate it. It sure is great to take your mind off of 'Jerry' and relax and read the home town news as well as the letters from the fellas in all the four corners of the globe!

"You have probably heard quite a bit about the Second armored division since the armored breakthrough started. We have been working hard and have very little rest but the sooner we get to Berlin, the better!

"Belgium is quite similar to France. The people, weather and customs are about the same! The people sure are happy as they watch the first American tanks come through their town! The elderly people stand in their doorways and wipe tears of happiness from their eyes while the rest of them bring cognac, wine and cider as well as fruits and flowers. When the vehicles reach the outskirts of town they have as many flowers on them as the average flower garden.

"The center of the village looks somewhat like State and Madison streets at noon! It's a daily occurrence to us but it is something we will never forget. The free French are always at work in the villages, clearing them of 'jerry' snipers or any other remaining 'super-men.' They have no combat tactics but they certainly do the job well. They have helped considerably in the liberation of France!

"Just received a couple copies of the paper and they sure looked good. Latest issue was June 16."

His address is Cpl. Edward Doyle, 36359354, APO 920, % PM, San Francisco, Calif.

East coast

Now home on leave is Ensign Robert Eich of Arlington Heights. Bob became engaged while he was home, presenting a diamond to Miss Naomi Smart of Arlington Heights.

Bob entered ROTC at Northwestern in 1940, and went into service in June of '43. He was commissioned an Ensign February 26 of this year. Ensign Eich has just completed duty aboard a new destroyer on its inital shakedown cruise. He reports soon to the East Coast for sea duty aboard that destroyer.

New Guinea

From New Guinea comes word of an award recently made to Marvin Perry of Palatine for a field artillery test. Part of the award follows:

". . . on recent instrument test given to your battalion by this headquarters that you achieved a high percentage rating of 100 per cent in all tests taken by you. It is most gratifying to note that through your careful attention to duty and interest in your work that you have qualified yourself so admirably in your assignment . . ."

Marv does considerable instrument work with the field artillery, experience that will later come in handy in civilian survey work.

Now in New Guinea is J. T. Parish of Bensenville.

"I certainly do enjoy reading the paper, front to rear. Please change my address and keep it coming."

His address is: Sgt. J. T. Parish, 16125130, APO 322, c-o PM, San Francisco, Calif.

From New Guinea comes word of Arthur Gerschefske of Schaumburg. He has been awarded the extra infantryman's badge and combat medal in fighting against the Japs. His address is: Pfc Arthur Gerschefske, 36644965, APO 6, c-o PM, San Francisco, Calif.

Nebraska

Home on furlough from McCook, Nebraska, is Roger Tarnow of Palatine. Cpl. Tarnow arrived home last week (Wednesday) and is scheduled to return to Nebraska this coming Monday.

Italy

Sergeant Charles H. Schnake, whose home is on Route 1, Mt. Prospect, has been cited by his regiment of the 88th Infantry division and awarded the Combat infantryman badge for actual participation in combat with the enemy on the Fifth army front in Italy.

Standards for the badge are high. The decoration, which was recently authorized by the war department, is awarded to the infantry soldier who has proved his fighting ability in combat.

The handsome badge consists of a silver rifle set against a background of infantry blue, enclosed in a silver wreath.

Moving to the northern part of Italy with the infantry is Roy Garlisch of Palatine.

"Have seen Naples and can see that it was once a beautiful town. Have also seen Cassino, and there is nothing left. Also saw Rome, and it has been practically untouched by war. The country we're now in is best ever."

His address is: Pvt. Roy J. Garlisch, 36644957, APO 91, c-o PM, New York, N. Y.

T4 Clifford J. Wente, son of Mrs. Lydia M. Wente, 15 N. Benton, Palatine, serving in an AAF heavy bombardment wing somewhere in Italy, has been awarded the good conduct medal.

T4 Wente is the husband of Miss Bernice Metz,, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Lass, 4053 N. Whipple St., Chicago. He graduated from Palatine high school and was employed by the Gaare Oil company before entering the armed services.

L. O. K.

From Lok comes word of Bob Wright of Palatine, the first since September 6.

"Am off ship after a long boat ride. We had our first mail call since the first of September. I got 25 letters from home, and they were swell. Haven't received the paper yet and sure miss it. The Marines keep one from getting lonesome, as there is always plenty doing. Hope my friends keep writing me."

His address is: Pvt. Robert C. Wright, 552519, c-o FPO, San Francisco, Calif.

Now overseas is: Edward Busse of Mt. Prospect. His new address is: T5 Edward J. Busse, 366936-53, APO 17021, c-o PM, San Francisco, Calif. He was formerly stationed at Camp Roberts, Calif. LOK

Now out of the States is: Howard Jensen of Palatine. Howie was formerly stationed at Casper, Wyoming. His address is: T-Sgt. Howard Jensen, 16003828, APO 16597, AY 39, c-o PM, New York, N. Y.

Melvin Beese of Mt. Prospect has been reclassified and is supposedly on his way home. His present address is: Pfc. Melvin Beese, 36642798, APO 372, c-o PM, New York, N. Y.

WAVES

Lillian Georgiana Stange, 400 East Chicago ave., Palatine, has been sworn into the WAVES and will shortly go into training, it was announced today by the Office of Naval Officer Procurement, Board of Trade Building, Chicago, which directs recruiting for the Women's Reserve in this area.

Training will start at the U. S. Naval Training School, Bronx, New York, where a general indoctrination course is given new WAVES. Assignment to a duty station or to one of the many Naval Training Schools for further instruction in a specialized branch follows:

These training schools equip WAVES—who now number some 75,000, with 30,000 more still needed—to handle one of more than two hundred different jobs. Newly-enlisted WAVES earn a salary equal to the civilian equivalent of $141.50 per month. They also receive $200 worth of uniforms. Advancements, pay and privileges in the WAVES are the same as those granted the men of the Navy.

Lillian has a brother, George, in the navy, and a sister, Louise, in the WACs.

England

From England comes word of Harry Smart of Arlington Heights.

"Yesterday I received a notification informing me that I was the driver of the traveling bank, and I wish to thank wholeheartedly all my friends for their kind donations; the traveling bank is an organization that the service men and women of Arlington Heights will always remember, the people behind it cannot be thanked enough.

"Three days ago we celebrated a year in the Eto, and since I've been across the Heights Herald has been right with me, that's a five ounce (or whatever it weighs) package worth tenfold it's weight in gold and I'm still underestimating.

"The difference in climate since I moved from Ireland is somewhat better. I managed to take advantage of it and go swimming in the ocean a few times when the weather was really state-side. Believe there will be a shortage of salt though in the ocean for the next three months, as I think I swallowed half of it.

"The seashore districts around here are really beautiful, even discovered a juke box in one burg, first one I have seen in over a year. There keeping us on the go over here, every time a port falls we rush around like women on a dollar day in the Loop.

"Since I have been here I discovered that the Seabees are playing a lot more important role over here than many people suspect. You know what a Seabee is, don't you? He's the only guy that can look a Marine straight in the eye and say, 'What kept you, Bud?'

"Hope to run across a few boys from Arlington pretty soon, law of average ought to catch up to me. The latest scuttlebutt from head 93 has it that we'll be home for Christmas, but I heard that one before too.

"Can't get much of a meal in the towns over here, black market doesn't flourish like it did in Ireland, we could get steak, ham and eggs over there, we have to settle for the usual fish and chips over here though, somebody recommend me for a TS slip.

"Well, heres saying hello to Seabee Harvey Klehm down in the South Pacific. Keep 'em confused chief. Keep the Herald coming."

His address is: Harry Smart, S2c, c-o FPO, New York, N. Y.

Now in England after being wounded in France is Leonard Thake of Arlington Heights.

"Just a few lines to let you know that I am in England again. This time I'm in an army hospital, waiting for my leg to heal. I was wounded by shrapnel some time ago. I'm getting along very nicely thanks to the swell medical care I received after I was hit.

"It's very hard to be on my back day after day, and not be able to move much in any direction. I find it sort of difficult to write letters while in this position.

"Haven't heard from anyone in quite some time, and sure would like some mail."

His address is Pvt. Leonard Thake, 16002995, US Army Hosp. Plant 4116, APO 314, % PM, New York, N. Y. Come on you penpushers.

Now in England is Wesley Felden of Palatine. He is in the field artillery. Pvt. Felden's wife, the former Eva Dreer of Arlington Heights, is living with her parents. They have a baby girl, Donna Marie. Felden's address is: Pfc W. B. Felden, 36622250, APO 403, c-o PM, New York, N. Y. (APO 403 is also in France, so we're putting our money on another trip soon for Wes.)

So. France

From South France comes word of Al Duenn of Arlington Heights.

"I suppose you are surprised to know I am now over in France. (We weren't, as WUS stated three weeks ago he was believed to be there.) As far as I'm concerned all the countries I've been in so far are all alike.

"I just hope I don't have to have any more landings. The only landing I want to still make is at home. I've got almost two years overseas and am fed up with it. These Krauts ought to realize they are beaten. For every one of us they get, they suffer twice as much.

"The French people are really tops. We've been traveling so fast that our food is sometimes a little late. The people go into their gardens and give us potatoes, eggs and chicken, melons, wine, bread, tomatoes and everything else. We captured a German ration dump and lived on that a while. They eat pretty good."

His address is: Cpl. Albert E. Duenn, 36003997, APO 3, c-o PM, New York, N. Y.

England

2nd Lt. Ralph W. Wiehrdt, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Wiehrdt, 244 E. Chicago Ave., Palatine, has been awarded the air medal. Lieut. Wiehrdt is a bombardier on a flying fortress in a veteran heavy bombardment group commanded by Colonel George L. Robinson, Los Angeles, Calif., and is stationed at an Eighth air force bomber station, England.

His air medal citation read, in part, "for meritorious achievement in combat during six heavy bombardment missions over Germany and German-occupied Europe."

Lieut. Wiehrdt's wife, Mrs. Mildred A. Wiehrdt, lives at 2324 Miller Ave., Alliance, Ohio. Before entering the AAF, Lieut. Wiehrdt was a clerk in the purchasing department of the Texas company, Chicago. He was graduated from Palatine Township high school in 1936.

From an Eighth air force station in England comes word of Clarence Hill of Arlington Heights.

"Has been some time since I've written but am getting along fine. Took a short trip recently and couldn't write. We're quite busy and I retire right after chow at 6 p. m .many times."

Wisconsin

Pvt. Edward C. Welflin of Wheeling is at home on a week's furlough between quarters at Ripon College, Wisconsin. Pvt. Welflin has been enjoying his college work and hopes to be able to return to college as a civilian after the war. He returns to Ripon October 8 for three more months of studies before going to camp for basic training.

Florida

The Paul Stems of S. Quintens Rd. received word from their son, Robert, that he was transferred to Tyndall Field, Florida. Robert is attending school there. His address is Pvt. Robert Stem 36759044, Sec. K., Tyndall Field, Florida.

Marshalls

Eugene Alsdorf, SK2c of Wheeling is still on the Marshall Islands and is now a 2nd class Petty Officer. He writes that he likes his job very much, although he is putting in long hours, from 6 a. m. to 11 p. m. at night. Besides his regular office work, he is putting in time at the officers club. Recently some of his pals were home on furlough and called on his wife, Gloria, and their little son. Eugene hopes to be home on leave soon and is eagerly looking forward to seeing his young son for the first time.

LIFE WITH MOTHER

Sept. 29, 1944

Dear Eleanore:

My letter this week is merely a copy of "Memos to Eleanore" from the table-book. Here goes:

Jack broke his right collar-bone in the football game with Lake Forest last Friday! Fortunately, Rob and Jim were there to take him to the Highland Park hospital and Doctor Kellogg Speed. He is wearing a T-shape splint that keeps him in a rigid position at all times, so Rob and I help our darling hero in and out of bed, practically dress him, and Rob drives him to and from school every day. I've always thought mother's have a sixth sense, the one called premonition . . . now I KNOW it.

George came home from school on Thursday with aches and pains and a high temperature. Of course, I thought of the worst disease possible and after a night spent running in and out of his room to give him aspirin and cover him, I telephoned our good Doctor Sauer at his home at seven o'clock in the morning. As usual, he was calm and patient with me, (after eighteen years of association, I suppose he understands my fatalistic attitude). Well, thank God, it turned out it wasn't what I had been thinking, but a throat infection of the 'flu' type which was bad enough. He spent several days in bed taking sulfa, and is now able to be back in school.

Edward's sweet little pony Star ran into a barbedwire fence and tore a piece out of a front leg. We were so concerned over the accident that we called the local veterinary, who prescribed medication, but didn't feel it was necessary to sew the tear together. He assured us that in a month's time, we will hardly be able to see where the leg was injured. (So much for the casualties in the household).

The clock I bought at the Antique show went absolutely berserk as soon as I got it into the house. I put it on the table and begged Rob to come quickly and wind the chimes and the rest of the works. He obligingly did so, but in a skeptically manner I thought. Nevertheless, I stood by wearing that happy "see-what-I've-got" smile, when suddenly the darling old thing let out like firemen going to a fire. The hour and minute hands frantically chased one another around and around while the chimes, in anything but a musical way, went bang, bang, bang twelve times! Don't ask me to describe the expression on Rob's face . . . I couldn't. Jack said, "It sounds like all H - -'s let loose"! I knew that wasn't the time to mention the beautiful rosewood of the case or it's delicately designed steeples, so I sat down and laughed. What else was there to do? But, I could have murdered Rob when he pointedly remarked: "Thought you told me flowers were painted on the glass? If you'll take a good look, my dear, you'll see that it is a picture of Swiss mountain GOATS!" Just the same I'm going to take the clock to a repairman, for I'm certain it's worthy of fixing. An even if it isn't I'll still love it, so there!

A note in the mail from Jim this morning reads: "Mary and Rob, Cheer up! Only two more football players to go; only two more clavicle's to break. Best wishes, Jim." Consoling, isn't it?

Angela's list of canning is so impressive I must send it on to you. 145 jars of apple sauce plus tomatoes and tomato juice, chili sauce, cherries pitted for pies and sauce, cherry jelly, cherry jam, cherry preserve, mince meat, beets and pickled beets, green and waxed beans, dill pickles, peaches for sauce and peach preserve, apricot preserve, mint jelly, plum jelly, pears, carrots, apple butter, tomato pickles and pepper relish. This is a total of 581 assorted jars, but mostly coffe jars, which I know will hold a quart and a cup of ingredients. She is making grape jelly, bread and butter pickles and piccalli this week. Nearly all of the fruits and vegetables were grown in their own garden! Isn't that a record hard to beat?

Have you noticed the increased number of elderly couples holding hands while strolling these days? It strikes me as being a very pleasant 'sign of the times'. Sort of a 'nice' contagious disease taken from the men in service and their sweethearts.

We have acquired a new pet . . . a Persian cat. She is golden-red and white with a sweet face. She's afflicted with a fear complex, however, and will run and hide under the sofa at the slightest disturbance. Her favorite hiding place is under the lid of the piano . . . the part that covers the strings! We don't mind her idiosyncrasies too much because she is a splendid mouser, and we DO have mice in this old house.

We're becoming more and more impressed with Dewey's campaign. It looks like he's going to be a stiff opponent for F. D. R. Did you know that Gov. Dewey and his wife were students at the Chicago Musical College when I was there? No, of course, I didn't know them, but wish I did. Isn't it interesting that the older the President gets the more he resembles Woodrow Wilson? And, where oh where, could the English find another person to look more like 'John Bull' (or any bull for that matter) than Churchill?

A note George received in school reads: "Attack at my house at four-thirty, Dickie" and on the other side of the paper, "My Mom isn't home." Evidently, Dickie's Mom feels the way I do about these youngsters who play war every spare moment.

The children in our schools here are gathering milkweed pods and carrying them to school in large bags, where they will be collected and processed to use in place of kapok in the linings of life-preservers. A country where the soldiers and sailors call their guns 'bazooka's' and their life-preservers 'Mae Wests' can never lose a war. Their sense of humor will save them.

In case your tomatoes are still ripening and you feel the need to make something different, let me give you Irma Mueller's scrumptious recipe for barbecue sauce. It is delicious with left-over meat, too:

2 onions (cut fine).
2 tbls. salt.
1½ teas. tumeric.
1 teas. gr. mustard.
1 teas. gr. cloves.
1 teas. gr. allspice.
1 teas. celery seed.
2 bunches celery.
2 cups cider vinegar.
2 cups sugar.

Boil 2 hours over low flame. 15 minutes before removing break up 8 or 9 ginger snaps. (The latter thickens it just enough).

We're really goin on a 'bat' to celebrate our 20th wedding anniversary . . . to the Kungsholm for dinner and the Ballet Russe afterwards!

Will tell you all about it in my next.

Love to all,

Mary.

Variety Crops

All told, farmers grow about 300 different crops though the principal subsistence of the United States comes from about 30 crops. This is about average for temperate zone nations. China, on the other hand, produces and harvests about 6,000 different plants of nutritional value, which is one reason why that country has been able to survive the Japanese onslaught.

New Guinea

From New Guinea comes word of an award recently made to Marvin Perry of Palatine for a field artillery test. Part of the award follows:

". . . on recent instrument test given to your battalion by this headquarters that you achieved a high percentage rating of 100 per cent in all tests taken by you. It is most gratifying to note that through your careful attention to duty and interest in your work that you have qualified yourself so admirably in your assignment . . ."

Marv does considerable instrument work with the field artillery, experience that will later come in handy in civilian survey work.

Now in New Guinea is J. T. Parish of Bensenville.

His address is: Sgt. J. T. Parish, 16125130, APO 322, c-o PM, San Francisco, Calif.

From New Guinea comes word of Arthur Gerschefske of Schaumburg. He has been awarded the extra infantryman's badge and combat medal in fighting against the Japs. His address is: Pfc Arthur Gerschefske, 36644965, APO 6, c-o PM, San Francisco, Calif.

Italy

Sergeant Charles H. Schnake, whose home is on Route 1, Mt. Prospect, has been cited by his regiment of the 88th Infantry division and awarded the Combat infantryman badge for actual participation in combat with the enemy on the Fifth army front in Italy.

Standards for the badge are high. The decoration, which was recently authorized by the war department, is awarded to the infantry soldier who has proved his fighting ability in combat.

The handsome badge consists of a silver rifle set against a background of infantry blue, enclosed in a silver wreath.

Moving to the northern part of Italy with the infantry is Roy Garlisch of Palatine.

"Have seen Naples and can see that it was once a beautiful town. Have also seen Cassino, and there is nothing left. Also saw Rome, and it has been practically untouched by war. The country we're now in is best ever."

His address is: Pvt. Roy J. Garlisch, 36644957, APO 91, c-o PM, New York, N. Y.

T4 Clifford J. Wente, son of Mrs. Lydia M. Wente, 15 N. Benton, Palatine, serving in an AAF heavy bombardment wing somewhere in Italy, has been awarded the good conduct medal.

T4 Wente is the husband of Miss Bernice Metz,, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Lass, 4053 N. Whipple St., Chicago. He graduated from Palatine high school and was employed by the Gaare Oil company before entering the armed services.

L. O. K.

From Lok comes word of Bob Wright of Palatine, the first since September 6.

"Am off ship after a long boat ride. We had our first mail call since the first of September. I got 25 letters from home, and they were swell. Haven't received the paper yet and sure miss it. The Marines keep one from getting lonesome, as there is always plenty doing. Hope my friends keep writing me."

His address is: Pvt. Robert C. Wright, 552519, c-o FPO, San Francisco, Calif.

Now overseas is: Edward Busse of Mt. Prospect. His new address is: T5 Edward J. Busse, 36693653, APO 17021, c-o PM, San Francisco, Calif. He was formerly stationed at Camp Roberts, Calif.

LOK

Now out of the States is: Howard Jensen of Palatine. Howie was formerly stationed at Casper, Wyoming. His address is: T-Sgt. Howard Jensen, 16003828, APO 16597, AY 39, c-o PM, New York, N. Y.

Melvin Beese of Mt. Prospect has been reclassified and is supposedly on his way home. His present address is: Pfc. Melvin Beese, 36642798, APO 372, c-o PM, New York, N. Y.

WAVES

Lillian Georgiana Stange, 400 East Chicago ave., Palatine, has been sworn into the WAVES and will shortly go into training, it was announced today by the Office of Naval Officer Procurement, Board of Trade Building, Chicago, which directs recruiting for the Women's Reserve in this area.

Training will start at the U. S. Naval Training School, Bronx, New York, where a general indoctrination course is given new WAVES. Assignment to a duty station or to one of the many Naval Training Schools for further instruction in a specialized branch follows:

These training schools equip WAVES—who now number some 75,000, with 30,000 more still needed—to handle one of more than two hundred different jobs. Newly-enlisted WAVES earn a salary equal to the civilian equivalent of $141.50 per month. They also receive $200 worth of uniforms. Advancements, pay and privileges in the WAVES are the same as those granted the men of the Navy.

Lillian has a brother, George, in the navy, and a sister, Louise, in the WACs.

England

From England comes word of Harry Smart of Arlington Heights.

"Yesterday I received a notification informing me that I was the driver of the traveling bank, and I wish to thank wholeheartedly all my friends for their kind donations; the traveling bank is an organization that the service men and women of Arlington Heights will always remember, the people behind it cannot be thanked enough.

"Three days ago we celebrated a year in the Eto, and since I've been across the Heights Herald has been right with me, that's a five ounce (or whatever it weighs) package worth tenfold it's weight in gold and I'm still underestimating.

"The difference in climate since I moved from Ireland is somewhat better. I managed to take advantage of it and go swimming in the ocean a few times when the weather was really state-side. Believe there will be a shortage of salt though in the ocean for the next three months, as I think I swallowed half of it.

"The seashore districts around here are really beautiful, even discovered a juke box in one burg, first one I have seen in over a year. There keeping us on the go over here, every time a port falls we rush around like women on a dollar day in the Loop.

"Since I have been here I discovered that the Seabees are playing a lot more important role over here than many people suspect. You know what a Seabee is, don't you? He's the only guy that can look a Marine straight in the eye and say, 'What kept you, Bud?'

"Hope to run across a few boys from Arlington pretty soon, law of average ought to catch up to me. The latest scuttlebutt from head 93 has it that we'll be home for Christmas, but I heard that one before too.

"Can't get much of a meal in the towns over here, black market doesn't flourish like it did in Ireland, we could get steak, ham and eggs over there, we have to settle for the usual fish and chips over here though, somebody recommend me for a TS slip.

"Well, heres saying hello to Seabee Harvey Klehm down in the South Pacific. Keep 'em confused chief. Keep the Herald coming."

His address is: Harry Smart, S2c, c-o FPO, New York, N. Y.

Now in England after being wounded in France is Leonard Thake of Arlington Heights.

"Just a few lines to let you know that I am in England again. This time I'm in an army hospital, waiting for my leg to heal. I was wounded by shrapnel some time ago. I'm getting along very nicely thanks to the swell medical care I received after I was hit.

"It's very hard to be on my back day after day, and not be able to move much in any direction. I find it sort of difficult to write letters while in this position.

"Haven't heard from anyone in quite some time, and sure would like some mail."

His address is Pvt. Leonard Thake, 16002995, US Army Hosp. Plant 4116, APO 314, % PM, New York, N. Y. Come on you penpushers.

Now in England is Wesley Felden of Palatine. He is in the field artillery. Pvt. Felden's wife, the former Eva Dreer of Arlington Heights, is living with her parents. They have a baby girl, Donna Marie. Felden's address is: Pfc W. B. Felden, 36622250, APO 403, c-o PM, New York, N. Y. (APO 403 is also in France, so we're putting our money on another trip soon for Wes.)

So. France

From South France comes word of Al Duenn of Arlington Heights.

"I suppose you are surprised to know I am now over in France. (We weren't, as WUS stated three weeks ago he was believed to be there.) As far as I'm concerned all the countries I've been in so far are all alike.

"I just hope I don't have to have any more landings. The only landing I want to still make is at home. I've got almost two years overseas and am fed up with it. These Krauts ought to realize they are beaten. For every one of us they get, they suffer twice as much.

"The French people are really tops. We've been traveling so fast that our food is sometimes a little late. The people go into their gardens and give us potatoes, eggs and chicken, melons, wine, bread, tomatoes and everything else. We captured a German ration dump and lived on that a while. They eat pretty good."

His address is: Cpl. Albert E. Duenn, 36003997, APO 3, c-o PM, New York, N. Y.

England

2nd Lt. Ralph W. Wiehrdt, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Wiehrdt, 244 E. Chicago Ave., Palatine, has been awarded the air medal. Lieut. Wiehrdt is a bombardier on a flying fortress in a veteran heavy bombardment group commanded by Colonel George L. Robinson, Los Angeles, Calif., and is stationed at an Eighth air force bomber station, England.

His air medal citation read, in part, "for meritorious achievement in combat during six heavy bombardment missions over Germany and German-occupied Europe."

Lieut. Wiehrdt's wife, Mrs. Mildred A. Wiehrdt, lives at 2324 Miller Ave., Alliance, Ohio. Before entering the AAF, Lieut. Wiehrdt was a clerk in the purchasing department of the Texas company, Chicago. He was graduated from Palatine Township high school in 1936.

From an Eighth air force station in England comes word of Clarence Hill of Arlington Heights.

"Has been some time since I've written but am getting along fine. Took a short trip recently and couldn't write. We're quite busy and I retire right after chow at 6 p. m. many times."

His address is: Sgt. Clarence Hill, 36317608, APO 634, c-o PM, New York, N. Y.

Wisconsin

Pvt. Edward C. Welflin of Wheeling is at home on a week's furlough between quarters at Ripon College, Wisconsin. Pvt. Welflin has been enjoying his college work and hopes to be able to return to college as a civilian after the war. He returns to Ripon October 8 for three more months of studies before going to camp for basic training.

Florida

The Paul Stems of S. Quintens Rd. received word from their son, Robert, that he was transferred to Tyndall Field, Florida. Robert is attending school there. His address is Pvt. Robert Stem 36759044, Sec. K., Tyndall Field, Florida.

LIFE WITH MOTHER

Sept. 29, 1944

Dear Eleanore:

My letter this week is merely a copy of "Memos to Eleanore" from the table-book. Here goes:

Jack broke his right collar-bone in the football game with Lake Forest last Friday! Fortunately, Rob and Jim were there to take him to the Highland Park hospital and Doctor Kellogg Speed. He is wearing a T-shape splint that keeps him in a rigid position at all times, so Rob and I help our darling hero in and out of bed, practically dress him, and Rob drives him to and from school every day. I've always thought mother's have a sixth sense, the one called premonition . . . now I KNOW it.

George came home from school on Thursday with aches and pains and a high temperature. Of course, I thought of the worst disease possible and after a night spent running in and out of his room to give him aspirin and cover him, I telephoned our good Doctor Sauer at his home at seven o'clock in the morning. As usual, he was calm and patient with me, (after eighteen years of association, I suppose he understands my fatalistic attitude). Well, thank God, it turned out it wasn't what I had been thinking, but a throat infection of the 'flu' type which was bad enough. He spent several days in bed taking sulfa, and is now able to be back in school.

Edward's sweet little pony Star ran into a barbedwire fence and tore a piece out of a front leg. We were so concerned over the accident that we called the local veterinary, who prescribed medication, but didn't feel it was necessary to sew the tear together. He assured us that in a month's time, we will hardly be able to see where the leg was injured. (So much for the casualties in the household).

The clock I bought at the Antique show went absolutely berserk as soon as I got it into the house. I put it on the table and begged Rob to come quickly and wind the chimes and the rest of the works. He obligingly did so, but in a skeptically manner I thought. Nevertheless, I stood by wearing that happy "see-what-I've-got" smile, when suddenly the darling old thing let out like firemen going to a fire. The hour and minute hands frantically chased one another around and around while the chimes, in anything but a musical way, went bang, bang, bang twelve times! Don't ask me to describe the expression on Rob's face . . . I couldn't. Jack said, "It sounds like all H - -'s let loose"! I knew that wasn't the time to mention the beautiful rosewood of the case or it's delicately designed steeples, so I sat down and laughed. What else was there to do? But, I could have murdered Rob when he pointedly remarked: "Thought you told me flowers were painted on the glass? If you'll take a good look, my dear, you'll see that it is a picture of Swiss mountain GOATS!" Just the same I'm going to take the clock to a repairman, for I'm certain it's worthy of fixing. An even if it isn't I'll still love it, so there!

A note in the mail from Jim this morning reads: "Mary and Rob, Cheer up! Only two more football players to go; only two more clavicle's to break. Best wishes, Jim." Consoling, isn't it?

Angela's list of canning is so impressive I must send it on to you. 145 jars of apple sauce plus tomatoes and tomato juice, chili sauce, cherries pitted for pies and sauce, cherry jelly, cherry jam, cherry preserve, mince meat, beets and pickled beets, green and waxed beans, dill pickles, peaches for sauce and peach preserve, apricot preserve, mint jelly, plum jelly, pears, carrots, apple butter, tomato pickles and pepper relish. This is a total of 581 assorted jars, but mostly coffe jars, which I know will hold a quart and a cup of ingredients. She is making grape jelly, bread and butter pickles and piccalli this week. Nearly all of the fruits and vegetables were grown in their own garden! Isn't that a record hard to beat?

Have you noticed the increased number of elderly couples holding hands while strolling these days? It strikes me as being a very pleasant 'sign of the times'. Sort of a 'nice' contagious disease taken from the men in service and their sweethearts.

We have acquired a new pet . . . a Persian cat. She is golden-red and white with a sweet face. She's afflicted with a fear complex, however, and will run and hide under the sofa at the slightest disturbance. Her favorite hiding place is under the lid of the piano . . . the part that covers the strings! We don't mind her idiosyncrasies too much because she is a splendid mouser, and we DO have mice in this old house.

We're becoming more and more impressed with Dewey's campaign. It looks like he's going to be a stiff opponent for F. D. R. Did you know that Gov. Dewey and his wife were students at the Chicago Musical College when I was there? No, of course, I didn't know them, but wish I did. Isn't it interesting that the older the President gets the more he resembles Woodrow Wilson? And, where oh where, could the English find another person to look more like 'John Bull' (or any bull for that matter) than Churchill?

A note George received in school reads: "Attack at my house at four-thirty, Dickie" and on the other side of the paper, "My Mom isn't home." Evidently, Dickie's Mom feels the way I do about these youngsters who play war every spare moment.

The children in our schools here are gathering milkweed pods and carrying them to school in large bags, where they will be collected and processed to use in place of kapok in the linings of life-pre-servers. A country where the soldiers and sailors call their guns 'bazooka's' and their life-preservers 'Mae Wests' can never lose a war. Their sense of humor will save them.

In case your tomatoes are still ripening and you feel the need to make something different, let me give you Irma Mueller's scrumptious recipe for barbecue sauce. It is delicious with left-over meat, too:

2 qts. tomatoes peeled, cut and packed tight.
2 green peppers.
2 onions (cut fine).
2 tbls. salt.
1½ teas. tumeric.
1 teas. gr. mustard.
1 teas. gr. cloves.
1 teas. gr. allspice.
1 teas. celery seed.
2 bunches celery.
2 cups cider vinegar.
2 cups sugar.

Boil 2 hours over low flame. 15 minutes before removing break up 8 or 9 ginger snaps. (The latter thickens it just enough).

We're really goin on a 'bat' to celebrate our 20th wedding anniversary . . . to the Kungsholm for dinner and the Ballet Russe afterwards!

Will tell you all about it in my next.

Love to all,

Mary.

Variety Crops

All told, farmers grow about 300 different crops though the principal subsistence of the United States comes from about 30 crops. This is about average for temperate zone nations. China, on the other hand, produces and harvests about 6,000 different plants of nutritional value, which is one reason why that country has been able to survive the Japanese onslaught.

Washington

From Pasco, Wash., comes word of Anne Osbon, of Palatine, who is stationed in the WAVES.

"I wish to thank Rose Mosser and whoever else is responsible for my receiving the Palatine Enterprise. It does help keep me informed of the others at home, in service and also bring home closer to me when I read the town activities."

Her address is: Anne Osbon S1c, A & R Dept., USN Air Station, Pasco, Wash.

From Seattle, Wash., comes word of Elmer Schmitz of Arlington Heights.

"I am notifying you of my change of address to 909 4th Ave., Seattle, Wash.

His address is: E. Schmitz, 909 4th Ave., Seattle, Wash.

Atlantic

Home for two days the past week was Byron Baxter of Arlington Heights. Byron has been serving aboard a troop transport the past year, "cruising" the Atlantic.

Accompanying Byron home was his wife, an Alabama girl, whom he married prior to leaving on his latest cruise.

"We take them over fit as a fiddle, and bring them back pretty well worn out," said Byron. He was home last week Tuesday to Friday. His address is: Byron Baxter, MuS1c, c-o FPO, Boston, Mass.

Missouri

Home on furlough from Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., is Harold Nebel of Arlington Heights. Pfc Nebel arrived home Monday, and is scheduled to return to Wood October 16. Future plans include maneuvers when he returns to Missouri.

Enlist

Two young men from Arlington Heights stood shoulder with a group of other 17 year old men at the Chicago Army Air Force Examining Board, 166 W. Van Buren Street, as the blue and silver wings of the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve were pinned on their coat lapels.

"Some day these same young men may fly and fight side by side as members of an AAF Air Combat Crew," declared Capt. John H. Patterson, newly appointed President of the Chicago Board.

Kenneth Koenig and Eugene Stroker of Arlington Heights are this area's newest army air force enlistees. Both boys are scheduled to graduate the end of this school year. Kenneth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Koenig, 642 S. Mitchell ave., and Gene is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Stroker, 815 N. Pine. Both boys are members of the Civil Air Patrol.

"Whatever spot on an air combat team they fill—gunner, bombardier, navigator, or pilot—they will be playing a vital part in the struggle for victory. Teamwork is the key to AAF successes in battles in the skies," Capt. Patterson stated.

Young men of seventeen may apply at the Chicago AAF Examining Board for enrollment in the Army Air Corps Enlisted Reserve. Upon passing the preliminary qualifying mental and physical tests they will be members of the Army Air Forces on inactive duty. They will not be called for training until after they have reached their eighteenth birthday. All who qualify for this training from civilian life, remain in the Army Air Forces and are not transferred to other branches as rumored.

When called, these young men from our community will first be given a "basic" training. During this period, they will take "aptitude" tests to determine whether they will be classified for training as Gunner, Bombardier, Navigator or Pilot. Gunners receive silver wings like other members of the air combat crews, and are given non-commissioned officer ratings. Those who qualify for training as pilots, bombardiers, or navigators, are commissioned 2nd lieutenants or appointed flight officers.

Tony Felker back home after broken leg D-Day

Limb responds to treatment says Tony

Now home on furlough after suffering a broken leg when his LCT blew up on D-Day is Tony Felker of Arlington Heights. Tony was injured when the boat his outfit was traveling in towards France struck a mine and blew up, killing 75 per cent of the men aboard.

"I got out lucky," says Tony, "and hope to be able to walk around with a limp." He was sent to an English hospital until last month when he was sent back to the States. At present he is traveling on crutches.

Anthony entered service November 28, 1942. His line of camps attended include Ft. Sill, Okla., where he joined the field artillery; Camp Gordon, Ga., where he joined the fourth division; thence to Ft. Dix, N. J.; Camp Edwards, Mass.; Camp Carrabelle, Fla.; Ft. Jackson, S. C., and Camp Kilmer, N. J.

Upon landing in England he underwent more training, including five mock invasions on the coast of England. His outfit also participated in considerable gun practice on the Moors in England.

"That invasion trip was quite a thrill. The ships and barges were five and six abreast and extended in front and in back as far as you could see. There was plenty of enemy action but we seemed safe enough until we struck the mine, evidently an under water variety.

"I was in the water only about five minutes. When picked up I was transferred immediately to an LST, and raced back to England in a day and a half trip to the first of three hospitals.

"Only local man I ever saw while overseas was Austin Buncik of Arlington Heights. I saw him twice in England. It was great seeing him and I was sorry to later learn of his death."

Tony wears four ribbons on his chest: Purple Heart, Good Conduct, European Theater of Operations, and American Theater of Operations. He arrived back in the States September 17, spending six days in Halloran General hospital. He was then sent to Billings General hospital, Ft. Benjamin Harrison, at Indianapolis, Ind.

"Only thing the men who got wounded with me were sorry about was that they didn't get to use their equipment. It did seem too bad. Our field artillery outfit had set a pretty good record."

Tony was home for three days this trip, reporting back to Indiana Monday. He is scheduled to be home again later for seven days. He is getting the "Whirlpool treatment" for his leg, and the pain is about gone, reports Tony. "The knee is not so hot and the ankle is plenty stiff."

California

From Port Hueneme, Calif., comes word of Forrest Davis of Arlington Heights.

"Just a line to correct my mailing address. I am about 60 miles south of Los Angeles and am enjoying the California weather. It is ideal here. I am about 50 miles from Hollywood and have been there twice on the way to Los Angeles.

"Saturday I saw the UCLA vs Southern California game at the Los Angeles stadium. It was quite a game with the temperature 101° and perhaps 120o in the stadium. UCLA scored two touchdowns in the final two minutes to tie the score 13-13. I saw the Angels beat Portland a double-header at Wrigley Field Sunday.

"The weather is much better here than around San Francisco. I only stayed at Camp Parks five days. I have all my overseas equipment and apparently this is the last stop in the States.

His address is: Forrest F. Davis, SK3c, 33rd Spec. Bat., Co. C, Plat. 3, ABD, Camp Rousseau, Port Hueneme, Calif.

From Fort Ord, California, comes word of Edwin Bruns of Palatine.

"We just got down to California and it is alright in some ways, but I don't like it. The sun doesn't get out before 10:00 in the morning and it disappears at 4:00 in the afternoon. I don't know how long I will be at this 'Fort' but I don't think it will be very long before I will move. Will be looking forward to the paper."

His address is Pfc. Edwin W. Bruns, USA 36731340, 504 Med. Coll Co., Fort Ord, California.

Captain Donald E. Welflin of Wheeling has received a new assignment with the Air Force Base Unit at Hamilton Field, California. After several weeks of waiting Don is glad to be back in harness. Last week end he joined Frank Behm of Oakland in deer hunting and was fortunate to bag a deer.

Still at San Diego, Calif., is Frank Felker of Arlington Heights. Frank entered service May 10 of this year, going directly to San Diego for boot training. He is stationed at Camp Miramer, San Diego, Calif.

Home on leave from San Diego, California, was Robert Koeppen of Arlington Heights. He arrived home last week (Tuesday) and left this Tuesday. F1c Koeppen has been stationed at San Diego, California, and will leave for sea duty as soon as his ship is ready.

Russells

Covering much of the Pacific is Pete Philippe of Palatine. According to his letter, though, he was in the Russell Islands when he wrote. Thus we're putting him there now.

"I haven't written earlier to let you know that I have been receiving your paper regularly, because I thought I might get there soon and do it personally. My orders came in today and my plans are changed.

"I have been overseas seven and a half months now. During that time I was on shore patrol in New Caledonia, then I came up to the Solomon area. I then stopped at the Russell Island. Now I am going to Guadalcanal, waiting for transportation to Pearl Harbor. From there my destination is vague, somewhere in the Marshall Islands. From there I don't know.

"From the paper I notice a lot of my pals out here: I have known several, but I haven't been able to look them up. The Pacific is too big.

"These island paradises are very beautiful especially in the evening when the moon comes up—but I still would rather see the moon come up in good old Palatine! Hope to see you Christmas.

His address is: P. Philippe, CSPA, c-o FPO, San Francisco, Calif.

France

From France this week comes word of Eugene Kelly of Palatine.

"The Enterprises are coming in now, and I am getting caught up on my news. I surely hope the Park District deal goes through. The old town could use it.

"It's getting chilly now. In fact, winter seems too near. I surely hope we are finished fighting before we get caught in a real old-fashioned blizzard."

Information of the award of the bronze medal to Gene has reached our desk. It states in part, "to Kelly, Francis E., 1st Lt. . . . heroic achievements in performance of outstanding service against the enemy in France on 3 August 1944".

His address is 1st Lt. Francis E. Kelly, 0-1165409, APO 2, % PM, New York, N. Y.

Infantry has toughest job says returned vet

Eddie Greinke of Mt. Prospect back in states

"The infantry has one of the toughest jobs in the army," said Edwin Greinke of Mt. Prospect, recently returned from service in Italy. "I know it takes cooperation of all of the branches of service to successfully run a war, but, for my money, the infantry has one of the toughest jobs, getting comparatively little credit for it."

Eddie was overseas 10 months, serving in the infantry one month and a trucking outfit the rest of the time. He went overseas in November of '43, going to Africa. He was then shipped to the Anzion beachhead as an infantryman. Ed was later transferred to a trucking outfit, serving as a medic.

"The infantryman's life is certainly not one of ease. You have to stay in your foxhole all day in order to keep alive, and then move around at night or at dawn with extreme care. At Anzio the Nazis could see every move we made, and had the entire beachhead under their artillery control. They shelled us at will.

"I didn't spend much time in the infantry, so didn't have much time in a foxhole. But plenty of fellows are spending their time on the ground 24 hours a day and it's no picnic. Even when they get a few days away from the lines, they're still sleeping on the ground. They are then given more training with replacements, where they work just as hard as in actual combat.

"My hat's off to that third division which participated in its fifth invasion when they landed at South France. Al Duenn of Arlington Heights is one of them. I was stationed in the third for a short time, but never saw Al. That group invaded Africa, Sicily, Italy at Salerno, Italy at Anzio, and then South France.

Hauls Supplies

"Part of my time overseas I spent as a medic attached to a trucking outfit. We were stationed at Naples, an advantage for us. The boys would drive truckloads of supplies onto LSTs, drive them off at Anzio, then back to Naples. There wasn't much doing at Naples. The Germans and our own Navy had done a lot of damage to power stations and water system. Thus much of our work was 'sick call' every morning among civilians as well as the Army. The U. S. brought in both food and water for the civilians, just as they did everywhere.

"When we moved to Anzio just before starting the big push towards Rome we had a lot more work. Our job was the continuous one of moving supplies. We followed right behind the troops.

"Only person I saw from home while overseas was Don Besander of Mt. Prospect. I had been writing to him and met him at Naples. It was swell seeing someone from home. Though I received but one copy of the Herald while over there, it was a welcome sight. I sure appreciated that paper as it gave me all the news from home, plus telling me where a lot of my friends were."

Eddie was scheduled to report to Miami, Fla., Monday, for reassignment. He went into service in June of last year, training at Ft. McClellan, Ala.

"American Airlines Inc. has placed an order with the Douglas Aircraft Co. for 55 huge, four-motored Flagships. Deliveries are scheduled to begin about June, 1945. The DC-4 has been more thoroughly tested than any other plane ever put into service by an Airline—tested in more than one hundred million miles of war operations all over the world . . . Never in the history of aviation has any other transport plane made such amazing records for fast, dependable and efficient performance under all conditions."

Interesting JOBS Now open for Men and Women who plan for POST-WAR OPPORTUNITY

Here's a chance for you to do interesting work and prepare for a future career. Douglas Aircraft Company needs 4,000 additional people at once to build military transport planes.

Don't be misled by any feeling that the war is nearly over and that it's hardly worthwhile to take a so-called war plant job now. There are no "cut-backs" in sight here. It's just the opposite. Read again the excerpt from an advertisement released by American Airlines Inc. to newspapers throughout the country recently.

Today Douglas is building planes for victory. Tomorrow we will build them for the airlines. You can get expert training here in aircraft skills that could well qualify you for profitable employment building peace-time airplanes or in the huge maintenance and operations plants which the airlines and aircargo enterprises will set up all over the country after the war. And you can be trained in working with the lighter metals such as aluminum and magnesium which will be used in the manufacture of so many post-war consumer goods.

Meanwhile you will be well paid for enjoyable work. Experienced or inexperienced . . . we train you so that you are bound to make good in fabrication, shop, assembly and installation work . . . what we term "beating on the airplanes." As interesting work as you'll ever find.

If you want to serve your country, learn a new business, make good money, and really enjoy your job, don't delay. Come to any of our employment offices today. They are at 4070 Milwaukee Avenue, near Irving Park; 2717½ Milwaukee Avenue, near Logan Square. Or you can come direct to the plant employment office at Mannheim, Higgins and Devon. Come early in the morning. We will be looking for you to come in.

Washington

From Pasco, Wash., comes word of Anne Osbon, of Palatine, who is stationed in the WAVES.

"I wish to thank Rose Mosser and whoever else is responsible for my receiving the Palatine Enterprise. It does help keep me informed of the others at home, in service and also bring home closer to me when I read the town activities."

Her address is: Anne Osbon S1c, A & R Dept., USN Air Station, Pasco, Wash.

From Seattle, Wash., comes word of Elmer Schmitz of Arlington Heights.

"I am notifying you of my change of address to 909 4th Ave., Seattle, Wash.

His address is: E. Schmitz, 909 4th Ave., Seattle, Wash.

Atlantic

Home for two days the past week was Byron Baxter of Arlington Heights. Byron has been serving aboard a troop transport the past year, "cruising" the Atlantic.

Accompanying Byron home was his wife, an Alabama girl, whom he married prior to leaving on his latest cruise.

"We take them over fit as a fiddle, and bring them back pretty well worn out," said Byron. He was home last week Tuesday to Friday. His address is: Byron Baxter, MuS1c, c-o FPO, Boston, Mass.

Missouri

Home on furlough from Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., is Harold Nebel of Arlington Heights. Pfc Nebel arrived home Monday, and is scheduled to return to Wood October 16. Future plans include maneuvers when he returns to Missouri.

Enlist

Two young men from Arlington Heights stood shoulder with a group of other 17 year old men at the Chicago Army Air Force Examining Board, 166 W. Van Buren Street, as the blue and silver wings of the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve were pinned on their coat lapels.

"Some day these same young men may fly and fight side by side as members of an AAF Air Combat Crew," declared Capt. John H. Patterson, newly appointed President of the Chicago Board.

Kenneth Koenig and Eugene Stroker of Arlington Heights are this area's newest army air force enlistees. Both boys are scheduled to graduate the end of this school year. Kenneth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Koenig, 642 S. Mitchell ave., and Gene is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Stroker, 815 N. Pine. Both boys are members of the Civil Air Patrol.

"Whatever spot on an air combat team they fill—gunner, bombardier, navigator, or pilot—they will be playing a vital part in the struggle for victory. Teamwork is the key to AAF successes in battles in the skies," Capt. Patterson stated.

Young men of seventeen may apply at the Chicago AAF Examining Board for enrollment in the Army Air Corps Enlisted Reserve. Upon passing the preliminary qualifying mental and physical tests they will be members of the Army Air Forces on inactive duty. They will not be called for training until after they have reached their eighteenth birthday. All who qualify for this training from civilian life, remain in the Army Air Forces and are not transferred to other branches as rumored.

When called, these young men from our community will first be given a "basic" training. During this period, they will take "aptitude" tests to determine whether they will be classified for training as Gunner, Bombardier, Navigator or Pilot. Gunners receive silver wings like other members of the air combat crews, and are given non-commissioned officer ratings. Those who qualify for training as pilots, bombardiers, or navigators, are commissioned 2nd lieutenants or appointed flight officers.

Tony Felker back home after broken leg D-Day

Limb responds to treatment says Tony

Now home on furlough after suffering a broken leg when his LCT blew up on D-Day is Tony Felker of Arlington Heights. Tony was injured when the boat his outfit was traveling in towards France struck a mine and blew up, killing 75 per cent of the men aboard.

"I got out lucky," says Tony, "and hope to be able to walk around with a limp." He was sent to an English hospital until last month when he was sent back to the States. At present he is traveling on crutches.

Anthony entered service November 28, 1942. His line of camps attended include Ft. Sill, Okla., where he joined the field artillery; Camp Gordon, Ga., where he joined the fourth division; thence to Ft. Dix, N. J.; Camp Edwards, Mass.; Camp Carrabelle, Fla.; Ft. Jackson, S. C., and Camp Kilmer, N. J.

Upon landing in England he underwent more training, including five mock invasions on the coast of England. His outfit also participated in considerable gun practice on the Moors in England.

"That invasion trip was quite a thrill. The ships and barges were five and six abreast and extended in front and in back as far as you could see. There was plenty of enemy action but we seemed safe enough until we struck the mine, evidently an under water variety.

"I was in the water only about five minutes. When picked up I was transferred immediately to an LST, and raced back to England in a day and a half trip to the first of three hospitals.

"Only local man I ever saw while overseas was Austin Buncik of Arlington Heights. I saw him twice in England. It was great seeing him and I was sorry to later learn of his death."

Tony wears four ribbons on his chest: Purple Heart, Good Conduct, European Theater of Operations, and American Theater of Operations. He arrived back in the States September 17, spending six days in Halloran General hospital. He was then sent to Billings General hospital, Ft. Benjamin Harrison, at Indianapolis, Ind.

"Only thing the men who got wounded with me were sorry about was that they didn't get to use their equipment. It did seem too bad. Our field artillery outfit had got a pretty good record."

Tony was home for three days this trip, reporting back to Indiana Monday. He is scheduled to be home again later for seven days. He is getting the "Whirlpool treatment" for his leg, and the pain is about gone, reports Tony. "The knee is not so hot and the ankle is plenty stiff."

California

From Port Hueneme, Calif., comes word of Forrest Davis of Arlington Heights.

"Just a line to correct my mailing address. I am about 60 miles south of Los Angeles and am enjoying the California weather. It is ideal here. I am about 50 miles from Hollywood and have been there twice on the way to Los Angeles.

"Saturday I saw the UCLA vs Southern California game at the Los Angeles stadium. It was quite a game with the temperature 101° and perhaps 120o in the stadium. UCLA scored two touchdowns in the final two minutes to tie the score 13-13. I saw the Angels beat Portland a double-header at Wrigley Field Sunday.

"The weather is much better here than around San Francisco. I only stayed at Camp Parks five days. I have all my overseas equipment and apparently this is the last stop in the States.

From Fort Ord, California, comes word of Edwin Bruns of Palatine.

"We just got down to California and it is alright in some ways, but I don't like it. The sun doesn't get out before 10:00 in the morning and it disappears at 4:00 in the afternoon. I don't know how long I will be at this 'Fort' but I don't think it will be very long before I will move. Will be looking forward to the paper."

His address is Pfc. Edwin W. Bruns, USA 36731340, 504 Med. Coll Co., Fort Ord, California.

Captain Donald E. Welflin of Wheeling has received a new assignment with the Air Force Base Unit at Hamilton Field, California. After several weeks of waiting Don is glad to be back in harness. Last week end he joined Frank Behm of Oakland in deer hunting and was fortunate to bag a deer.

Still at San Diego, Calif., is Frank Felker of Arlington Heights. Frank entered service May 10 of this year, going directly to San Diego for boot training. He is stationed at Camp Miramer, San Diego, Calif.

Home on leave from San Diego, California, was Robert Koeppen of Arlington Heights. He arrived home last week (Tuesday) and left this Tuesday. F1c Koeppen has been stationed at San Diego, California, and will leave for sea duty as soon as his ship is ready.

Russells

Covering much of the Pacific is Pete Philippe of Palatine. According to his letter, though, he was in the Russell Islands when he wrote. Thus we're putting him there now.

"I haven't written earlier to let you know that I have been receiving your paper regularly, because I thought I might get there soon and do it personally. My orders came in today and my plans are changed.

"I have been overseas seven and a half months now. During that time I was on shore patrol in New Caledonia, then I came up to the Solomon area. I then stopped at the Russell Island. Now I am going to Guadalcanal, waiting for transportation to Pearl Harbor. From there my destination is vague, somewhere in the Marshall Islands. From there I don't know.

"From the paper I notice a lot of my pals out here: I have known several, but I haven't been able to look them up. The Pacific is too big.

"These island paradises are very beautiful especially in the evening when the moon comes up—but I still would rather see the moon come up in good old Palatine! Hope to see you Christmas.

His address is: P. Philippe, CSPA, c-o FPO, San Francisco, Calif.

France

From France this week comes word of Eugene Kelly of Palatine.

"The Enterprises are coming in now, and I am getting caught up on my news. I surely hope the Park District deal goes through. The old town could use it.

"It's getting chilly now. In fact, winter seems too near. I surely hope we are finished fighting before we get caught in a real old-fashioned blizzard."

Information of the award of the bronze medal to Gene has reached our desk. It states in part, "to Kelly, Francis E., 1st Lt. . . . heroic achievements in performance of outstanding service against the enemy in France on 3 August 1944".

Infantry has toughest job says returned vet

Eddie Greinke of Mt. Prospect back in states

"The infantry has one of the toughest jobs in the army," said Edwin Greinke of Mt. Prospect, recently returned from service in Italy. "I know it takes cooperation of all of the branches of service to successfully run a war, but, for my money, the infantry has one of the toughest jobs, getting comparatively little credit for it."

Eddie was overseas 10 months, serving in the infantry one month and a trucking outfit the rest of the time. He went overseas in November of '43, going to Africa. He was then shipped to the Anzion beachhead as an infantryman. Ed was later transferred to a trucking outfit, serving as a medic.

"The infantryman's life is certainly not one of ease. You have to stay in your foxhole all day in order to keep alive, and then move around at night or at dawn with extreme care. At Anzio the Nazis could see every move we made, and had the entire beachhead under their artillery control. They shelled us at will.

"I didn't spend much time in the infantry, so didn't have much time in a foxhole. But plenty of fellows are spending their time on the ground 24 hours a day and it's no picnic. Even when they get a few days away from the lines, they're still sleeping on the ground. They are then given more training with replacements, where they work just as hard as in actual combat.

"My hat's off to that third division which participated in its fifth invasion when they landed at South France. Al Duenn of Arlington Heights is one of them. I was stationed in the third for a short time, but never saw Al. That group invaded Africa, Sicily, Italy at Salerno, Italy at Anzio, and then South France.

Hauls Supplies

"Part of my time overseas I spent as a medic attached to a trucking outfit. We were stationed at Naples, an advantage for us. The boys would drive truckloads of supplies onto LSTs, drive them off at Anzio, then back to Naples. There wasn't much doing at Naples. The Germans and our own Navy had done a lot of damage to power stations and water system. Thus much of our work was 'sick call' every morning among civilians as well as the Army. The U. S. brought in both food and water for the civilians, just as they did everywhere.

"When we moved to Anzio just before starting the big push towards Rome we had a lot more work. Our job was the continuous one of moving supplies. We followed right behind the troops.

"Only person I saw from home while overseas was Don Besander of Mt. Prospect. I had been writing to him and met him at Naples. It was swell seeing someone from home. Though I received but one copy of the Herald while over there, it was a welcome sight. I sure appreciated that paper as it gave me all the news from home, plus telling me where a lot of my friends were."

Eddie was scheduled to report to Miami, Fla., Monday, for reassignment. He went into service in June of last year, training at Ft. McClellan, Ala.

American Airlines advertisement, Sept. 12, 1944

"American Airlines Inc. has placed an order with the Douglas Aircraft Co. for 55 huge, four-motored Flagships. Deliveries are scheduled to begin about June, 1945. The DC-4 has been more thoroughly tested than any other plane ever put into service by an Airline—tested in more than one hundred million miles of war operations all over the world . . . Never in the history of aviation has any other transport plane made such amazing records for fast, dependable and efficient performance under all conditions."
